EDITORIAL.

A "nigger" has been appointed to a foreign mission.

The great railroad strike is at an end. Millions of dollars worth of property was destroyed. Over 12,000,000 dollars worth of property was destroyed in Pittsburg alone.

The Hastings Gazette man, threatens to get even with some of the naughty boys of that burg, by beating them at a game of seven-up. If the Gazette man wants to get nicely walloped at a civil game of seven-up, let him come down and tackle the CHIEF.

Dr. G. E. Kimball, proprietor of the Rose Hill (Iowa) Nursery paid the CHIEF a visit last Monday. The Dr. has had 25 years experience in the nursery and fruit business. He says that this will ultimately become a fruit-growing country. He will sell you a hardy variety of fruit trees and warrant them to live and thrive.

D. S. Helvern, who is running a threshing machine the present season, informs us that grain of all kinds as far as they have threshed, has turned out better than was expected. Mr. Shut's white wheat turned out 25 bushels per acre. Henry Gerky's barley yielded 60 bushels per acre, 150 bushels from 2½ acres, 4 bushels sown.

An exchange, in speaking of Gen. Grants reception in England, says that he was very highly honored, having breakfasted, dined, and slept with the Queen. If Mrs. Grant should find this out, we apprehend that there will be a little domestic "onpleasantness" in the Grant family, and the old gen. will, in all probability, find it necessary to purchase a wig.

Since the strike is ended, the attention of the people is again turned towards the great struggle that is going on in the old world. The Turks have [illegible] from Turkey proper, and are consequently jubilant.

The Rusians, chagrined at their defeat, have resorted to cruelties and barbarities shocking to relate, which are a lasting disgrace to any people claiming to be half civilized. In one instance the inhabitants of a village upon the approach of the Rusians, took refuge in the Mosque, and were burned alive, men women and children. Dwellings were burned and women and children butchered by the wholesale.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

The town was thrown into a state of excitement last Saturday night over the shooting of a man by the name of Saunders from Burr Oak Kansas by one Silas Fincher, a young man who has been for some time in the employ of Mr. Burtis, residing near town. The shooting occured at the Star hall, under the following circumstances, as near as we are able to learn. It appears that the man who was shot was slightly under the influence of liquor, and had engaged in a game of billiards, his awkward movements elicited some remarks from the young man not very complimentry to his skill as a billiard ist. This arroused the ire of the Kan as man, who proceeded to eject the boy from the room, the boy warned him to lookout or he would get shot, the man then drew a knife and started towards the boy, a report of a pistol was heard, and the man staggered back in the room with a bullet in his head, the ball had struck him just above the left eye, glanced up and remained embeded just under the skin. Had the ball struck a very little lower it would have entered the eye, and probably proved fatal. The boy has not been seen since the affray. We have given the story just as it was told to us, we did not see the disturbance, and cannot vouch for the truthfulness of the details of the affair.

Later.—The young man that did the shooting, came back to town and gave himself up to the proper authorities, and after an examination of a couple of witnesses, before Joe Warner J. P. he was acquitted, it being a clear case of shooting in self defence.

The Smith Co. (Kan.) Pioneer publishes the following letter from a citizen of Smith Co. who is apparently interested in political matters.

"The approaching political campaign reminds us that we have a work to do. Let us be up and a doing. See to it that the candidates selected are not only competent to discharge the duties of their respective offices, but that they are well skilled in the games of the day, such as poker, old s'edge, seven-up and freeze-out and such, as a great portion of those that are now in office and a part of them hold over for another year, are sports at the business, and will [illegible] with the baggage of the officers if they are not [illegible] in that line, so it behooves us to pick up such a doing."

Nebraska Notes.

The Prairie Farmer gives an excursion from Lincoln to St. Joseph, August 11th.

Another story is to be added to the B. & M. passenger depot at Lincoln, and when finished, will be divided and sub divided into offices for the officials of the road.

An idiot of Knox Co, writes to the Western Rural that the grasshoppers have "come down" in Nebraska, and says that Neb. is no wheat-growing country!

State Journal. The B. & M. land office is thronged daily with Eastern land buyers. The samples of Nebraska-grown cereals in the windows, are the great attraction.

Recently while two boys aged respectively 9 and 6 were bathing in wood river a few miles from Kearney, they were attacted by a full grown American Bald Eagle measuring seven feet from tip to tip of the wings, which swooped down upon them, they finaly succeeded in drowning him.

On the B. & M. railroad, firemen get $2, 12½ per day, passenger engineers, $3 25, freight engineers, $3 40, passenger conductors, $90 per month, freight conductors, $67, 50, bagagemen, $50, and brakemen, $45, track hands $1 10 per day.

State Journal. We learn from a gentleman living in Cass county that the hog cholera has broken out in the vicinity of Greenwood and Ashland. The owner of a herd of about one hundred and fifty head, was throwing from his pens daily about six. Mr. Loder, one of the oldest settlers in that section, and the owner of three hundred head, is feeding a preparation of sulphur, and as yet has not lost a single hog.

CUSTER'S REMAINS.

Col. M. V. Sheridan has returned from the Custer battlefield. His mission was well, conducted, not by the government, to exhume and bring back to civilization the remains of several officers who fell there. The remains of the following officers were unmistakably identified: Gen. Custer, his brother Col. Tom Custer, Col. Keogh, Col. Cook, Capt. Yates, and Lieuts. Smith, Calhoun, Crittenden and Reilly. They had been buried just as they had fallen, with the single exception of Col. Custer, who had received interment alongside his brother. The grave of the Custers was near the summit of a little knoll, right where the gallant soldier had taken his last stand. The ground for two hundred feet around was filled with remains. Over sixty men had been killed on that little elevation. The surface of the knoll was strewn with dry bones of horses, which were bleached to the whiteness of ivory. From the position of these bones it was evident to the observer that the horses had been shot for the purpose of forming a breastwork. It looked as if the animals had been led into a position describing a half circle and then shot in their their tracks.

In one or two instances shreds of clothing were found adhearing to the remains of officers, and in one or two graves the slightest trace of hair was discovered. In most cases the bones had seperated, though there were one or two exceptions in which the anatomy adhered together perfectly.

The remains of Lieutenant Crittenden was given permanent burial on the spot where he fell. This was in obediance to the wishes of his father, who objected to the removel of his son's bones. A neat pine box, containing his disintered anatomy, was sunk three feet in the ground, and a cedar stake bearing his name and number of his regiment, was driven down at the head of his coffin. In the mean time the bones of the other seven officers had been placed in coffins and conveyed into camp. On Col. Sheridan's arrival at Bismark, the coffins were delivered to Lieut. Chubb, post quartermaster, who turned them over to Col. Tilford, commanding at Fort Lincoln. As soon as the caskets can be procured the remains will be permanently interred. Those of Gen. Custer will be taken to West Point. The bones of Col. Custer, Capt. Yates, and Lieuts. Smith, Calhoun, and McIntosh will be removed to the national cemetery at Leavenworth, Kansas. The remains of the other officers will be delivered to such relatives as may claim them.

POTSDAM, July 30th, 1877.

The great bulk of our harvest is past, each one reveals some important items for farmers to think upon. Where their crops are light they easily see that made them thus, do [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] they are apt to attribute their good fortune to their good farming and as long as the seasons are favorable, they are good farmers, but let an average or poor season cut their crops short and down goes the country in which they live, or the folly of shallow plowing, insufficient harrowing, poor seed and other like causes soon looms up before them and they wonder why they had not discovered it before. [illegible] as well as "fair weather sailors." Our past is a noble experience to the Nebraska farmer. Our grasses, our soil and our clime has been thoroughly tested and as we have an energetic thorough going progressive set of farmers we will expect to make the most of these in adding to the deserving, the fruits of their labor. Among the various implements that are designed to be labor saving, is the self binder attached to the harvester. We have seen some of them at work and pronounce them the very thing the grain raiser needs, the expense of them is enormous, beyond the reach of ordinary farmers, this exigency must be met in some way. A farmer cannot pay over $200 for a machine that will harvest his grain and bind it. There are too many risks to run that may involve him, and become ruinous This fact all farmers know either by experience or observation.

S. Kershure is building a fine large house which will add to the looks of the neighborhood very much.

A boy while herding for Mr. Filles, on the Little Blue, near Daily's Ranch, was thrown from a horse and his brains dashed out, by having his foot caught in the stirrup, and the horse becoming frightened, ran away with him. He was a Belgian, and his parents lived near Juniata. Also one week previous Mr. Isaac May's boy had an arm broken in a very similar manner.

Theft is little talk in this part of the county about the coming election, or candidates. We were so completely swindled at the county convention last [illegible] we are out [illegible] pounds from Guide Rock and Red Cloud wire-worker's, we might as well keep still. All we ask is an equal and fair representation among the county by good men. We [illegible] washed last fall, and now shake the dust and bid goob bye to public favor.
