THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Another Advance All Along the Line on 'Change.

BEARS DISAPPOINTED IN WHEAT VALUES.

Instead of the Expected Decline, Prices Continue to Climb Upward—Corn Booming—Stock Market.

CHICAGO, March 20.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—In every leading market on 'change prices were lower at the opening. In each pit further declines took place at once, followed before the end of the first hour by a good rally, which brought prices fully up to last night's figures in both grain and provisions. The action early in May prices was as follows: Wheat, $1.01, to $1.01⅛, to $1.00⅞, to $1.01⅛; corn, 64c, to 63⅞c, to 64⅛c; oats, 53c, to 52⅞c, to 53⅛c; pork, $11.35 to $11.45. Other products were steady. There was great disappointment in wheat at today's session. Trade was largely bearish in its views early, and news was generally bearish. With these conditions it was expected to break the market to $1.00 for May. It did not sell at $1.00 or near it, at the lowest point, but it did sell at $1.02 some time before the close. Some very bullish private cables from Paris, export clearances and fresh export business at New York, clearances from New Orleans for Liverpool, and the loading of 100,000 bushels or more at Duluth to go east, all by rail, did the business. The action of the market was as follows: May opened ⅜c lower at $1.00⅞, sold at $1.00⅞, and with the exception of a few reactions, went straight up to $1.02, with indications of going higher. July dropped to 98c early and recovered to 99⅛c. The early weakness was due to Liverpool cables quoting ½d lower for spot wheat and futures, favorable weather everywhere, big receipts in the northwest, 499 cars at Minneapolis and Duluth, the reported failure of the Keystone bank at Philadelphia, bearish talk on flour by the Northwestern Miller, and the illfeles condition of trade at New York. Bull news on which the rally was made was as follows: Clearances of wheat and flour from New York equal to 969,000 bushels of wheat; clearances from New Orleans for Liverpool of 67,000 bushels; dispatches announcing 300 cars loading at Duluth to go all by rail to the east, New York reporting 80,000 bushels of wheat worked for Lisbon, and private Paris cables quoting wheat at 25 centimes up. The bull movement continued to increase toward the close, and at 1 o'clock May was at $1.02¼ and July at 99⅛c. The wheat market closed strong at $1.02 for May and 99⅛c for July, or ⅛c net gain from last night. The high points for the day were $1.02¼ for May and 99⅛c for July, May 68⅛c early to 99⅛c, and closing at 99⅛c.

Corn went flying again today, and at 10 o'clock May sold at 2c over the close last night at 65⅜c. The scattering corn trade is at the mercy of the bull forces just at present. When the market shows an easier feeling there is general selling, and the moment it shows strength the offerings stop and sellers hasten to get corn back. The market was very deceptive today. It started easier with May around 64c and sales at 63⅞c, or ⅛c under last night. July also sold at ⅛c lower or 64⅛c. From these figures bidding began, but the bidding brought out no offerings. May rose to 64⅛c and reacted a little, then went up to 65c, where it had not been on the crop before. After a pause there was another wave of strength the last hour, which carried May to 66⅜c. July at the same time rose to 64⅛c, the highest point for May yesterday. It was more than intimated at the close in corn that it could have been 5c advance as well as 2c if the bulls had wished it. It is also surmised that New York speculators are taking a hand in this, the only truly speculative market in the country. The extreme prices for corn futures just before the close were: March, 64⅛c; April, 66c; May, 66⅛c; June, 65⅛c; July, 64⅞c. The closing prices were: March, 65c; April, 65⅛c; May, 66⅛c; June, 64⅞c; July, 64⅛c. Privileges for Saturday in May corn were spread nearly 4c, and were quoted at 3:30 p.m. at 64⅞c for puts and 66⅛c for calls.

Oats opened up today about ⅛c under late figures, but the market developed a strong feeling early in the session and closed at about ⅛c higher. May delivery opened at 53c June at 52⅞c and July at 49⅞c. The most excited oats was in the latter month, which advanced quickly from 50c to 51c, being influenced to some extent by the strength in corn and the free buying on the part of B. Fowler and Fowler & Sterling, who endeavored to hold the market up in order to sell. Patton Brothers were the heaviest sellers of May, which sold up to 54c and closed with a 53⅞c bid. June sold from 52⅛c to 51⅞c, and closing at the top price. July sold up to 51⅛c, but weakened to 50⅞c before the close. August delivery closed at 38⅝c, and September at 36⅛c bid.

Provisions acted with the grain markets today. The opening was slightly easier, with prices 2½c off from last night. There was a little bulge in pork on some outside buying orders and a little break in lard on free local selling. Then pork gave way to the bottom prices of the day before noon, and all products were but moderately active until a wave of strength came the last hour. Then the market was hot one with prices bidup lively for all products. The close was close to the top figures, with a gain from last night of but 2½c in lard, 20c in short ribs, and 22½c in mess pork. But the recovery from the bottom to the top figures was 12½c for lard and 27½c for pork. The action for May was as follows: Pork, $11.35, to $11.45, to $11.32½, to $11.60; lard, $6.47½, to $6.42½, to $6.55, to $6.52½; ribs, $5.60, to $5.77½; July, $5.87½ to $6.07½, to the close. Cudahy was a buyer of ribs, but sold pork against ribs. Early there was some outside buying in pork, with local longs selling out and taking the profits. When corn started up to 66c, or better, there was a wild buying of all products by all classes of traders. It ended a big day in provisions.

Peoria distillers are bidding 63c cash for No. 3 corn and none to be had and are now using from storage bought some time ago.

Beerbohm's cable: Cargoes off coast, wheat steadier; corn, nothing offered. On passage, wheat and corn steadier. Mark Lane English wheat firm, foreign steady, corn firmer. flour steady. Liverpool wheat easier, corn steady. No. 1 California 4s 4½d, Walla Walla 4s, corn 5s 8d.

Logan & Co. to Toneray and Bryan—Wheat opened weak, May selling at $1.00⅜ to $1.00¾. The selling was done principally by our local operators, and the buying scattered without special feature. The closing price is $1.02 to $1.02⅛ for May; July, 99⅛c. All foreign advices are lower on cargoes from 3 pence to 9 pence, Liverpool also lower ½ penny on California wheat. We do not see any change in the situation. The demand for cash wheat is still wanting. Corn opened at 64c for May with no offerings. The parties having control of it are diligent on all advances and assist it. May sold as high as 65⅛c. The closing price is 66c. The old talk of higher prices continues. Oats, in sympathy with corn, shared in the excitement. The business in provisions was good. We look for higher prices and believe purchases on all weak markets will be profitable.

W. E. McCormick & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—The early English cables quoted lower markets and receipts at all the primary points were very large, which was sufficient to start local sealpers to selling wheat, that fraternity being decidedly bearish. There seems to be at about $1.01 for May good buying and on this morning's break one or two commission houses took everything offered, leaving the crowd heavily short. French cables came in 25 centimes higher for wheat and exports were reported from New York of 80,000 bushels for Lisbon. The story was also circulated that 200,000 bushels were being loaded at Duluth for early export. This started the crowd to covering their shorts and resulted in a sharp advance on which some of the early wheat bought was sold. The market has shown great elasticity and strength today and we see no cause for any considerable break so long as cables remain firm. Corn and oats were fairly active and very strong. Arguments about these two deals are entirely useless, as the general public are very bullish on them and it is by no means difficult to advance prices in the absence of any accumulated stocks. Only 163,000 No. 2 contract in Chicago and only 12,000 of other grades; total, 283,000. Each day's receipts are resold and reshipped, so we do not accumulate any corn. Oats, 331,000 bushels with only 13,000 contract, and receipts are light. We favor the bullside. Provisions were dull and sluggish early, but after noon became very active and closed much excited with heavy trading. The discussion is coming up as to the possibility of Germany removing her prohibition on American meats, and this is lending strength to provisions. The advance today was a surprise, as all parties seemed agreed that the market should have a reaction.

Kennett-Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter—The easier cables and warm weather and large receipts in the northwest encouraged liberal selling of wheat. At the opening the price was at the bottom, showing a loss of ⅜c from yesterday's close. There was steady buying by the same houses that were conspicuous on the bullside yesterday and the day previous and their combined efforts lifted the price 1c. Here there was considerable realizing, much of it apparently from aforesaid houses, causing a reaction of ⅜c. Near the close there was a renewal of buying. Corn spurting sharply alarmed wheat shorts and with one accord they made a grand rush to cover, forcing the price to $1.02¼ for May. The market looks well excited upand in a position to sell off tomorrow, unless bulls get some encouragement from abroad of which there was no evidence today. Foreigners were selling here and in New York and the French are said to have resold some cargoes bought recently when their necessities appeared to them more urgent. Conditions seem to be growing more bearish and it doesn't seem probable that present prices can be long maintained. We advise sales on any good rallies. Corn and Oats—It is the talk this afternoon that the old clique have parted with most of their holdings and that fresh blood is in the deal. It is certain some of the old leaders, such as Bartlett, Frazier and Bryant, bought liberally around 65c for May corn and the subsequent advance to 66⅛c must have been a surprise to them. It is generally felt in the trade that prices are dangerously high but so long as operators continue to short these grains, in the absence of contract stuff in store, and with small probability of increased receipts, until after farmers shall have finished their planting, it will be easy to manipulate the market and bring about such bulgeses today. The provision market was uninteresting most of the day but toward the close shot upward in sympathy with corn. It seems to be the rule now that when corn advances provisions will follow. The idea of the supporters of the market being that the cost of the production must regulate the price regardless of the supply.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 20.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—Business was rather slow, with most of the salesmen quoting a decline of 10c to 15c on all grades of beef cattle, possibly with the exception of something prime and fancy in the steer line that may have sold equally as high as yesterday. Prime cows and heifers, however, continue to sell at steady to strong prices, and even lower grades of cows are not any lower than last week. There was fair business in stockers and feeders at steady prices. Two carloads of prime steers sold at $6.10 and $6.12½ and a large number at $5.25 to $5.75; others sold at $5.50 to $6.00; heifers, $3.00@4.25; cows, $2.50@3.50; canners, $1.75@2.25; stockers, $3.00@3.75.

HOGS—Business was fairly active and prices steady on everything at all good or useful, but the common light and light mixed sold lower, and are liable to sell 5c to 7½c lower as compared with finished and fat stock. Common light mixed sold at $4.70@5.00; good mixed, $5.05@5.05; prime heavy and butcher weights, $5.10@5.20, and one load at $5.25; light, $3.00@4.10.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

NEW YORK, March 20.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—There was a feverish, unsettled feeling in stock circles even before the opening of the market. At the resorts last night there was a slim attendance of leaders, and the talk was not of a hopeful character. It was argued that with London selling and gold going out, there is no prospect of better prices at present. The day opened with the principal selling pressure in specialties. Opening prices were all slightly lower than last night's figures, and selling by Chicago made St. Paul, Burlington and Chicago Gas comparatively active, and leaders in the downward movement, which, however, reached a fraction only. Tr ansactions in the three stocks mentioned supplied the only feature to trading, and no change of any kind was to be noted throughout the hour. But the weakness in a few stocks the first hour developed into a general decline the succeeding hour. There was a general slide in prices before 1 o'clock. Chicago Gas dropped to 41⅝. Villard stocks joined the weak list. Northern Pacific, common, went down to 26⅝, and preferred to 62⅝. Coal stocks dropped to 25 for Hocking Valley, 81⅜ for Lackawanna, and 29⅛ for Reading. Among western stocks Atchison fell below 26, Burlington to 77¾, Rock Island to 66⅝, St. Paul to 55⅝, Union Pacific to 43⅝. Louisville, Lake Shore and New York and New England weakened also.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter—The stock market has a thoroughly discouraging appearance. Transactions are small and almost entirely by room and professional traders. Early today applications were made to the sub treasury for gold bars for shipments, and reports were circulated of large sums being wanted. These reports had a depressing influence, they discouraged buying and encouraged selling for short as well as long account. The market consequently was weak and declining throughout the forenoon, although transactions were not large. Boston sold a great deal of Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, but the stock appeared to be quite well taken. There is considerable short interest in this stock and probably the price was supported thereby. The treasury has again refused to furnish bars for shipment and shippers have been obliged to send coin, and $1,025,000 has been ordered in this form. No doubt considerable more would have been shipped if bars could have been obtained. The stock rallied a small fraction toward the close on covering buying by traders, otherwise it was featureless. Money is easy at 2½@3 per cent. Sales, 107,655 shares.
