THE PLATFORM.

Resolved, that the republicans of Nebraska in convention assembled, stand by the fundamental principles of the republican party as enunciated in an unbroken line of national and state platforms, the chief of which are free labor; free speech; the right of every qualified citizen to vote once at every election and have that vote counted under the restrictions of just and equitable election laws; free, non-sectarian schools; sound currency on a specie basis, under national control; the raising of national revenues by taxation of luxuries and articles of consumption not essential to the comfort and well-being of the people and from a tariff on imports so adjusted as to protect home labor and the investment of capital in home industries; and legislative control of corporations.

Resolved, that we uphold and maintain the enforcement by well considered legislation of the clause in our state organic law that prohibits its unjust discriminations and extortions by railroad corporations, while recognizing the importance of fostering and protecting them as necessary factors in our paogress and prosperity; and that we trust to the honesty and courage of the people, in their political capacity, to repel encroachments of corporate power upon the rights and privileges of citizens on the one hand, and, on the other, to deal justly and fairly with all property interests under whatever name or form, without unjust discrimination or extortion in the matter of levying taxes, or regulating prices of commodities or charges for services.

Resolved, that the policy of the state board of lands and buildings, favoring the leasing, for terms of years, of our school, university and agricultural college lands, at a fair rental, in preference to selling the same, under the option given by law, meets with our approval, as the best possible means of preserving the heritage of our children and providing regular and ever increasing revenues for educational purposes.

By E. P. Roggen, Deputy.

Miss Anthoney's lecture the 19th was considered everything it could have been desired by all whom we have heard speak of it except, brother Kenney who probably in consequence of his wife's absence, his animal propensities and his envey of us in the enjoyment of the society, social and intelectual intercourse, of this, one of the most famous, and illustrious "women of America" became uncontrolably jealous and gave full vent to it all this week in a way to which "he is native to the manner born," but fifty prominent men who have given their names to vote for the amendment will surprise brother K., the 7th:

From our point of view, and the "shadow of coming events" as they fall upon our vision, we see Jim Laird the Lion of our tribe in congress hereafter, and nobly and lion-like may he serve us.
