Proclamation

Whereas, a joint resolution was adopted by the Legislature of Nebraska at the sixteenth session thereof, and approved Febuary 26, 1881, proposing an amendment to section one(1), article seven (7), of the Constitution of said State, and that said section as amended shall read as follows, to-wit:

"Sec. 1. Every person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in this state six months, and in the county, precinct or ward for the term provided by law, shall be an elector:

First. Citizens of the United States'
Second, Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens conformably to the laws of the United states on the subject of naturalization, at least thirty days prior to an election."

Therefore, I, Albinus Nance Governor of the State of Nebraska, do hereby give notice in accordance with section one (1), article fifteen (15), of the Constitution and the provisions of an act entitled "an Act to provide the manner of proposing amendments to the Constitution and submiting the same to the electors of this State," approved Feb. 13, 1877, that said proposed amendment will be submitted to the qualified voters of this State for ratification or rejection at the general election to be held on the 7th day of November, 1882.

In Witness Whereof, I hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State. Done at Lincoln this 10 day of July, A. D., 1882, the sixteenth of the state and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and seventh.

GREAT SEAL.

(Signed) ALBINUS NANCE,
Attest: (Signed) Govenor
S. J. Alexander,
Secretary of State
By E. P. Roggen, Deputy.

RULES FOR TEACHERS.

1. It shall be the duty of all teachers employed in school to note carefully all rules and regulations that may be, from time to time, adopted for the good of the school, and to faithfully co-operate with the principal and board of education in securing their observance.

2. To take a deep and personal interest in everything that pertains to the advancement and success, not only of their own, but of all departments of the school, and to enter heartily into every plan and work designed to elevate the teacher and the character of the instruction imparted in the school room.

3. To become familiar with all improved methods of teaching and governing; and, for this purpose, to read with care such books as have been written upon the subject by practical educators.

4. To attend faithfully all meetings of teachers that may be appointed by the principal,

5. To engage in no occupation that shall in the least intefere with the duties of the profession, to make proper preparation each day for the work of the school room, and to study the disposition, habits and circumstances of each pupil in order to adapt both instruction and discipline rightly to every case.

6. To be at the school room at least twenty minutes before the opening of the session, both morning and afternoon, to exercise a watchful supervisal watchfulness over the conduct and habits of pupils in the school room or the play ground, and to coming to and going from school; also to take all practicable measures to prevent pupils entering the school premises before the hour of opening the rooms, and remaining on the premises after the close of the school.

7. To keep a careful record of all matters of prescribed by law, and of such addional matters as may be required by the regulations of the school and to report the same promptly at the proper time.

8. To cultivate habits of neatness and order, on the part of the pupils, allowing no waste paper or litter of any kind to be left in the school rooms or halls, nor scraps of paper on nor around the seats.

9. To give personal attention to properly ventilating and rgeulating the temperature of the rooms, and to the physical comfort and well-being of all members of the department.

10. To advise with the principal in all cases when it is thought necessary to promote a pupil, to exercise severe or difficult discipline, or in all cases of perplexity that may arise, of whatever form or nature, connected with the duties of the school.

11. To immediately notify the principal whenever from any cause it becomes necessary to be absent from school and of the probable length of such absence.

12. The foregoing rules shall be binding upon all teachers connected with the school, and a faithful observance of them shall form one of the prihcipal conditions vpon which depends the circumstance of any teacher in his position.

RULES FOR PUPILS.

1. All pupils are required to be punctual and regular in their attendance, kind and respectful to teachers, and to each other, and at all times refrain from the use of any vulgar, profane or improper language, or to indulge in any conduct that could iu any way be construed as indecent or improper in the most refined society.

2. All members of the school must be earnest and faithful in their studies patien- and forbearing iu all intercourse with those around them; and at all times and in all places must they endeavor to build up for themselves characters that shall challenge the respect of teachers, their fellow pupils, and the community.

3. No pupil shall throw stones, snow balls, or other missiles on or around the school grounds, nor indulge in any noisy or boisterous sports that shall, in the least, interfere with the comfort or convenience of any member of the school, or passers by; nor shall any pupil be permitted to bring any weapons or fire-arms upon the premises; nor attempt to intefere with the rights and privileges of any other pupil or individual on or around the premises, nor indulge in any quarrel or attempt to avenge any wrong, but always report any abuse to the principal or to their teacher.

4. No pupil shall cut, scratch, mark or otherwise deface any portion of the school property, but shall observe the strictest rules of decency in and about all parts of the premises. And any one who may be guilty of such acts of indecency shall forfeit all right to the privileges of the school, and any pupil who indulges in the use of tobacco about the premises shall be suspended until the habit is given up.

5. Pupils must enter such department and pursue such studies as may be assigned them by the principal, and procure the necessary text books for such studies.

6. Pupils, on entering the buliding must deposit their hats, caps and other extra clothing in the proper place then go immediately and quietly to their respective rooms for study, never remaining in the halls for conversation.

7. Pupils must consider the school as a place for study and mental discipline—hence, as soon as they reach their rooms the work of study must begin, nor must pupils visit any room not their own without permission and for good cause shown.

8. Pupils shall not be allowed to collect upon or around the premises for any sports before the first bell rings. And all pupils must leave the grounds as soon as dismissed at the close of each session, unless by special permission allowed to remain.

9. No pupil shall be allowed to remain in the building at noon unless it may be an absolute necessity, explained to the principal, who shall then use his own discretion in the matter; assigning the room to be occupied until the return of the teacher.

10. When any pupil finds it necessary to leave school at any time, notice must be given to the teacher in order that no injustice may be done in recording the absence.

11. Pupils, who absent themselves for no good reason, shall forfeit any right to a seat, if absent six half-days in four consecutive weeks, and if any pupil shall leave the school twice without permission, then his seat shall be considered vacant.

12. No pupil shall be allowed to bring to the school any books' pamphlets or other reading matter, not in the line of school room studies, unless by special permission of the teacher; and in case such books are found in possession of any pupil they shall be deemed forfeited, and must be given into the hands of the teacher.

13. The foregoing, of any additional rules that may be made from time to time, must be strictly and cheerfully obeyed, or the privileges of the school refused to any delinquent.

We copy this week a couple of the closing paragraph of Dr. T. De Witt Talmage's sermon entitled "Christianity as a Delusion." The whole sermon is in our office for the reading of such as are desirous:

Oh! my Lord, my God, what a delusion, what a glorious delusion, Submerge me with it; fill my eyes and ears with it; put it under my dying head for a pillow—this delusion—spread it over me for a canopy; put it underneath me for an outspread wing; roll it over me in ocean surges ten thousand fathoms deep. Oh if infidelity, and if atheism, and if annihilation are a reality, and the Christian religion a delusion, give me the delusion. The overwhelming conclusion of every man and woman in the house is that Christianity, producing such grand results, cannot be a delusion, a lie a cheat, a rebuke, an hallucination; cannot launch such a glory of the center
