WOMEN AND THE PULPIT.

Mainstay of the Churches and the Clergy.

It has been no secret to the majority for years that women are the mainstay of the church and that without their aid a majority of the clergy would be allowed to starve to death. The clergy, however, have, as a rule, ignored this fact and have persisted in keeping the sex subordinate in all matters relating to church government. Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow is one member of the clerical profession who seems inclined to do the women justice. In a recent issue of the Pilgrim he writes:

If we turn to the condition of woman in Christendom we shall find that her progress has been long impeded by false ideas of her relation to man, and in defense of these ideas the bible has been freely quoted.

The besetting sin of human nature is the lust of power. Man is an egotist. It takes culture a long time to refine that away. Man loves to flatter himself with the thought of his superiority. That pride of power is undoubtedly at the bottom of the fact that he is so reluctant to acknowledge the equality of the sexes.

Pericles thought "a woman's chief glory was to be known neither for good nor evil." Socrates thanked the gods daily that he was "a man, not a brute," and that he was "male, not female." Erasmus prayed that all people might come to read the bible, "even women and Turks."

Yet we are becoming civilized, though slowly. Even now, in some parts of this republic, women enjoy full voting privilege with men yet it was only a century ago that France guillotined a woman for daring to assert woman's right to the ballot. It was only twenty-five years ago that we in America began to think woman worth educating.

As a student in the theological seminary I remember the professor saying of woman's place in the church: "Women may sing in prayer meeting and play on the piano or organ, and if the meeting is not too public they may offer up prayer." He forgot to say that they might also contribute to the preacher's salary.

Robert Browning asserted that of the two it was his wife who had a creative genius, yet to him and not to her England accorded the honor of a burial in Westminster.

Our bible is not responsible for this ungenerous treatment of women. The cause is back of the bible, in the nature of man. But there are scripture texts in which this egotism of the male has intrenched itself.

On the woman question Mazzini was more orthodox than Paul. He told the young men of Italy: "Love and respect woman. Seek in her not merely a comfort, but a force, an inspiration, the redoubling of your intellectual and moral faculties. Cancel from your minds every idea of superiority over her. You have none whatever."

Still Keeps it Up.

"During a period of poor health some time ago I got a trial bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers," says Justice of the Peace Adam Shook of New Lisbon, Ind. "I took them and they did me so much good I have used them ever since." Safe, reliable and gentle. DeWitt's Little Early Risers neither gripe nor distress, but stimulate the liver and promote regular and easy action of the bowels.
