THE NECESSITY

FOR THE SPECIALIST,

DR. H. WAGNER,

Has long been acknowledged and more so at this day than any other. The vast field of medical science is ever increasing, and its numerous branches are brought nearer and nearer to perfection, and no one man can any longer grasp them al Hence the necessity for dividing the labor. And it is true beyond all doubt that disease, affecting the genito-urinary organs need special study more than anything else, if we would understand and know how treat them properly.

DR. H. WAGNER is fully aware that there are many physicians, and some sensible people, who will condemn him for making this class of diseases a specialty, but he is happy to know that with most persons of refinement and intelligence a more enlightened view is taken of the subject, and that the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And fortunately for humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthrophy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die uncared for has passed away.

A Few Reasons

Why you should try the celebrated Dr. H. Wagner's methods of cure:

1. "Dr. H. Wagner is a natural physician."
O. S. FOWLER,
The Greatest Living Phrenologist.

"Few can excel you as a doctor."
DR. J. SIMMS,
The World's Greatest Physiognomist.

3. "You are wonderfully proficient in your knowledge of disease and medicines."
DR. J. MATTHEWS.

4. "The afflicted find ready relief in your presence."
DR. J. SIMMS.

5. "Dr. H. Wagner is a regular graduate from Bellevue Hospital, New York city; has had very extensive hospital practice, and is thoroughly posted on all branches of his beloved science, especially on chronic diseases."
DRS. BROWNELL & EWING.

6. "Dr. H. Wagner has immortalized himself by his wonderful discovery of specific remedies for private and sexual diseases."—Virginia City Chronicle.

7. "Thousands of invalids flock to see him."—San Francisco Chronicle.

8. "The Doctor's long experience as a specialist should render him very successful."—Rocky Mountain News.

Plain Facts Plainly Spoken.

At one time a discussion of the secret vice was entirely avoided by the profession, and medical works of but a few years ago would hardly mention it.

To-day the physician is of a different opinion; he is aware that it is his duty—disagreeable though it may be—to handle this matter without gloves and speak plainly about it; and intelligent parents and guardians will thank him for doing so.

The results attending this destructive vice were formerly not understood, or not properly estimated; and no importance being attached to a subject which by its nature does not invite close investigation, it was willingly ignored.

The habit is generally contracted by the young while attending school; older companions through their example, may be responsible for it, or it may be acquired through accident. The excitement once experienced, the practice will be repeated again and again, until at last the habit becomes firm and completely enslaves the victim. Mental and nervous afflictions are usually the primary results of self-abuse. Among the injurious effects may be mentioned lassitude, dejection or irrascibility of temper and general debility. The boy seeks seclusion, and rarely joins in the sports of his companions. If he be a young man he will be little found in company with the other sex, and is troubled with exceeding and annoying bashfulness in their presence. Lascivious dreams, emissions and eruptions on the face, etc., are also prominent symptoms.

If the practice is violently persisted in, more serious disturbances take place. Great palpitation of the heart, or epileptic convulsions, are experienced, and the sufferer may fall into a complete state of idiocy before, finally, death relieves him.

To all those engaged in this dangerous practice, I would say, first of all, stop it at once; make every possible effort to do so; but if you fail, if your nervous system is already too much shattered, and consequently, your will-power broken, take some nerve tonic to aid you in your effort. Having freed yourself from the habit, I would further counsel you to go through a regular course of treatment, for it is a great mistake to suppose that any one may, for some time, be it ever so little, give himself up to this fascinating but dangerous excitement without suffering from its evil consequences at some future time. The number of young men who are incapacitated to fill the duties enjoined by wedlock is alarmingly large, and in most of such cases this unfortunate condition of things can be traced to the practice of self-abuse, which had been abandoned years ago. Indeed, a few months' practice of this habit is sufficient to induce spermatorrhœa in later years, and I have many of such cases under treatment at the present day.

Young Men

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. WAGNER will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character, which he undertakes to and fails to cure.

Middle Aged Men.

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and turbid appearance. There are many meny men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. W. will guarantee a perfect cure in all cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Let Your Light Shine.

Dr. Wagner, the celebrated specialist, of Denver, Colo., 343 Larimer street, believes in letting the world know what he can do, and is doing for thousands of his fellowmen. His treatment for lost manhood is sure to win him a name that posterity will bless. Ten thousand testimonials from all over the United States from those he has cured, is proof positive that he does cure the worst cases of these diseases. The afflicted from chronic and sexual diseases of every kind will find him their best friend. Read his advertisement in all our city papers, and call on him for advice, as we know you will corroborate us in saying he is the sufferer's true friend.—Rocky Mountain News.

Relief to the Afflicted.

In mechanics, as in science, the specialists are the ones who always comes to the front and accomplish great results. This remark is especially applicable to Dr. H. Wagner, of this city. He stands at the top of his profession, and the cures he performs for the unfortunate would seem wonderful if not properly viewed in the light of scientific acquirements. He is endorsed by the most eminent of the medical faculty. His office is at 343 Larimer street, where he will speedily effect a cure for the suffering of either sex, no matter how complicated their complaint.—Pomeroy's Democrat.

Chronic Complaints Require Time for a Cure.

Persons at a distance who wish to be treated by Dr. Wagner must not feel backward because of inability to visit his office. If they will write and answer the questions which he may submit, medicines will be sent secretly and safely to thousands he has cured in every city, town and station in Colorado, and a silver the United States. See his advertisement.—Denver Tribune

S ll We Reform?

Specific remedies for all diseases is the theory practice at [illegible] of educated and experienced physicians. In all large communities they have their specialties, to which they direct their studies and practice. Dr. Wagner is a successful illustration of a modern school of specialties, and his unprecedented success in the treatment of private diseases is as wonderful as it is flattering.—Prof. J. Simms.

Those [illegible] who need medical relief for the most delicate of [illegible] will find an accomplished and successful physician in the person of Dr. Wagner. ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

Our Traveling Correspondence.

DUNLAP, Iowa, October 17.—Although in the extreme eastern side of Harrison county, this place is decidedly an important commercial center, and perhaps the best town in the county.

Measles are abroad among the populace.

L. S. Andrew, cashier of the Exchange bank, is erecting unto himself an elegant new residence.

The Lotus club, an organization for social purposes, gives its first ball of the 24th inst.

Our substantial friend, W. H. Bush, is increasing the capacity of his harness shop by the addition of another room.

On Thursday evening the Ladies' Aid society of this city give an interesting "literary and costume" sociable at the M. E. church.

One of the largest clothing dealers of this place has offered a fine beaver overcoat to the farmer of either Monona, Shelby, Crawford or Harrison county, bringing to the establishment the heaviest ear of corn. A large number of competitors have already entered.

The Dunlap Reporter is one of the very best local papers on the "slope." It is in its thirteenth year, is a fifty-six column paper, and "neat as a new pin."

The C. & N. W. round house at this place has been vacated for a long time past, but active operations are now in progress to relocate a number of railroad shops and the round house here again, the work to be in full blast as "in times of yore" by the 1st of November.

Yesterday occurred a most happy and enjoyable affair in this place. It was the occasion of the presentation to Shields Post No. 83, G. A. R., by the wives, daughters, relatives and friends of the members of the post, a very artistic and handsome banner as a token of the regard in which the boys are held by the ladies. After some very excellent music by the Dunlap Cornet band, the members and their friends convened in their hall, and were called to order by Commander G. W. Thompson. Mrs. M. P. Brace made the presentation speech, which was touching and well delivered, and showed woman's love and devotion to our country and to the grand army boys. Responsive speeches were made by comrades Thompson, Traver, Roberts, Patterson, Brace, Taylor and Kellogg. A resolution of thanks was voted to the donors of the beautiful banner, after which an adjournment was had to the railroad hotel, where a sumptuous repast was enjoyed by the participants.

Cattle Feeding Experiment.

Blair Pilot.

"Dick" Blaco has been experimenting in different ways in cattle feeding this summer. Some time ago we published the result of one of his experiments and now we have another to give our readers who are so many of them interested in making good beef and making it quick and cheap.

June 24th Mr. B., weighed thirty-five head of two-year-old steers and turned them into a forty acre red clover and timothy pasture. He fed them lightly with ear corn for the first month after which time he gave them all they would eat. August 25th following—sixty-two days after—he weighed them and found they had gained 192 lbs. each. He continued the same course of feeding until last Monday, the 8th inst.—43 days later—and weighed them again when they showed a still further gain of 135 lbs. each, or a total for the 106 days of 330 lbs. each. In the pasture with them were 125 to 200 head of hogs, large and small, that Mr. B. says are in a very thriving condition and the larger ones read for market. Mr. B. has taken the steers off from grass now and proposes to force them along as fast as possible until Christmas when he expects to market them. Their average weight now is 1,230 lbs., which we consider pretty fair for two year olds past.

Mr. B. is strong in the belief that the way to realize on beef cattle and make feeding profitable is to stuff them from the start and keep them fat and growing every minute. He thinks the profits of the business is in fatting instead of growing cattle and is not quite certain that yearlings properly fed and marketed would not yield more profit than if kept till they were older.

A Defaulter Departed.

Crete Standard.

Something of a sensation was created among the friends of R. L. Cornwell when the real cause of his absence became known. He has been a teacher in our city schools for over a year. Week before last he left his place in the school room, and left the city. The facts as we gather them are about as follows: John Styskal, a Bohemian, three or four years ago went to Bohemia, leaving with Cornwall a mortgage and some notes for collection amounting then to about $1,700. The notes and mortgage were given by F. Jelinek, and were collected, but Styskal could not get a settlement while in the old country, so he recently came here and found the true state of affairs. Pushing Cornwell to a final settlement he saw he could not make up the large amount, although friends came to his rescue with $500, he departed for parts unknown. The worst feature of the business is Cornwell has nothing to show for the money he has so ruinously handled. There is great sympathy for his family, who are worthy and striving to get along in the world. Styskal made his money living in a sod hut in early times; he feels his loss keenly, and will pursue Cornwell for redress and punishment. He has taken steps through detectives already to nab him.

LADIES WHO SMOKE CIGARETTES.

A Practice Now Common Among the Most Fashionable Circles.

Any society man can testify that cigarette smoking is becoming alarmingly common among the ladies of his acquaintance. It is the customary thing now in the fashionable circles for the ladies to smoke cigarettes, "just for fun," if a stranger is about, their sangfroid air showing that they are adepts at the practice. The ladies smoke in the morning in their boudoirs and while calling on each other. Some of them are skilful in rolling cigarettes, and carry exquisitely designed and chased cigarette cases, holders, etc. A good many well-known actreses are addicted to cigarette smoking especially those of foreign birth. Nearly all the opera-bouffe artists smoke cigarettes. The names of several prominent actresses could be given who are habitual cigarette smokers, but as they deny the practice in public, it would probably be unfair to put them to trouble by a public mention of the fact. It is notorious that it is customary for the more fashionable milliners to serve their customers with liquors, and so it is also customary for them to supplement the dish with cigarette.

No long since the young wife of quite a prominent society man was sent home in a carriage from a fashionable modiste's very ill, but the family physician discovered it was the effects of the "first smoke."

"Recently at several ladies' lunch parties at Delmonico's, cigarettes have been called for and smoked clandestinely in the waiter's absence. The custom of course has been imported, and is one of the results of foreign travel. It is common for ladies—especially in the demimonde—in sunny Spain and the Oriental countries to smoke cigarettes. The dear creatures claim that the fumes of the tobacco are good for their teeth. They also admit that the cigarette is a nerve tonic, and often causes the desire of an old smoker for it. At first the ladies obtained their cigarettes at the drug stores, alleging they were purchasing them for their husbands or brothers, but now they boldly go to Park & Tilford's or Acker, Merrall & Condit's and order them with the groceries. They generally buy the lighter brands, but many of them smoke the Periques.

A large uptown dealer says that there is as much smoking among the ladies as among the boys. The ladies avoid soiling their fingers by using cigarette-holders, which, if they have not one, they improvise out of hair-pins. The ladies are much more graceful smokers than the men, and, holding the cigarette daintily between the lips, never wet the paper, which is the proper way to smoke a cigarette. Some men like to see a lady smoking, but they probably would not like to see their wives indulging in a cigarette.

THE NEW STEAMER OREON.

Her Dimensions, Machinery and Luxurious Fittings.

New York Sun.

The new steamer Oregon which reached this port yesterday has been designed on finer lines and with considerably more horse-power, than even the swift Alaska. Her length is 520 feet, her breadth 54 feet and her depth 40 feet 9 inches. Her gross measurement is 7,500 tons, and her engines, which are simple in construction, represent 13,000 horse-power, a capacity greater than any yet put on board any other vessel. The boilers are nine in number and made entirely of steel. These were tested to a measure of 220 pounds to the square inch, though they are not intended to bear more than half that pressure, thus leaving a large margin for safety. They are each 16 feet 9 inches long and 16 feet 6 inches in diameter, and each is supplied by eight furnaces, four being placed at each end, thus making 72 furnaces in all. There are four masts, having yards, and the steam steering gear, of the latest improvement, is in the wheelhouse under the after turtle deck. She has five decks, and the first, or promenade, extending the whole length and breadth of the vessel, with the exception of the parts forming the turtle deck at the ends, is reserved for the use of the first-class passengers. Electric lightning, on the incandescent principle, is introduced on board and adds greatly to the effect of the tasteful decorations throughout.

The fittings of the steamer are unusually elegant. The grand saloon, capable of dining at once all the first class passengers, measures 65 feet long by 54 feet wide, with a height of 9 feel in its lowest part. The ceiling decorations are almost exclusively confined to white and gold. The panels are of polished satin wood, the pilasters of walnut, with gilt capitals. A central cupola of elegant design, 25 feet long by 15 feet, rises to a height of 20 feet, and gives abundant light and ventilation. The ladies drawing room is a sumptuous apartment, furnished with a rich pile carpet and upholstered in peacock blue velvet. The wood work of this chamber, as well as that of the captain's room and the principal entrance to the saloon, was grown in the State of Oregon, and consists of cedar, ash, oak and maple. The paneling of this room is Spanish mahogany, and the floor mosaic. Not only are the saloon passengers well cared for, but the second-class or intermediate cabins are designed and furnished in a manner quite equal to the first class accommodation of former days; while the most modern improvements, including the electric light, are introduced in the steerage department.

The Population of Paris.

Pall Mall Gazette.

An analysis of the population of Paris just published gives very singular statistics as to the inhabitants of the gayest city in Europe. It seems, also, for its size, to be the most industrious. The proportion in which the working classes exceed those who live on their own incomes is the more remarkable, as Paris is the recognized centre of expenditure and extravagance for all France. There are no cities that hold to the capital the same relative position that Liverpool, Manchester and Birmingham occupy relatively to London. More than half a million of Parisians are employed in commerce, trade and banking operations, while of the artisan class there are considerably more than a million and a quarter. The liberal professions seem to occupy but a small proportion of the population. All combined do not amount to 200,000, and in the sub-divisons the prominence is quite different to what it would be with us. The great majority are in the public service, which employs more than medicine, law and divinity all combined. But, after the public service, is art which gives employment and livelihood to the greatest number of Parisians. Forty-two thousand get their income from this branch of industry. The doctors come after, but a long way after. Medicine in its branches supports 18,000, the branches, of course, including chemists and all compounders and venders of medicine. Then comes the law, with its 16,000 votaries, from Judge to bailiff. Literature figures very low on the list, for, grouped with science and journalism, it gives employment to only 12,000 people while all the clergy of all the persuasions amount to but half that number. On the whole, Paris would seem to be more industrious, more artistic, less literary and less religious than the ordinary visitor would suppose.

A BUFFALO HUNT.

Adventures in the Judith Basin The Extinction of the American Bison.

Sioux City Journal.

R. G. M. Graham is home from a hunt in the Judith Basin, Montana. This gentleman, with a few of his English friends, outfitted at Livingston about six weeks ago, and have since been enjoying wild life in what was supposed to be the buffalo country. But the buffalo have gone. In what was the heart of their range up to within a year ago is now about as free of buffalo as is Iowa. While on the hunt news came of a bunch of some 3,000 that had walked down from somewhere north to the Powder river. The hunters worked down that way, but long before they got there learned that the herd, excepting a few bulls scattered in the mountains, had been killed off by half-breeds and white hunters. There is believed to be no herd of buffalo of any considerable size, if, in fact, there are any excepting scattered individuals, south of the British line. While the hunters were in the Judith basin a cloud of smoke came that settled over the entire country, lasting for eight days so that no object could be seen more than 200 yards away. They afterwards learned that this smoke came from prairie fires started by Indians north of the Missouri to keep the buffalo from going south, as is their habit at this season of the year. If this fire accomplishes its purpose it will keep the small remnant of the once myriads of buffalo north of the boundary line, where they are likely to die of cold and starvation, if not killed off by the hungry Assinniboine Indians. In brief the nobiest of American game animals is all but extinct, and next season only scattering individuals are likely to be found anywhere on the continent.

Of antelope our hunters killed until they were weary of slaughter. There were also a goodly number of deer, both black-tailed and white-tailed, killed. No mountain sheep were bagged, nor any bear, though some traces were seen of both bear and mountain lion. Of small game there is an abundance. But stockmen and settlers are working back into these valleys from the Northern Pacific road, and Mr. Graham says that were he going again he would make farther south, say to the Big Horn mountains, and then work south through Wyoming to some point on the Union Pacific. Such a route, he thinks, would give more game and sport than the Judith basin.

The Keokuk Cracker and Candy company and the Keokuk Marble and Granite company have filed their articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The capital stock of the former is $45,000 and of the latter $10,000.

Buchanan county, which has had so many tragedies, has added two more to the list. Mrs. Mary E. McCauley, the young wife of Dr. O. G. McCauley, of Rowley, shot herself through the head, last Saturday morning, causing instant death. She was but 24 years old, and had been married a little over a year. No cause is known for the act but general despondency. On the afternoon of the same day, Thomas Carmody, a 15-year old son of John Carmody, of Sumner township, took his own life by hanging himself. He was found by his mother, suspended by a strap from the cow shed, quite dead.

A WIFE'S TROUBLE.

For a number of years my wife has been troubled with chronic rheumatism, it being in some portion the body constantly (except perhaps in the very warmest weather in summer). Last Christmas contracted a very severe cold, and a diseased condition of the kidneys became manifest, which subjected her to excessive suffering, as the symptoms of gravel became more prominent, her urine being colored, accompanied by a heavy brickdust sediment.

After trying several remedies without relief, I procured for her a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, which she commenced taking, and before three days had passed she became much better. She continued using the medicine until she had used six bottles, and now she feels entirely cured of both rheumatism and kidney complaint. She believes her present excellent health due solely to the use of Hunt's Remedy.

WILLIAM C. CLEAVELAND.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Under date of May 14, Mr. E. Thompson, the well-known grocer and provision dealer, of 78 Green street, New Haven, Conn., writes as follows: "Several weeks since I was taken very ill with kidney disorders, and on examination of my urine showed a very diseased condition of my kidneys, and I had also symptoms of a diseased state of my liver. The passing of my urine was accompanied with severe pains in the small of my back and loins, followed by a burning sensation, and after having stood awhile in the vessel, the urine showed a very heavy deposit of a sediment similar to ground brickdust, and, in short, I found that I was in such a diseased condition as to require immediate medical treatment, and as I was anxious to obtain the best and most speedy remedy, I looked and inquired carefully, and became satisfied that Hunt's Remedy was an article of excellent merit, and therefore I concluded to give it a trial, and commenced taking it, and before I had taken one bottle I found such a great improvement that I decided to continue its use, and by taking only two bottles the result has been most gratifying in giving me restored health.

"I have ordered a supply of Hunt's Remedy for my store, and shall hereafter have it for sale, as I consider it an excellent article for diseases of the liver and kidneys."

50 Years.

I have known and watched the use of Swift's Specific for over fifty years, and have never known of a failure to cure Blood Poison when properly taken. I used it on my servants from 1850 to 1865, as did also a number of my neighbors, and in every case that came within my knowledge it effected a cure. In all my life I have never known a remedy that would so fully accomplish what it is recommended to do.

H. L. DENNARD, Perry, Ga

have known and used Swift's Specific for more than twenty years, and have seen more wonderful results from its use than from any remedy in or out of the Pharmacopoeia. It is a certain and safe antidote to all sorts of blood poison.
