—It appears that under the new school law women who own property and have lived in the precint forty days are permitted to vote for school directors. Some lawyers claim, however, that under the constitution of Nebraska women are not allowed to vote, and that therefore the new school law is unconstitutional.

—Will Killingsworth, who has been in the employ of R. G. Dun & Co. for the past three years, as chief clerk, left for St. Louis yesterday where he has accepted a more lucrative position with the wholesale dry-goods house of Rice, Stix & Co. The gentleman has many friends in this city.

—The present thaw is making sad havoc with the unfinished grade on upper Farnham street. Although a small culvert has been put in near 22d street, it is entirely inadequate to carry off all the water which comes off the hillsides. There is a universal desire among property holders in that vicinity to have the sewer extended up that far, and it seems to be only a matter of little time until such course will have to be taken.

The Booming Platte.

Information has been received at B. & M. headquarters regarding the condition of the Platte which leads to the belief that their bridge south of Kearney will go out this afternoon, if it has not already done so.

It is learned also that a gorge has formed at the mouth of the Loup river, and if it is not relieved at once it is feared that the Platte will form a new channel about three miles west of its present junction with the Loup, and will occupy a new bed for a distance of many miles.

EVE OF THE BREAK-UP.

Appearance of the River—Securing the "Undine"—A Riverman's Opinion.

At the Smelting Works—Gloomy Prediction Regarding Missouri Bridges.

The sun has already made himself felt on the ice hereabouts, not so much, as yet, on the river ice as in the streets, which are contributing their rivulets to swell the tide in the grand receiver. By the time the snow and ice in the city returns to its original liquid form, the contribution to the Missouri from these sources will not be insignificant.

A stroll along shore to-day gave but little proof of the great swell farther up stream. The ice lining the shore is rapidly breaking up and quite a stream rushes by, tossing great cakes of ice on its surface, like shavings on a brook. This ice is principally what has been for weeks heaved up about air holes and is by no means of the great thickness of that amid stream. The latter may be seen from the shore forming a wall of ice on the other side of the, as yet, narrow open stream. This stream stops about opposite the ferryboat "Undine," which has been ice bound all winter, six hundred feet or so north of the bridge.

THE "UNDINE."

The Undine was yesterday firmly secured by means of large anchors imbedded near the railroad track, to which three inch hawsers reached from the Undine. Conversing with an old river hand in charge of the boat, on the prospective break up in the river, he said:

"I hardly think we'll have the general break up for a week yet, though if the weather continues like to-day it may come within the next three or four days. The ice in the river is thicker than ever before, and it will take a good little spell of heat to weaken it. The rise altogether so far can't amount to more than five feet, but what it will be, of course, is a matter of mere speculation. The river will rise higher than it has in many years there is no doubt, and we have got to look out for some damage by the flood."

THE SMELTING WORKS.

The wall in front of the smelting works is yet ten or twelve feet above the surface of the river, and there is little fear expressed about the works in respect to the flood. The government rip-rap, however, is thought to be entirely inadequate for the coming emergency.

A GLOOMY PREDICTION.

Boss Stout, who is in Omaha, and who is a practical bridge builder, makes the gloomy prediction that with the present state of the river the bridges at several points along the Missouri must go out.

FARTHER UP STREAM.

A two foot rise was announced at Vermillion Tuesday.

At Yankton there was a rise of thirty inches Tuesday night. This seems to be from the Yellowstone, as the previous one was from the Cheyenne.

Teams continued to cross the ice at Sioux City until Tuesday afternoon. Two broke through into the three foot water beneath, but were extricated without loss.

The following dispatches regarding the condition of the river from The Sioux City Journal:

YANKTON, D. T., March 22.—The ice is even with the top of the bank on the other side of the river. The mail carrier has just crossed from the Nebraska side. He has marks out and says that the river has raised all of ten feet since it first started. Of this rise four or five feet is since yesterday morning. The weather is fine, clear, calm and warm.

YANKTON, D. T., March 22—8:30 p. m.—The river has been raising steadily all day, but cannot give the exact amount of the rise. The people on the Nebraska side are keeping watchers out to-night expecting to have to take to the hill.

BISMARCK, D. T., March 22.—Clear and warm with fresh northwest wind. River rising some. It is commencing to break at Standing Rock. No danger yet. River remains the same at Pierre. Weather partly cloudy, moderate and calm.

FORT SULLY, D. T., March 22.—The weather is very warm with a gentle wind blowing from the southwest and clear. Water rising slowly up to high-water mark. The ice is broken loose from the banks, but still remains on top and firm. The same condition reported above.

FORT RANDALL, D. T., March 22—8:35 p. m.—The river is bank full and rising slowly. The weather is clear, warm and pleasant.

THE STATE FAIR.

Business Meetings of the Board of Managers.

Important Fish Exhibit—Two Chariot Races.

Wednesday the board of managers of the state board of agriculture met at the Withnell house to transact business connected with the next Nebraska state fair. The following members were present: J. C. McBride, of Lincoln, secretary; Judge Kinney, of Nebraska City; Charles Walker, of Bloomington; Gov. Furnas, of Brownville; Hon. A. D. Williams, of Hastings; and Chris. Hartman, of Omaha.

Arrangements were completed with A. McDonald and wife, of Chicago, to give a chariot race on each day of the fair.

Some few changes were made in the premium list.

The board decided that horses in the roadster class must be shown to wagon, and turf horses will be excluded.

The fish commission, represented by Commissioners Livigstone and Kaley, laid before the board their views on the subject of an exhibition of fish and the process of hatching. The board appropriated $300 to pay the expenses of the exhibition at the State fair. This will be one of the most attractive features of the fair, and will embrace forty or fifty aquariums, containing different varieties of the fish being introduced by the commission, as well as the native fish.

YETERDAY MORNING'S MEETING.

The board met again yesterday for a brief session.

It was decided to offer a premium of $25.00 for the best oil painting, 20 by 30 inches, enclosed in gilt frame, the work of a native born Nebraska girl, of not over eighteen years of age.

The subject of printing was brought up, but its consideration postponed to the next meeting.

A brief discussion took place on a proposition which is pending to offer a trotting premium of $100, to be competed for by roadsters, to be driven to wagon by their owners, and excluding all track horses. Judge Kinney, of Nebraska City, was the principal champion of this movement. Its consideration was also postponed to the next meeting.

The board adjourned to meet on the call of the president. It is expected the next meeting will be held in a month or six weeks.

THE FETTERED DUKE.

The Runaways Register at Kansas City as Man and Wife.

The Kid Napper's Achievements Down the River.

The cloud which has hung over the later facts in the Stratton-Duke elopement has been removed at last by the receipt of Kansas City papers with later facts in the affair. The Evening Star of Tuesday has the following:

"The elopement of Charlie Duke with his school teacher, Miss Ella Stratton, or rather the elopement of Miss Stratton with Duke, which is just at present turning Omaha society upside down, has become of local importance inasmuch as the couple stopped here in their flight, and in addition to this Miss Stratton once moved and had her being here.

THE ELOPING COUPLE

arrived at the Tremont house Thursday last about eight o'clock in the evening and departed for Omaha the next morning on the 9:42 train. Miss Stratton is well known in Kansas City, having been an assistant in the Morse school. She lived here some two years ago and boarded in the May street house, and later on Sixth street while Capt. Hazley was manager. Miss Stratton came here from Niles, Mich., and while here held a good position in society, though "the boys" all agreed that her most prominent failing was a violent desire to marry.

"An Evening Star reporter found a gentleman who knew her well and said he was never so surprised as when he read

THE ACCOUNT OF THE ELOPEMENT.

While here she visited him and sought his advice, but he very peremptorily told her she had committed an error which neither advice nor council would cure, and refused to lend his assistance in any form. The purpose of the couple was to remain here some few days, but the cool reception they met on every hand hastened their return.

"Many in this city will remember a flashing blonde, who ever dressed in the latest fashion, and who could count her admirers within the precincts of Quality Hill.

"Many young men will revive a memory of hours passed with the

and who knows but some could a tale unfold of checked ambition and unrequited love that made purpose a myth and pride a target. Truth is stranger than fiction, and if any have memories pleasant or otherwise, perhaps consolation can be derived from the escapade. It is a fact that several young lawyers and a stockman assaulted her affections while she remained here, but all in vain. She was a perfect Diana when Cupid played his last trump and won. The names on the Tremont register were Charles S Duke and wife, and as the couple returned to Omaha, the probabilities are that they were quietly married while here."

The parties did not arrive in Omaha and probably will not. They are said to be in Missouri.

Ticket Thieves.

A couple of English miners arrived in Omaha yesterday from Belleville, Ill., who told a pitiful story of ill luck. They purchased emigrant tickets to Reno, Nevada, via St. Louis, and while in their train at the Union depot in the latter city a man slipped up to one of them and called out "tickets." The ticket was relinquished to the supposed conductor and he disappeared. The victim reached Omaha all right, but was penniless and unable to continue his journey further without help.

HOME MANUFATURES.

Important Improvements in the Nail Works—The Omaha Foundry.

The Nail Works have just closed a contract with the Omaha Foundry and Machine company for a large addition to their plans. This improvement will enable the Nail company to reduce the cost of production very materially. The iron castings for their work are the largest ever run by any establishment in the west, several pieces weighing over four tons each. Heretofore the Nail company have been compelled to go to Pittsburgh for these castings, but the facilities of the Omaha Foundry enable them to produce the same work here at a less cost to the Nail company. This work is under charge of Mr. A. R. Davies, superintendent of the Omaha foundry, one of the most ingenious and skillful mechanical engineers in the west. The "Omaha engine" and "Omaha power hoist," manufactured by the same company, were designed also by Mr. Davies. This company, in addition to the large amount of architectural iron work made by them, are turning out from eight to ten of their engines and hoists a month for the mining trade in Colorado and Montana.

When our citizens can supply themselves at a home manufactory with iron store fronts, steam engines, hand and power hoists, etc., they should never send their money to the east. Nine-tenths of the money paid out by these iron works finds its way back to Omaha business men. Patronize your town and your town will patronize you.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Northwestern morning train arrived six hours late to-day, and as the U. P. through express waited to make connection, it did not leave until a late hour in the afternoon. The C., B. & Q. and Rock Island arrived on time this morning.

The first train will pass over the temporary U. P. track west of Fremont some time to-night, and passenger and freight trains will resume their accustomed course over the main line to-morrow.

Trains on the St. Paul and Omaha road now run through to Oakland and return, and expect to break the way to Sioux City within the week.

The Sioux City and St. Paul road has abandoned its ice bridge across the Missouri at Blair and runs its trains via Omaha until the river is clear.

Breaking Railroad Rules.

Judge Doane, Hon. B. E. B. Kennedy, Mayor Chase, Col. Smythe, and some other legal lights, boarded a train at the U. P. depot Monday to proceed to Papillion, where Judge Savage is holding court. It may be imagined that the patience of these gentlemen was about exhausted, as hour after hour dragged along, and at 2 o'clock the train had not left. None of the gentlemen dared to go far away, for fear the train would depart during their absence, and the only way in which the monotony was broken was when a member of the party occasionally stepped to the depot to "see a friend." The train finally left at 3:30, and the incensed legal gentleman were becoming somewhat mollified, when, about three miles out, the trains met the "stub" train from Fremont. Mr. H. T. Clark, of Bellevue, discovered on the rear platform of the incoming train, the placid countenance of Judge Savage, and exploded a verbal bombshell among his companions by announcing the fact There was "hurrying in hot haste." One gentleman pulled the bell, while Mayor Chase, rushing to the rear platform, brandished a newspaper at the departing train, in the hope that he could stop the train. He succeeded finally in attracting attention, and at last the other train came to a stop, and the discomfited Omahas walked to it, with the exception of one or two who were in the smoking car, and who did not know the full history of their discomfiture until they reached Omaha Wednesday.

It was found that Judge Savage had adjourned court to April 30th, and the little episode furnished a subject for many jokes until the party reached Omaha.

Platte River Ranches.

W. C. B. Allen and County Commissioner Corliss left for the west Thursday to look after their stock on the Platte. It is understood that the timbers of a ruined bridge from some point above have combined with the ice to form a gorge at Brady Island, by which considerable damage has been done, some hay destroyed and some live stock t tened.

THE COMING SAENGERFEST

The Temporary Building to be Erected at Rogers' Park—Officers Elected.

A meeting of the executive committee for the Missouri Valley Saengerfest, (which is composed of seven members each from the Concordia and Maennerchor societies of this city), was held on Wednesday evening at Tivoli hall. The following officers were elected:

Fest President—Max Meyer.

Vice Presidents—C. S. Chase, H. Kountze, Fred. Drexel, S. R. Johnson, C J. Karbach, B. Tzschuck, Frank Murphy, Christ. Hartman, John Creighton, Henry Bolln, J. I. Fruehauf, Henry Eicke.

Henry Voss has been selected to draw the plans for the temporary building in which the Saengerfest will be held. They contemplate a building 80 by 132 feet in dimensions which will be erected in Rogers Park on Sixth street, east of Herman Kountze's residence. This park comprises twenty acres and is in every way fitted for this event.

It was decided to invite the Harmonic Society, the Glee Club, and the Lyran Singing society to participate in the affairs.

Some other matters were discussed, which cannot at present be made public. It is certain, however, that the fest will have a large attendance from all parts of the west, and will be unless some unforeseen accident occurs, the most successful ever held by the association.

This season's importation has arrived and is now open. It consists of a Splendid line of French Dress goods, Silks, Ribbons, Laces, Gloves and Hosiery. We are also showing a very choice line of Buttons and some elegant Novelties in Cloaks, Ulsters and Walking Jackets. Remember the first selection of these goods is always the best, and many of our styles we cannot duplicate.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Henry Dahle left for the east Wednesday.

Hon. A. Poland, of The Glenwood (Ia.) Journal, called at this office yesterday.

Dr. S. S. Livingstone, of Plattsmouth, is in the city.

Major O'Bryan, general agent of the St. Paul line, has returned from a trip to Kentucky.

Mr. A. Cruickshank has returned from New York, where he has been making selections of goods.

United States Marshal Bierbower has returned from Washington and New York.

Vic. Bierbower, Esq., the Sidneylawyer, is in the city.

C. A. Whittier, traveling agent of the Hanibal & St. Joe railroad, is in the city.

Col. T. H. Stanton, U. S. A., chief paymaster of the Department of the Platte, left for the east yester afternoon.

D. W. Hitchcock, Esq., general Australian agent of Pacific railroads, left for the west to-day, and will take the steamer at San Francisco for his new field of labor April 9th. He will make his headquarters at Sydney.

Jas. P. Dike, of the firm of Dike & Motter, of Skidmore, Mo., is stopping in the city on his way from the east, the guest of Mr. Annin.

Haverly's Strategists.

Haverly's new comedy company appeared at the Academy of Music Wednesday to a good house in their new comedy of "The Strategists," and the least that can be said is that the performance took the house by storm. Naturally the comedy is in itself with very little plot, but it abounds in comical situations, and is lively and sparkling, without a single dull line. Mr. J. B. Polk, who took the principal part, is one of the most pleasing and versatile comedians who have visited Omaha, and of the remainder of the large company it can be truthfully said that there is not a poor actor in the crowd. A stronger comedy company or better comedy of its class have not been seen in Omaha.

The company appears again this evening.
