AT THE THEATERS

If your taste in the drama runs to good cheer and gaiety you will take more than ordinary pleasure in meeting Arthur Byron and "Bluebeard's 4th Wife" at the Brandeis theater tonight when this interesting player and highly entertaining farce will begin a three-day's engagement in this city. There will be at matinee on Saturday. No play of recent years has created more discussion than "Bluebeard's 4th Wife," and to play in any number of years has given theater-goers greater merriment. For an entire season this farce held New York by the ears and for 14 weeks it upset the dignity of Chicago, all the time smashing attendance records. Mr. Byron, one of the most distinguished and most highly gifted artists of the stage, will be remembered for his masterful playing in "The Boomerang" and "Tea for Three." As an illustration of what playgoers may expect in production and play quality, it may be said that "Bluebeard's 4th Wife" is a William Harris, jr., production, a creation of the same office that brought out "Abraham Lincoln" and "East is West."

This week Mildred Harris is the star of the Orpheum show. A screen star whose daintiness captivates the public, she is now appearing in the one-act comedy, "Movie Mad," assisted by Lavina Shannon and S. Miller Kent, players of established reputations. One of the featured offerings this week is the concert performance of the eminent violin virtuoso, Dulci Du Karckjarto. He is one of the most distinguished musicians ever to tour the Orpheum circuit. J. Francis Dooley and and Corrine Sales offer as the laughing bit of the show their 1922 edition of the amusing skit, "Will Yer Jim?" These entertainers are as well known in musical comedy as they are in vaudeville. Next week comes the famous star, Edith Taliaferro.

Josephine Worth and company in "Mother Kate's Birthday" is the feature attraction of the new show starting at the Empress today. It is a one-act playlet that will appeal to all who see it. Jack Moore Trio present a sensational wire novelty act which is well worth seeing. Al DeLong, known throughout the U. S. States as "The Baseball Bug," is a character comedienne who has created for herself a niche in the vaudeville hall of fame through her artistic interpretations. Anybody who likes baseball will enjoy her act. The Walfamor Trio in "Harmony Singing" is the last act on this bill.

A spectacular revue in 14 scenes filled with burlesque, drollery, delightful gems of melody, bewitching costumes and adorable girls is "Broadway Brevities," this week's attraction at the Gayety. An excellent cast headed by Lena Daley, noted dancer and popular favorite is one of the big features of its success. Ladies' matinee at 2:15 daily.

Coming to the Brandeis for the four days commencing Sunday, October 8, will be L. Lawrence Weber and William B. Friedlander's classy revue, "Laughs and Ladies," with Bobby Bernard and Dick Ellis as leading entertainers, and Emily Earle, a pretty prima donna, just returned from a London engagement. Heading the especially selected Shubert vaudeville program will be Rush Ling Toy, China's greatest magician, who with 12 assistants promises a dozen new and baffling illusions.

John Galsworthy's powerful drama, "The Skin Game" will come to the Brandeis theater, Thursday, October 12, for three nights with Saturday matinee, under the management of William A. Brady, in association with Reandean, Ltd., London. The players have been rehearsed in New York by Basil Dean and Galsworthy himself.

"The Skin Game" is a woman's play, with a woman fighting for her home. Its story concerns the sordid bitter secret of a woman with a dubious past. She is not an idealist, but an unhappy woman who has tested the dregs of life, has been tossed about on stormy seas and has at last found a haven.
