NEBRASKA WILL HAVE GOLF TEAM IN VALLEY TOURNAMENT

According to Athletic Departments Plans, If Enough Enthusiasts Appear.

Another minor sport will probably be introduced at Nebraska this year, if interest enough can be aroused among the students. A letter has been receiving stating that Drake University will be hosts of the first annual Missouri Valley golf tournament on May 16 and 17. Missouri Valley eligibility rules will govern the contestants, of whom there will be two entered from each school. Cups will be provided for the winner, the runner-up, and winner of the consolation.

If enough men desire, a call for golfites will be issued soon, and the Scotch game will take its place on the calendar along with the other minor sports. It may not be long before talk of brassies, drivers, tees, and caddies, will be intermingled with the jargon of football, baseball, track, and tennis now floating about the campus.
