Resolutions passed by the Republican Valley Rep. Association Oct. 5 1878

1. Resolved, That in looking over our field and seeing how much is to be done and our discouragements, we should be led in deep humility to ask the Lord to help us in this our time of need.

2. Resolved, That we recommend the Home Mission Society and the Missionary Union as needing the help and cooperation of our association and that the brethren contribute to this association as the Lord enables them.

3. Resolved, That the Home Mission Society be requested to put into the field within the bounds of this association some good working brother to supply the pasterless and destitute churches and paying the same sufficient amount to enable him to give his whole time to the ministry and that the churches thus supplied be urged to meet as far as they are able amount paid by the society.

4. Resolved, That as our valley is being opened up by a railroad and settlers are coming among us that greater efforts should properly be put forth by our churches. That we suggest the distribution of religious reading tracts by the professed followers of our God as one good method of labor and that we see that every family in our midst has a copy of the Bible.

5. Resolved, That we recommend the denominational books and tracts of the Baptist Publication Society and that we will be rejoiced to have this Society to put in our field a colporteur for the sale and distribution of its publications.

6. Resolved, That we recommend every family to take at least one religious paper and recommend the Chicago Standard the Sword and Shield, of Dubuque Ia. and other like papers.

7. Resolved, That we recommend concentration of labor and that small and weak churches in proximity to each other consolidate and work together thus adding to their power and influence.

8. Resolved, That as we often hear with regret brethren defame, deride and belittling the character, reputation and influence of each other—that ministers and laymen be careful to defend the character and protect the reputation of each other remembering that our Lord's command is that we shall love the brethren.

9. Resolved, That since many of our brethren are careless in meeting their engagements and contracts we urge upon the brethren that they remember St. Paul's injunction owe no man any thing—and bear in mind that promises to their pastors unless filled causes Pastors to fail in their engagements thereby bringing reproach on pastor as well as church.

The mass meeting last Thursday was not as well attended as one could wish but a fair audience greeted Messrs Valentine and Alexander. Mr. Griggs, consul at Chemnitz, who was to have been present was called away on business.

Judge Valentine said he did'nt feel particularly brilliant, had rode 64 miles that day and felt much wearied. Come through more for the purpose seeing our rich country, showing himself and becoming acquainted with the people than to make speeches.

During the time of his judge ship had not been specially interested in finance only to secure enough money to keep up expenses. Felt proud that he was called to be a standard bearer in the grand old republican party, of being nominated to represent one of the noblest young states in the union.

Had cast his first vote for republican party and fought for that party.

"Go to the greenback gate, open it step in, and you will find yourself in the democratic field."

We would be pleased to give the speech the judge made, as also the telling hits delivered by Hon. Jas. Laird and the brief talk made by the well known and popular Col. Alexander candidate for secretary of state, but space forbids.

S. J. ALEXANDER.

The Republican candidate for Secretary of State, Mr. S. J. Alexander, is a man whom we can cheerfully endorse as eminently qualified and trustworthy. Mr. Alexander is one of the pioneers of southwestern Neb. Being an ardent admirer of General Thayer, with whom he served in the army during the war, he was mainly instrumental in engrafting the General's name upon the county in which he had taken up his residence. In view of the fact that this was done after the General lost for re-election to the U. S. Senate by Mr. Hitchcock it is self evident that Mr. Alexander is not only a positive man but a politician who doesn't veer his sails with the wind. Our personal acquaintance with Mr. Alexander dates back to '71 when he was one of the clerks of the lower house of the legislature. Mr. Alexander has since become the founder of a flourishing little village in Thayer county, known as Alexandria, and the energy and industry he has displayed in building up this town furnish striking proof of his executive ability. Mr. Alexander is still a very young man, and while he is comparatively inexperienced in the conduct of public affairs, he is a man with whom development is sure to follow opportunity. Estimating his capacity for development from his successful career in private enterprises, we can safely predict that he will become one of the best state officers Nebraska has ever had.—Rec.

The premium Engraving, issued by Peterson's Magazine for 1879, like everything else from that diarrier, is of unrivaled excellence, costliness and beauty. It is not one of cheap, colored lithographs, with which the country is flooded, but a first class line and stipple engraving, executed in the highest style of art. The artists are Illman & Brothers, and they have engraved it, (size 24 inches by 20) expressly for Peterson's Magazine in their most brilliant manner. It is such a plate as would sell, at retail, for five dollars. The subject is "Christ Blessing Little Children" and is after a picture by the celebrated German artist, Overbeck. It is a picture that ought to be in every household in America; that every mother at least should own. In artistic merit and beauty it is we think, the finest that even Peterson has ever offered. You can get it gratis, by raising a club for Peterson for 1879, or by remitting $2.50 for it and for the magazine, the magazine alone being two dollars. This is a rare chance. Or club subscribers can get it by remitting fifty cents extra. Specimens of the magazine sent gratis, to those wishing to get up clubs. Address CHAS. J. PETERSON, 300 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia Pa.

The mission of the Republican party is not ended.

It has done much. It has put down a vast rebellion, freed 4,000,000 slaves made a free Constitution, united the fragments of a shattered Empire, waged war and finance to the amazement of mankind, it has carried railways over deserts and mountains to the Pacific sea, it has made harbors built breakwaters and high houses, and established life saving stations on perilous coasts, it has stretched out a network of signal service to give warning of storms on land and sea, it has cheapened foreign and domestic postage, founded a postal money order system, put Post Offices on wheels, and doubled the cheapness and swiftness of transmitting intelligence; it has secured to every man who will have it a homestead of 160 acres of fertile land it has stood for free speech, free labor and free man always, it has upheld the public credit, and its aims have been those of humanity and right. Like every human agency, it has, no doubt, sometimes fallen into error, but its record is filled with great and useful achievements.

Not only do urgent works and duties remain for the future, but work and duty which summon us all to concord, harmony, and earnestness.

* * Let our motto be: "In essentials, unity; in non essentials, liberty, in all things, charity."—Roscoe Conkling.

President Jackson's Views on Paper Circulation.

"The progress of an expansion, or rather a depreciation, of the currency by excessive bank issues is always attended by a loss to the laboring classes. This portion of the community have neither time nor opportunity to watch the ebbs and flows of the money market. Engaged from day to day in their usual toils they do not perceive that although their wages are the same or somewhat higher, they are greatly reduced, in fact by the rapid increase of a spurious currency, which, as it appears to make money abound they are first inclined to consider a blessing. It is not so with the speculator, by whom this operation is better understood and made to contribute to his advantage. It is not until the prices of the necessaries of life become so dear that the laboring classes cannot supply their wants out of their wages that the wages rise and gradually reach a justly proportioned rate to that of the products of their labor. When thus by the depreciation in consequence of the quantity of paper in circulation, wages, as well as prices, become exorbitant, it is soon found that the whole effect of expansion is a tariff on our home industries for the benefit of the countries where gold and silver circulate and maintain uniformity and moderation in prices. It is thus perceived that the enhancement of the price of land and labor produces a corresponding increase in the price of products do not sustain a competition with similar ones in other countries, and thus both manufactured and agricultural productions cease to bear exportation from the country of the spurious currency because they cannot be sold for cost. This is the process by which specie is banished by the paper of the banks. Their vaults are soon exhausted to pay for foreign commodities the next step is a stoppage of specie payments—a total degradation of paper as a currency—unusual depression of prices, the ruin of debtors, and the accumulation of property in the hands of creditors and capitalists."
