Vacation Rambles

ON THE Q. TRAIN, Aug. 23.

A run of twelve hours over the C. B. & Q. from Ottumwa to Chicago takes the traveller through some of the richest parts of Iowa and Illinois, but the crop prospect so far as corn is concerned is the same as through central Iowa. Illinois and Iowa will buy corn of Nebraska this year. Nebraska has never had such an advertisement as it will get through its corn crop this year The fine herds of steers that were sent into Chicago from Nebraska last spring notably the Foss herd from Crete, have called general attention to Nebraska as a cattle-feeding state, so that inquiries are made in Chicago and along the line every-where about the prospects for others to go into the cattle business.

Chicago grows in height as well as in width. Some of the buildings which were made but four stories high when built four or five years since, have added two more stories. The immense building going up for John V. Farwell shows how substantial is the growth of this magic city of the west. This building appears almost like a little village in itself, not so much because of its size, as of the various industries going on within it.

It is 400 feet long by 280 feet in width including a spacious court. The plan for rendering the walls fire proof is said to be Mr. Powell's own. The walls are made of concrete manufactured on the ground. Some quarried stone are used for the front finish. but nearly all of the stone trimming will be of artificial stone made on the ground. One side of the building is directly upon the river and sand, gravel, lumber, etc., are delivered by shipload.

It will be eight stories high, and will cost more than a round half million dollars. Another illustration of the height to which buildings are pushed is found in the glucose factory on the west side, twelve stories high. A short ride on the Lake Shore road to Hillsdale, shows the same efficient management that has marked it for years, and —— Foster, Esq., the western passenger agent is a genial gentleman as a pushing railroad manager. A few days among the scenes and the friends of early days, how many changes, how many have gone, how few are left.

Where but a few years since was an unbroken forest, now farm joins farm, so that for miles along the public road there is no break in the line of fence. The great orchards, however, for the most part bare and where here and there a tree is bearing, the apples are small and imperfect.

The crop in southern Michigan was good, but a great amount of it has been lost on account of the continuous and heavy rains. A friend told me of one farmer who had four-hundred acres, of which he gathered but one fourth. The rest stood green in the shock. Unquestionably the large yield must be discounted to a great extent on account of what is so badly grown as to be worthless. The corn crop through northern Indiana and southern Michigan is also very light. Nebraska will see a host of visitors from the interior states this fall as well as from the further east. A visit to C. B. & Q. headquarters, on my return, showed the familiar face of Nat Brown, the traveling agent of the road and who evidently doesn't mean to grow poor in his work. The C., B. & Q. folks are always on hand for anything looking to the interests of the country along their line. They have arranged for low rates from points in Nebraska to the Chicago exposition, and will make special rates along their line to the Nebraska state fair. Nat Brown reports the Denver travel booming and the western business generally prosperous. OBSERVER

Better get in Your Crave.

A young lady writes from Lansing, Iowa, asking:

"I love a young man who is very attractive and pleasant when sober, but at times he gets drunk.

He wants me to marry him and says he will quit drinking if I will become his wife. You are a man of experience, quick to give advice. Will you please advise me in the premises I have no father to consult; and, therefore come to you."

We advise you to get into your coffin, pull the lid down and be buried alive rather than to marry a man who gets drunk, as your torture will be less and you will be the quicker out of your misery. There are now in this world too many broken, crushed, disheartened wives with poor, pitiless, worthless drunken husbands who make of home a hell. Too many weak, worn, wicked, worthless wrecks who love liquor for the opportunity that it gives them to get away on drunks, associate with other loafers, dirty their garments and wallow in the gutter. We have seen and been acquainted with hundreds of wives of drunken husbands but never yet saw a happy one. Let the man who is on his way to ruin go it alone, or in company of some other foolish person, but go you not with him. It is the duty of every person to live as clean as possible and to get into the next condition of life in as good condition as possible. Life was originally intended for study and growth, not for regrets and shortcomings.—Great West.

Sunday School Picnic.

ED. CHIEF.—I wish to report to your valuable paper the proceedings of the Penny Creek Sunday school picnic, which came off on the 19th inst., by the two Penny Creek Sunday schools.

The upper school was arranged as follows: Thos. Paul, Supt., D. S. Helvern, marshal of the day. W. Street color bearer. Joseph Paul had charge of the banner, and let me say that too much credit cannot be given to Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Galbreth and Mrs. Hilton, the ladies who made the banner. Joseph Paul made the letters which was as follows on one side: "Penny Creek Union Sunday school." "Christ is our hope" and on the other, "No cross, no crown." Our school was composed of thirteen teams, loaded with nearly one hundred scholars, after arriving at the grounds, all alighted from their wagons and formed in line and marched to the grove, and sang "shall we gather at the river." The lower school, Albert Cummings, Supt., arrived in due time. Miss Ella Hilton, had charge of the banner and Miss Vanda Vandyke, color bearer. After the schools were arranged, Geo. W. Hilton, read the programme. Opening hymn by both schools, "Come to the Saviour." Rev. Hummel lead in prayer. Vocal and instrumental music, led by J. Q. Potter. Address by Rev. Hummel, and song by Pleasant Dale school, and music by Vina Stoddard, and address by Rev. Dedrick.

Every one present expressed themselves well pleased. It was a complete success. D. S. HELVERN.

On motion it was agreed that the state central committeeman see to appointing one county cen. com., in the several precincts not represented at present. On motion J. M. Stoddard of Pleasant Dale alliance, was appointed state central committeeman. On motion adjourned to meet at the call of the president and secretary of the county alliance. D. S. HELVERN, Secretary.

POTATOES.—The importance of this crop demands more attention to ascertain what kinds have been most successful in Nebraska. To awaken an interest in improved potato culture the Land Department of the Union Pacific Railway propose to have a special potato show in connection with their display of grain and fruit at the coming State Fair.

Statements of the mode of cultivation, yield, etc. from the growers of the most approved kinds as decided by a competent committee, will be published. Potatoes will also be shown in comparison from Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. Sapmles of one peck of each kind with the name of the variety, name of grower and postoffice address are solicited from all parts of the state, delivered at any express office by Sept. 6th, and addressed to L. BURNHAM Land Commissioner U. P. R. R. Omaha Neb.
