Bulls Take a Turn in the Chicago Wheat Pit.

CEREALS GENERALLY QUOTED HIGHER.

Range of Leading Futures—New York Grain and Provisions—St. Louis and Kansas City Markets—Financial.

CHICAGO, May 6.—It was the turn of the bulls in wheat, but this was not accomplished without opposition from the bears and the upward course of prices was marked by a number of sharp reactions. The believers in lower prices are still confident in their position and are predicting a still further reduction in values of 10c per bushel or about 25c from the top figures of two weeks ago. The conditions today were largely in favor of the bull movement. First in importance in this behalf was the reduction of the French tariff on wheat and flour in an amount estimated to be equivalent to 13½c per bushel. Then came Bradstreet's report on the visible supply, showing a decrease of 200,000 bushels east of the Rocky mountains and 500,000 bushels west of the Rockies. The fact of the recent heavy decline in prices was also a factor as favoring a reduction. The market no doubt was largely oversold and buying of any consequence created nervousness among some of the shorts. Foreigners were reported to have bought wheat at the seaboard. There was less pressure to sell and at times the offerings were very light so that the market responded readily to the demand. About the only news favorable to the bears was the weaker and lower foreign markets. The buying at the start was led by Roche, Lindborg, White, Seaverns and Ream. The selling on the first advance was by Pardridge and Baldwin-Farnum. On each break, however, the bear crowd was freely buying and but few of them sold very heavily on the subsequent rises. Ream, Linn and Pardridge were probably the only exceptions. July wheat started at 98¼c, speedily sold to 99¼c, broke to 98½c, then improved to 99½c, fell back to 98¾c and on the next advance went to $1.00½ but weakened before the close to $1.00.

A much better feeling was manifested in corn with less pressure to sell and more inclination to buy, the result being a much steadier undertone than for several days past. Receipts were light, cables rather better and prices in New York were higher. All markets were light. Bryant made an ineffectual attempt to break prices, his offerings were absorbed by the bulls and the advance continued. July opened at 60@60½c, and with one or two reactions sold up to 61¾c, closing ¼c below that figure.

Oats followed wheat and corn and the close shows an advance in the ruling option of 1c compared with yesterday.

Provisions opened weak under free liquidation by longs. Ream was reported to be selling July pork and buying September. Armour sold some July. Around $12.00 for that option a lot of stop losses orders came and their execution depressed the price to $11.80. Thereafter, in sympathy with cereals the market strengthened and July pork sold up to $12.30, but closed 7½c lower than that, though 17½c was the closing price. July lard closed 12½c higher, and July ribs 17½c higher.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The waiting attitude of the stock market was more fully exemplified today, and although there was a fairly active business transaction in full trading shares, there was only the usual narrow movements of prices within a decisive movement. The tendency in the foreign market was dull, but was reversed later in the day when reassuring news from the conference was received. The temper of the room was rather mixed throughout the entire day, however, and bidders were content to feel the market from time to time without going very deeply into it, while the continued small buying for outside accounts arrived to steady the list from time to time. The weakness of Louisville was under this pressure and was one of the features of trade, while the strength in the Wheeling and Lake Erie shares was fair. Outside of the activity in St. Paul and Chicago Gas and Atchison at times there was no other special features of interest. The opening was easy at irregular changes from last evening's figures and the offering tendency of last evening soon became apparent in the advancing figures, which, however, never got far away from those of the opening and the selling by the local caused a sharp reaction which took prices fractionally below the level of the first sales. Louisville declined 1 per cent, but Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred rose a like amount. The downward movement was short-lived and in the afternoon confidence became so pronounced that a full rally for that amount was noticed in this stock while all others were lifted materially. Among these cordage was most prominent, rising nearly 3 per cent from its lowest figures and holding most of the gain to the end. The final dealings in the stock market were marked by a few movements among the low priced shares, Hocking Valley being prominent with a gain of 1½ per cent, but the great list was content with fractional advances. The market, however, while quiet, closed strong and confident at the highest of the day. The final changes are generally small fractional advances, while there a few declines. There was the usual quiet business in railroad bonds, sales of all issues reached $838,000 and while the market remained firm there was little or no feature of interest developed during the day. Atchison and Kansas & Texas seconds were active and scored only fractional gains with the rest of the list.

Government bonds were dull and steady.

Pennsylvania oil, June option: Opening, 71c; highest, 71½c; lowest, 71c; closing, 71⅛c. Total sales, 18,000 bbls.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Post says: One million more gold was ordered today for export tomorrow, making a total of $3,700,000 up to 3 o'clock today since Monday morning. Besides the sentiment of the exchange since yesterday, there was no mark of the mysterious hole into which the exported gold was imagined to be running. On the contrary, the bull leaders all begin to recall the "persistent government purchases of $5,000,000 of silver per month" and to figure up that on May 1 there had been an increase of currency in the year to the amount of $88,371,022 coined for issuance, a decrease of $2,952,033 in the treasury and an increase of $91,323,050 in circulation and all this helped to stimulate the speculation and advance the prices of stocks.

Traders Talk.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Logan & Co. to Toneray & Bryan: Another active day in the wheat market. The home situation has not changed. The demand for cash wheat is moderate. Continental markets keep strong, some cables quoting an advance. English markets at the close are steadier. With the existing shortage it could have a sharp advance and will have if a cable comes quoting higher prices. The demand for cash corn of all grades is good. The old bull party took a hand in the corn pit from the start today. Cash grades sold several cents over May. Provisions strong and in sympathy with wheat and corn. The weak holders seem to have sold out.

CHICAGO, May 6.—W. G. McCormack & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—The course of the wheat trade indicated today a heavy, oversold wheat market. Many traders who were buying wheat at $1.10 or over on the condition of foreign crops have been selling it short under $1.00, forgetting that the foreign situation is in no wise changed. The news of a large reduction in the French import duty created quite a stir, backed up as it was by a decidedly stronger closing market in Paris. Bradstreet reported a reduction in the available supply east and west of the Rockies amounting to about 3,000,000. These bull points started shorts to covering, with the result of advancing prices 2½c over last night's closing. We look for a further reaction, as the weakness of the last few days has undoubtedly induced a large shortage, which it will take more than a day to eliminate. Receipts at eleven primary points were 390,000, shipments 528,000. Corn was dull but higher principally on covering of shorts. The cash demand was only moderate. Oats very dull and the market featureless. Provisions were very weak at the opening. When July struck $12.00 a large number of stop orders were reached and the market declined in less than a minute to $11.90. At this price there was some heavy buying by our bear operators and by the packing fraternity generally. A sharp reaction was the result. It is evident that the weak holders have sold most of their long stuff and we expect a further reaction before we have a further decline. For the present we believe that provisions bought on breaks will pay good profits.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter—Shorts in wheat have generally covered, getting their wheat mostly from longs who took advantage of the first rally to get out. There has been a fair and natural 3c rally. At the close the market looks well evened up and the impression is that the bears will slug it on any further advance. The situation seems to be strengthening daily. The foreign demand shows no abatement and stocks are being materially reduced. Should this go on a scarcity of wheat before the next harvest is probable. On the other hand the crop outlook is so fine here and apparently improving abroad that the traders looking at prices in late years consider them high and are disposed to sell short on all good rallies. Time will tell, but we believe purchases on breaks for the present will be more profitable. Corn and oats rallied sharply with wheat and held most of the advance. The short interest is small, holders rather timid and there is not much encouragement to buy except on good breaks. In provisions yesterday's weak feeling appeared at the opening, pork being the principal article affected. Friends of provisions place their regard mostly on ribs and lard. There is a great deal more pork already made than will be consumed this year and after December 31 what is left will not be deliverable on contracts. When grain turned upward provisions followed the advance, at the close showing the best for the day in pork. We have probably seen the lowest prices for the present. The market, however, is a nervous one and continues to be sensitive to the course of other markets.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter.—The stock market has been in a waiting humor today, especially during the forenoon when it was exceedingly dull at small variations in prices. Later, however, transactions increased and prices advanced on encouraging reports from the railroad meeting at the Windsor. Nothing definite has been learned of the proceedings, but all accounts from it are that, so far, everything has been harmonious, and some of the prominent delegates said that the results will be entirely satisfactory. So far, the main point which is liable to cause trouble, namely, cutting of rates by the agent of the Missouri Pacific, has not been touched upon, and it is understood it will be the last to be considered and may not be reached today. The traders have accepted these semi-official statements of favorable results to be accomplished and have bought in some stocks. This afternoon St. Paul has been taken freely and the price has advanced over 1 per cent. An additional $1,000,000 in gold has been taken for shipment, making $3,200,000 so far this week and there are reports current that foreign bourses are much disturbed. Bankers, however, do not regard the situation with apprehension. The market in the last half hour again became dull, but prices were well maintained and at the close were about the best of the day.

ST. LOUIS, May 6.—Langenburger Brothers to Cockrell Brothers—The news dispensed on the board today was very bullish. There was a heavy frost here last night, but we do not believe that any damage was done to the growing crop. It looks like wheat ought to be a purchase on all good breaks. The following is the official range of prices, including yesterday's closing prices:

Chicago Live Stock Market.

CHICAGO, May 6.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Cattle sold more freely than on yesterday and were strong—if anything a shade higher. Buyers are making a hard fight against the advancing tendency of prices, but the logic of statistics is against them. There were not enough good cattle here today to meet the actual needs of the trade. No further change took place in the values of sheep. Trade was active at Tuesday's advance. There was a good general demand for cattle. Exporters have not yet recovered their "grip," but the dressed beef men and those who buy for eastern account took hold with a free hand. Local butchers and canners were also actively engaged and the market was firm for all descriptions of cattle. Some of the salesmen quoted prices a trifle higher than for yesterday, but while there were instances where little more money was paid the general market was about steady. The tendency appeared to be upward, however, as animals for the remainder of the week promise to show but little if any increase on the recent average. Heavy cattle continue to sell at prices that look low when compared with those at which light and medium weights are selling. The most salable steers are those weighing from 1,100 to 1,300 pounds. Quotations range from $2.00@4.75 for cows, heifers and bulls; $2.50@4.75 for stockers and feeders, and $4.75@6.50 for shipping steers.

The market on hogs settled back to about Monday's prices, or to $4.60@5.00 for light and to $4.75@5.05 for heavy and medium weights. It was active at these quotations and the close was slightly firmer than the opening. Shippers continue to be freest buyers. They took nearly two-thirds of Tuesday's receipts, and the bulk of good hogs went to them today. Not much trading was done below $4.70, $4.75@4.95 being the range at which the largest part of the stuff was weighed. The extremes were $4.00@5.05.

Fresh Fruits.

There were quite a good many strawberries on the market, but a good many of the arrivals showed the effects of heat and dampness and good shipping stock was not at all plenty. The market broke most too soon, prices being unusually low for the season and dealers anticipate that the natural consequence will be to frighten away shippers and decrease the receipts at this point. The berries are at present arriving from Arkansas and Tennessee.

The first California cherries of the season arrived yesterday, it was only a sample, however, of what is expected to arrive next week. The quality of the fruit was very choice. Reports from the Pacific coast indicate that the crop of small fruits will be very large this summer and that there will be almost no end to the supply of plums, peaches, apricots, pears, etc.
