EDITORIAL.

The national debt was reduced $3,869,538 during the monthof August.

Ex Presidednt Theirs died very suddenly, in Paris, Sep 4th. of apoplexy.

Between fifteen and sixteen thousand people attended the funeral of Brigham Young

Hales piano factoy, New York, was completely destroyed by fire, Several lives were lost. Loss said to be $500,000.

A correspondent of the Chicago, Post claims that Brigham Young's death was not caused by colera morbus, but that he committed suicide by taking poison.

An extra session of the state legislature will very likely be called, as most of the members desire it, and they are lonesome in their remote parishes. Eighty of them were summoned to the judicial bar of Lancaster county by Winters for false imprisonment not long ago; and perhaps they will have to go to the capital on the culprit business.—Rep. City News.

Candidates are rather slow in announcing themselves. We suppose modesty has something to do with it. In our opinion candidates should let themselves be known as such, as the people are reluctant to support a man who is not willing to give the people a chance to criticise him. For our part we enjoy supporting a man who is not afraid to lay his claims for office before the people and give them a chance to to discuss his merits and dis-merits.

THOMASVILLE, Neb. Sept. 1st, 1877.

ED CHIEF.—Another month has dawned upon us, and finds us still moving forward as regards the settling and improving of this part of our county.

The railroad lands are being rapidly taken up; the price is so low that most any one can buy a farm now, while crops are so good that the newcomer is enabled to buy his year's provisions at a very low figure.

Threshing is going on lively, and grain is turning out more than was expected.

There is a good Sabbath School in C. A. Teal's district, W. Wells Sup't. They have a good library, which was donated by the U. P. Church of Coulteasville, Ill. The books are partly new, and were sent free of charge.—This was brought about through the efforts of J. Q Robinson, may he ever be as successful in any good work he may attempt.

Mr. Wells of Stillwater is improveing rapidly.

ANIKE.

BATIN NEB. Sept. 3d, 1877.

ED. CHIEF.—Let those who are inclined to be skeptical in regard to the future prosperity of this part of the universe, visit Batin precinct and see what has been done in the last four years. The same improvement in the next four to come, will make this as fine an agricultural district, and in as high a state of cultivation as can be found in any portion of these united states. And the simple facts in regard to this county, its productions, general fertility &c., have only to become known, to induce an Immigration here that would ocupy every available piece of land in it.

The farmers here have threshed some of their grain, and after careful enquiry I place the average yield of wheat, of all kinds, in this precinct, at 23 bushels to the acre, Some pieces of grass wheat will yield as high as 28 bushels.

The corn is now safe from the ravages of the grasshopper and will be an abundant crop. Oats, barley and rye are also exceptionally good this season.

And now let me say a word to the residents of Webster county in general, and Batin precinct in particular—do something this fall to make your homes more attractive, by setting out forest trees around your buildings.—Two days work in the month of October, will improve the appearance, and consequently the value of your homes, in a great degree. And I will cheerfully inform you howit may be successfully done. viz.—procure trees of at least two inches in diameter,(box alder is the best)exercise care in removing them, and leave all the small roots near the body, the larger ones may be cut with safty, at a distance of 18 in. from the tree, and after trimming the top close to the body, with a saw, removeing all the branches, place the trees in holes dug two feet in depth, pack the soil well around the tree, and the work is done. Let those who desire to beautify their homes, try this next month, if not more than a dozen trees, and you will have in one year something you can call a shade. REX

Nebraska Notes.

Furnas county will hold her first fair at Beaver City, Sept. 13th and 14th.

Prof. Wilber has been lecturing in Crete.

The Nebraska farmer has reached a circulation of 4,000.

Crazzy Horse died at Camp Robinson Neb Sept. 16th. Gone to the "happy hunting grounds."

Hastings proposes to raise $1,000 to secure the erection of machine shops at that place.

The merchants of Hastings don't think the grain buyers pay as much for grain as they might, so they have formed a club and fix up on them.

Brigham Young died last Wednesday, and was buried in state on Sunday. This time cholera morbus has cheated the gallows of its portion.

Kearney Times.

I. B Hampton has built, for his own use, a very neat little buggy. Hampton & Ralston can make buggies that are equal in workmanship and finish to those of eastern manufacture. It is a source of gratification to us, to know that parties wishing anything of that kind do not have to send east for it, but can get just what they want, and at the same time patronize home institutions.

Lincoln Journal: The walls of the B. & M. office in this city are very tastefully adorned with samples of grain grown in the counties of this state, which were once known as the great American desert. There may be seen samples of wheat which will turn off twenty-three bushels to the acre, oats that will run sixty bushels to the acre, barley that will measure forty bushels to the acre, and corn stalks with three large ears, measureing thirteen feet in length.

State Journal; There will be a general sweep made this fall by creditors. Men in all kinds of business have their books covered with charges, some dating back to the grasshopper desolation. It is to every man's interest to square up, and the strictest economy is necessary, not only for that purpose, but to keep from being engulfed before another harvest, in the same perplexity. Let us live on the necessaries, and be free for the present; the luxuries will come in a few years. The good reputation of individuals, the reputation of the country demands it, and we believe the attempt will be made to nearer a cash business in the future.

The population of Nebraska is about three hundred thousand and during the last fifteen years, our people have built sixty thousand houses, besides dugouts not a few; broke and cultivated over a million acres of prairie, surveyed over forty million acres of public land; defined and organized seventy-five counties; constructed over twelve hundred miles of railroads; built about one hundred mills, and about four miles of bridges; opened six hundred and fifty postoffices, connected by seven thousand miles of post road; established and published over one hundred newspapers; built two thousand five hundred school houses, a state house, state university, normal school, insane asylum, blind institute, deaf and dumb institute, and about two hundred churches.

State Journal.

The farmers are bustly engaged threshing, and gathering in the fruits of their labors.

Everybody seems to be happy over the fine crops they have to harvest this fall.

Several of our neighbors have threshed their grain, and are well pleased with the yield. Mr. W. Shoop had 60 bushels of oats to the acre, and 48 bu barley per acre. Mr. Vandyke's wheat went 20 bushels to the acre. Mr Jno. Anderson had a fair yield of oats, and other grain.

My wheat yielded 25 bushels to one of sowing; I sowed a bushel to the acre.

Mr. John Slusser and C. Gust are threshing with a good machine, doing good work and giving satisfaction. They can clean the wheat ready for the market.
