Columbia Dry Batteries
—they last longer

More Columbia Batteries are used in the United States than all other makes combined, because—

Columbias have been manufactured on a large scale considerably longer than any other dry battery

They have over 30 years of battery manufacturing skill and improved equipment behind them

Every improvement of any account has been developed in the Columbia laboratories

The Columbia "Hot Shot" was the first successful assembly of dry cells in one package

And again Columbia has demonstrated its leadership through the development of the new Steel Case "Hot Shot" Battery

Wherever a dry battery is needed, Columbia will always give the best service

HOOPER REPLIES TO CRITICISM OF THE LABOR BOARD

Chairman Reasserts Recent Decisions on Wages for Best Interests of Public and Workers.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Replying to published criticisms of the United States railroad labor board's recent decision in the maintenance of way case, Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, tonight issued a statement reasserting that the board has served the best interests of both labor and the public.

The decision in the maintenance of way case was issued late Saturday. It raised the minimum rates of pay from 23 to 25 cents to 25 to 37 cents an hour. Employes sought a 48 cent an hour minimum. After asserting that he spoke only as an individual, Mr. Hooper's statment said in part:

"A wage board which would crush the railroads would ruin their employes.

"A wage board which would create an enormous deficit in every railway treasury, would necessitate the imposition of higher freight rates on the farmers, producers and shippers of this country.

Would Mean Big Deficit

"The 'living wage' idea presented to the labor board, called for a 72 to 75 cents per hour minimum for common labor all over the United States, and the maintenance of proper differentials for skilled labor. On the basis of the railway income for 1921, this would have created a railway deficit of $2,211,639,518.

"A 'living wage' is not the thing for which the theorists contend. They want the 'living wage,' which, according to their dogmatic formula, means, at their lowest estimate, about $1,650 per year for a section man. The budget upon which this wage was predicated was declared by two of the expert representatives of the employes to be a 'guess and a makeshift,' and yet the board was criticized for not adopting it. A wage scale built on that basis for all industries, would exceed the total income of the United States by multiplied billions of dollars.

Fiat Wage Impractical

"A fiat wage is as impractical as a fiat dollar. Both have been tried out in Russia, where the laborer may get millions of rubles for an hour's work but what will his fiat wage and his fiat ruble buy him? The swelling tide of prosperity in our country cannot be hastened by methods of this kind."

Mr. Hooper also strongly assailed the attitude of Edsel Ford, the automobile manufacturer; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and William Randolph Hearst, all of whom had criticized the position of the labor board in regard to the living wage.

Mrs. W. F. Chalfant of Grand Island is visiting with her mother, Mrs. T. J. McCulloch near Murray, and also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendricks.

CANDIDATES ARE REPORTING THEIR CAMPAIGN COSTS

Many Senators May Take Advantage of Daugherty's Newberry Ruling and Not Report.

Washington, Nov. 1.—While less than one half of the candidates for the senate have filed campaign expense statements, according to the count made today by clerks, candidates for the house are still sending their reports at the rate of almost 200 a day. In the midst of the confusion as to provisions of the law the one fact that stands out clearly is that house candidates must file, now and after the election.

The view was expressed by some senate officials that many candidates for that branch might accept the interpretation of the supreme court decision in the Newberry case by Attorney General Daugherty that they were not required to file. In a letter last year to Representative Luce, republican, Massachusetts, the attorney general, answering a specific inquiry as to the effect of the Newberry decision, said:

"As United States senators are not now elected by legislatures of the states; as contemplated in the act, it is my opinion that this fact in connection with the holding in the Newberry decision makes it unnecessary for a candidate for United States senator to file any statement whatever in connection with his nomination or election."

Mr. Daugherty contended that the only provision of the election law now in force and effect is the one which requires such statements to be filed in connection with the election of candidates for the house.

Most of the reports on file with the senate have not been brought up to date, many relating to primary expenses. Senator France, republican, Maryland, reported that in his primary fight his expenditures were $20,795, with contributions of $31,000. Royal W. France, his brother, headed the list of contributors with $15,000.

Senator Townsend, republican Michigan, reported that his election expenses were $700. After the primary Senator Townsend filed a report showing the expenditure of $30,729 for his nomination fight by "the Townsend-for-Senator club."

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, received a contribution of $100 from the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen. He spent $17.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, spent $3,870, all of which went to republican clubs in his state, while William A. Gaston, his democratic opponent, spent $1,216 in the primary and $4,113 in the general election fight.

Some of the other reports show: Lynn J. Frazier, North Dakota, (primary) $349; Senator King Utah on September 19, contributions, $1,679; expenditures same; Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, $5,412; Carl Riddick, republican, Montana, $510; Earle B. Mayfield, Texes, $15.50.

Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, got $6,418, and spent $5,974, while Senator Kendrick reported the expenditure of $1,418 in Woming.

A final accounting by candidates after the election will give the total amount of their expenditures, all statements now on file not having been brought up to date.

Mrs. Marks Says It Proved a Blessing

"Tanlac helped me out of a sick bed and built me up to better health than I have enjoyed in years," declared Mrs. M. Marx, 2212 Benton street, St. Louis, Mo.

"My stomach troubled me so much for two or three years I finally collapsed in a nervous breakdown. Gas would form in my stomach and bring on awful spells of heart palpitation, shortness of breath, headaches and dizzy spells. My back pained me too, and I was so nervous and miserable I could not sleep.

"What four bottles of Tanlac did for me was a most pleasant surprise, for today I haven't a single trace of my old troubles. I will bless the day I got this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

KENOSHA NEWS NOTES

By Special Correspondent

Andy Campbell was a Plattsmouth visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klimm were in Omaha Saturday night where they attended a Hallowe'en party.

Bob Fitch and family were in Plattsmouth Saturday doing their usual shopping and visiting with friends.

A. J. McNatt was visiting among his friends in Plattsmouth Saturday and looking after the school affairs of Kenosha.

Very Pleasant Farewell

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell was the scene of a very delightful gathering the past week, given as a farewell for Mrs. Everett Carroll, of Portland, Oregon, a sister of Mrs. Campbell, who has been here for the past two months visiting with relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll removed from Nebraska to the west coast several years ago and this has been the first real visit she has enjoyed in this locality since that time. While here Mrs. Carroll had the pleasure of having with her the aged father, Mr. J. Woods and they spent the time visiting at the homes of their daughters and sisters: Mary at Fort Calhoun; Mrs. Ray Chriswisser of Nehawka; Mrs. Andy Campbell and Mrs. Dave McGee, of Albany, Nebraska. The dinner at the Campbell home was enjoyed by some thirty friends and relatives and was a real treat in every way for the members of the party. The Campbell family have a very delightful home and it was an ideal spot for this gathering. Mrs. Carroll has departed for Albany, where she will spend a short time and then return to her home.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

A delightful Hallowe'en party was given by Miss Margaret and Mr. Raymond Meisinger at their country home Monday to a number of their friends. The occasion was in the nature of a ghost party, and the guests on their arrival at the home were met by a hooded and shadowy figure that guided them through the mystic surroundings to the haunted house.

During the evening a number of games were enjoyed typical of the season. At a suitable hour a dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. John Meisinger, Jr. Those in attendance were Misses Della Leddy, Ethel, Florine and Freda Born, Olive H. Stull, Albert Meisinger, Gordon Wilcoxsen, Mrs. Oliver Harvey, Harry and Mildred Meisinger.

BE CONSISTENT

If the World-Herald could lock up its old files and keep them away from the public eye during every campaign it would have a much easier time. It will be recalled by people who watched such matters that Representative Snow was called the administration candidate for speaker two years ago, and that when Walter Anderson won the prize it was proclaimed by the World-Herald as a "McKelvie defeat."

Now one of the charges brought against Anderson by this same newspaper is that he was "McKelvie's speaker."

This may not be really important, but some of the politicians will find it interesting. Especially those who think that there is room for consistency, even in modern politics.—Lincoln State Journal, Nov. 3, 1922.

METHODIST AID SOCIETY

The Ladies Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the church at 2:30. Hostesses, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Babbitt, Mrs. Arn, Mrs. Busch, Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Peterson. A musical program will be rendered which will be followed by the transaction of important business. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. A. D. Asch and Mrs. J. W. Hendricks of Murray were guests one day last week at the home of Mrs. Hendricks' grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Smith, who is now in her 90th year and the occasion was one very much enjoyed by all of the parties.

MURRAY AID SOCIETY

The Ladies Aid Society of Murray will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Moore Wednesday, Nov. 8. Come, as there is important business.

CORNER STONE BOX IS OPENED FOR INSPECTION

STATE ARCHIVES LONG BURIED ARE RESURRECTED BY COMMISSION.

Members of the capitol commission, a few state officers and clerks gathered in Governor McKelvie's office Tuesday forenoon and delved into the musty past. They opened the copper box that has reposed for theirty-eight years in the corner stone of the present capitol, preparatory to resealing the box and placing it in the corner stone of the new capitol, which is to be laid November 11.

While the box is only thirty-eight years old, anything that has lain undisturbed in progressive Nebraska for that length of time without being turned inside out and upside down and looked into and bettered, is considered quite ancient.

Among the papers removed from the box was a copy of the constitution of the United States, whose last amendment, the fifteenth, prohibits the denial of the right of franchise on account of race or previous condition of servitude. In the short space since the constitution was deposited in the box the people of the country have added amendments authorizing the income tax, the election of senators by direct vote of the people, prohibition of the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors and the right of suffrage for women. Bobbed hair has also come into style since then, also the general use of the telephone, to say nothing of the recent development of radio, the X-ray, moving pictures, etc. Automobiles and airplanes are two other inventions unknown at that time, but the people then, as now, were complaining of taxes, talking about the tariff and the weather.

George E. Johnson and W. E. Hardy, members of the capitol commission were present when the box was opened. Governor McKelvie was represented by his secretary, Louis W. Horne. Several state officers and employes and citizens were interested spectators. State Treasurer Dan B. Cropsey was there, but denied the report that he was present when the corner stone was laid, July 15, 1884. Will Owen Jones of the State Journal proved to be the only person present who saw the stone laid thirty-eight years ago.

Ernest B. Fairfield, secretary of the state board of control, who was present, did not see the box placed in the old corner stone, but he lived across the street from the original capitol from 1876 to 1881, and when a small boy used to go with other youths into the dome of the first capitol and have a lot of fun in getting the dome to rock on its uncertain underpinning. He also saw the east wing of the present, or second capitol take form.

J. W. Isherwood, state house engineer, was delegated to open the box. He tried a blow furnace and a soldering iron, but this proved too slow for the waiting assemblage, so he resorted to his pocket knife. He cut part way down two sides and one end of the box, and the copper lid was bent outward, Mr. Hardy took out a portion of the contents. When he came to a list of the contents he read it in full and the other articles were not taken out.

A photograph was taken showing the commissioners and state officers gathered around the box.

What is listed as a copper plate with names of state officers and employes inscribed thereon proved to be a stereotype plate in soft metal, made from printer's type, evidently made in a paper office. It contained the name of each state officer and one deputy or chief clerk for each.

The copper box is 4x4x12 inches. The old newspapers and other paper documents gave forth a musty odor when they were exposed to the air, but allthe articles were in a perfect state of preservation. A little envelope contained three coins, a copper cent, a silver three cent piece and a nickel five cent piece, each dated 1884.

The list of the contents was in the handwriting of E. P. Roggen, then secretary of state. Mr. Roggen is now a resident of Omaha. The list contained a second certificate signed by William R. Bowman, grand secretary of the grand lodge of Masons of Nebraska. The old cornerstone was laid by the Masonic organization and several printed reports of different Masonic lodges were among the contents of the box.

TAKE ROOSEVELT TREE FROM CAPITOL GROUNDS

Planted by Boy Scouts Week Ago on Alabama State House Lawn, Vanishes During Night.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 3.—The Roosevelt memorial tree, which has been the subject of a controversy since planted on the Alabama capitol lawn by Montgomery Boy Scouts last Friday, mysteriously disappeared last night.

A note discovered where the tree had stood, by the capitol night watchman, read:

"Montgomery, Ala.—Get this Alabama!

"To all concerned:

"The Daughters of the Confederacy are our mothers (war mothers) and this is the south. There are no trees in honor of southern gentlemen in the capitol yard at Washington and our war mothers do not want this one here."

The controversy resulting from the objection of the Daughters of the Confederacy to the tree remaining in the capitol lawn was brought to a climax yesterday by the White House association president naming a committee to co-operate with other Confederate organizations' committees in their efforts to have the memorial removed.

The association is a band of women organized for the purpose of preserving the original White House of the Confederacy, where Jefferson Davis resided when the capitol was located in Montgomery. The various organizations contended it was improper for the memorial to Roosevelt to stand on the capitol grounds within earshot of the place where Davis became president of the Confederacy.

WHAT PULS STANDS FOR

If elected Representative, I shall favor Economy, Simplicity and Efficiency in the administration of state affairs; the reduction of taxes by the reduction of the cost of government.

I shall favor legislation that will enable the farmers to so control the marketing of their products that the best prices and profits thereof will be paid to them and not into the pockets of speculators.

I shall favor legislation of vital interest and benefit to live stock breeders and live stock associations of the state.

I favor laws more liberal toward the interests of the laboring classes of the state and a greater representation of labor in the affairs of government.

I shall favor legislation for the uplifting and betterment of society and the home. My record in the legislature will bear out this statement.

I shall oppose unnecessary appropriations, administrative duplications and the waste of our tax money in useless clerks and employes. I shall oppose exorbitant salaries and will favor the cutting of every kind of expense that will note ripple the efficiency of our state givernment. I believe the cost of the new capitol should be kept within the apropriation.

I want to see men elected who will represent the people, rather than some political party, men who will use their time and energy in constructive legislation, rather than tearing down the opposite party. What we need at the present time is economy and efficiency. If I am a member of the next legislature, I shall not be the special representative of any faction or party, but I shall try to honestly represent the people of this district.

W. H. PULS,
Democratic Candidate for State Representative.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

The home of John Meisinger, Jr. was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Saturday evening when a number of cars loaded with relatives and friends arrived to assist Mr. Meisinger in the celebration of his forty-fourth birthday. The time was spent very pleasantly by the members of the party in a social manner until an appropriate hour when the well laden baskets of the visitors produced a most delicious luncheon. Those in attendance at the gathering were Messrs. and Mesdames C. J. Meisinger, G. P. Meisinger, J. C. Meisinger, J. G. Meisinger, H. J. Meisinger, L. A. Meisinger, Fred Gunther, Ed Steppat, George Goodman, Hugo Meisinger, Miss Lorine Urish, Mrs. Lena Flint, Mrs. Oliver Harvey, of Omaha, Miss Catherine Tyler, Omaha, Miss Esther Elsasser, Omaha, Miss Bertha Hill, Messrs Larsen and Wallace, Omaha, Mr. W. Your Winter Trip to California will be surprisingly more enjoyable and far more satisfactory if your hotel or bungalow accommodations are arranged for well in advance and proper consideration is given to the selection of your route to take you there. Naturally, you want to see the most of the best scenery in America en route. The logical route is the Burlington (in connection with the Denver & Rio Grande Western and Western Pacific) because it takes you right through Denver, the Pike's Peak region, Royal Gorge, scenic Colorado, Salt Lake City and the Grand Canyon of the Feather River in the beautiful Sierra Nevada range. Then if you return by way of the great Pacific Northwest (Yellowstone or Glacier Park line), Minneapolis-St. Paul and the Burlington's Mississippi River Scenic Line, you put a ring around the Golden West—the most wonderful trip in America. Rail rates are the same via all Western lines. Therefore, you have something to gain and nothing to lose by investigating before completing your plans. Let me tell you more about the Burlington's more-travel-comfort-at-the-same-cost service.

GRAIN FUTURES LAW IS IN EFFECT TODAY

Gives Agricultural Secretary Authority Over Board of Transactions —Toledo to Discontinue.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The grain futures law, giving the secretary of agriculture authority over the manner in which grain is bought and sold and future contracts made upon the principal grain exchanges of the country begin stomorrow. The government has been restrained temporarily from enforcing the law on two of the principal exchanges; four exchanges have applied for and received designations as contract markets from the department of agriculture, and one exchange, that of Toledo, has announced its intention to discontinue grain futures trading pending decision of the constitutionality of the law.

The department of agriculture has received no word from the four remaining markets as to their attitude toward the new law.

Enforcement of the law will be taken up by the grain futures law administration tomorrow, except where restraining orders have been granted by federal courts. Chester Morrill, in charge of the grain futures law administration, announced today. Hearing on the action brought at Kansas City will be held November 8 and on that brought by the Chicago board of trade on November 13. On those two markets the law will be held in abeyance pendings decisions.

Trading will go on as usual on the Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Chicago open board of trade and San Francisco markets, the latter having received its designation as a contract market today. Toledo has said it would suspend future trading. Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Baltimore have not been heard from.

FORECASTS A STIFF JOLT FOR G. O. P.

Senator Caraway Predicts Democrats Will Control the House After Next Week's Election.

Washington, Oct. 31.—With his pockets filled with predictions of democratic victories, Senator Caraway, democrat of Arkansas returned here today from a speaking tour of Ohio, Indiana and Missouri and declared the democrats would carry all three states.

Caraway did not stop there. He predicted also that the democrats would even wrest control of the house from the republicans. He figured the democratic majority in the house at between 50 and 75 and estimated a gain of at least three seats in the senate for his party—Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana, Gov. Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey and J. F. T. O'Connor of North Dakota.

Caraway declared the democrats would carry Indiana by from 25,000 to 50,000 and overwhelm the republicans in Ohio—President Harding's home state, by from 350,000 to 400,000, "certainly not less than 300,000."

"I mixed with people everywhere," said Caraway, "and I found a strong revolt against the administration. The republicans in Indiana are all split up by their family quarrels. I met 'Tom' Marshall (former vice president) at Mansfield, Ohio, and he agreed with me that Indiana, his own state, was sure to go democratic.

"Ohio is ready to rise up and repudiate the administration and especially Harry Daugherty (the attorney general).

"Senator 'Jim' Reed will win in Missouri by a surprisingly big majority. It is going to be a democratic year all along the line. I have been in many states since congress quit and I could feel unrest and dissatisfaction in the air. The republicans are going to be surprised by the jolt that is coming to them."
