Prominent Irishman Gives Views of Senator

The following is an expression of a prominent Omaha Irishman:

"The thousands of Nebraska men and women who voted in 1920 for Washington's policy of "friendship toward all nations, special alliances with none," regard Senator Hitchcock with extreme disfavor. The senator says he now favors votes for women. He does not say he approves of prohibition, but says he will not oppose it further. For his championing of Wilson's execrable league of nations he makes no apology at all. He is as ready today as he was in 1920 to bind his country to defend the boundaries of plundering Europeans and Asiatics. Better finish the job of 1920 by retiring the league's chief advocate."

Pleas of Guilty Expected in Dublin Inn Charges

Unless defendants in the Dublin Inn liquor case plead guilty before then, as it is rumored they intend to do, they will be tried next week before Federal Judge T. C. Munger, United States Attorney Kinsler indicated yesterday.

"In the preliminary hearing Federal Judge Woodrough charged several of the defendants with subordination of perjury, so it is not likely he will want to try the case, especially as there will be another judge sitting here to try liquor cases," said Mr. Kinsler.
