Aerial Bicycle Riding.

One of the most awe inspiring feats of daring ever attempted in or out of the circus ring, is the aerial bicycle ride of Millie Adelaide d'Attillie and Messrs. Murtz and Livingstone. They have been aptly described as the "wild and wierd navigators of the air, setting at defiance all laws of gravitation, and accomplishing the most miraculous mid-air equitation ventures ever attempted by man or woman." It is something, indeed, to see these intrepid performers traversing a single wire on a bicycle at a dizzy and dangerous height from the ground, and risking life and limb in the performance of feats that look like a reckless disregard of the commonest demands of self-preservation. Truly, one shudders at the recollection of it, and none will fail to see it on Friday, Aug. 17th.

THE COAST CRUSADERS.

The Pilgrimage of Plumed Knights to The Pacific.

A Splendid Sight at the Union Pacific Depot Yesterday—A Royal Trip—Templar Notes.

For the past few days almost every train that rolled out of the Union Pacific railway depot has carried it quota of Knights Templar, on their way to San Francisco, to participate in the Triennial conclave.

The Rock Island road yesterday brought in a special train bearing the delegation from Raper Commandery No. 1, of Indianapolis, Ind., whose drill corps is now considered the best in the United States, having taken the second prize at the Triennial conclave at Cleveland in 1877, and the first prize at Chicago in 1880.

THE DRILL CORPS

and prominent officers of the commandery are as follows:

Eminent Sir Joseph W. Smith, Commander.
Col. Nicholas R. Ruckle, Captain General.
William H. Smythe, Recorder.

Adams, Henry C.	Meyer, Chas. F.
Brink, Chris.	McKee, Will J.
Browning, Robert L.	Morse, Thomas J.
Brown, Chaimers.	McCarer, C. H.
Bigelow, Jas. K.	Nicholson, David.
Brush, John T.	Pfafflin, Theo.
Crane, S. D.	Reynolds, C. H.
DeVay, William O.	Smith, Jacob W.
DePuy, R. L.	Sherwood, Joseph W.
Dryer, James W.	Scarlet, R. L.
Fowler, Harry.	Schmidt, August.
Gordon, Robert.	Van Tilburgh, J. B.
Gail, Albert,	Woollen, F. P.
Griffith, Geo. W.	Williams, Ed. L.
Holmes, H. F.	Woodward, V. W.
Kerwood, W. R.	Weinberger, Herman.
Lowe, Richrd H.	Webb, Ira C.
McGaffey, H. H.	Morrison, Sam L.

THEIR GUESTS.

The party was also accompanied by Sir George W. Pixley and wife, of Ft. Wayne Commandery No. 4: Joseph L. Smith, of Richmond Commandery No. 8, and the following ladies: Mrs. Siella B. Adams, Mrs. Julia Brink, Mrs. Agnes V. DeVay, Mrs. Kizzie Fowler, Mrs. Louisa Gail, Mrs. Sue A. Holmes, Mrs. Florence A. Kerwood, Mrs. T. J. Morse, Mrs. M. B. Nicholson, Mrs. Ellen M. Pfafflin, Miss Sadie E. Pfafflin, Mrs. N. R. Ruckle, Mrs. Anna M. Smith, Mrs. Clara B. Woollen, Mrs. Jessie E. Williams, Mrs. Fannie Woodward, Mrs. Anna Weinberger.

THE SPECIAL TRAIN.

The party occupied a special train, which will take them all the way from Indianapolis to San Francisco and return, and which consists of the Pullmnn cars Hannibal and Sidney, a dining car, a day coach and one baggage car. The dining car was fitted up especially for their use, and has eight broad tables in one end, while the other half is entirely occupied by the culinary apparatus, having a fine range, pantries, and every appliance for getting up a square meal. This compartment is in charge of the head cook from the leading hotel of the Hoosier capital. The dining room is covered with linoleum and matting and a huge banner of the commandery, with other significent ornaments, adorns the interior. Banners running the entire length cover the outer sides of each car, inscribed with the name of the commander and bearing the cross and crown, artistically painted.

THE TRIP.

The party left Indianapolis Saturday at 11 o'clock via the Kankakee and Seneca Short Line, and at the latter point took the Rock Island road, being in charge of Mr. John Martin, general agent of the Kankakee route, who makes the trip through with them. The members were each presented on starting with a beautiful souvenir containing in elegantly bound and beautifully colored card-board backs a time schedule for the special train, presented by the

"A MAN"

of the Rock Island route, to which were added a few words as to the history and aims of the order, which linds the present with the days when the chivalry of Europe, under the banner of the Cross, met and defeated the Saracens upon the holy and historic fields of Palestine.

The preface to the souvenir states that when, three years ago, the Triennial conclave met in Chicago "A Man" said:

"It is an easy matter to chronicle the bare facts as to the origin and growth of the order. It is not so easy a task to chronicle all the good it has accomplished; to follow its moral effect upon the civilization and conscience of mankind since 1118, when it was organized upon the blood-stained fields of Palestine, by Hugh de Paynes and Godfrey de St. Aldemar. Like every institution ever devised for the amelioration of suffering mankind; as with every organization that has become strong in numbers, and which seeks to lift up the oppressed and throw the fullligh of knowledge upon the darkened intellect of man; which seeks the promulgation of enlightened and liberal thought, and teaches patriotism and the brotherhood of all the sons of Adam, it has, at times, been persecuted by popes and by kings, and its brethren condemned to imprisonment and the stake."

Still the order has grown in numbers and influence, until we find in its ranks the profoundest thinkers, the most enlightened statesmen, and best of all, the highest type of our republican citizens. Its principles and precepts give dignity to manhood and help to make us all better brothers. As water will find its highest level, so truth rises to its highest plane in the teachings of the order, fitting its brotherhood for the best performance of their duties as husbands, fathers and citizens.

When thousands of members of such a distinguished order assemble to make new acquaintance, revive old associations and memories, good must come to the order and to the country from such meeting.

The general passenger departments of the routes between the Hoosier capital and the Missouri river, wish you Godspeed going and returning, and will, in so far as they can, make you comfortable and happy."

A chronological table of the Grand Masters of the order from 1118 A. D. to 1883 follows, and then a list and brief description of the principal cities on the route is given. Omaha is down as "the commercial city of Nebraska and a large portion of the great plains region; has the largest silver smelting and refining works in the United States."

IN THE GATE CITY.

The knights arrived in this city about 11 o'clock, and their train was held so as to go out as the first section of No. 3. The knights all alighted from the train and at once proceeded to go through their regular drill, to keep in practice for the contest upon which they will shortly enter. Using the broad platform for a parade ground, they went through their various evolutions, first by word of command and then by trumpet calls. It was a magnificent sight, and those who were so fortunate as to be present had a rare treat. The men were an exceptionally fine looking body and with their uniforms, bright swords, and elegant accoutrements generally presented a fine appearance and won the admiration of all.

A SAD EVENT.

While the men were at drill, Colonel Ruckle was handed a telegram from home, announcing the death of his daughter, and recalling him at once to Indianapolis. He of course stopped at once on his western trip and took the afternoon train for home. He promised his men, however, to follow them out and endeavor to be present at the contest. The drill corps, proper, will include twenty-four men, but there are thirty members, the rest being ready to fill the places of any who might be unable to take part. The tactics are those of the state, very nearly Upton's.

MONEY NO OBJECT.

A neat little fortune is expended on this trip. The amount of money paid down in fares alone at the start was $5,400, and it is calculated that the trip will cost $10,000, which amount is appropriated out of the fund of the drill corps, so that the trip cost the individual members nothing but what they choose to spend.

The special train pulled out of the depot at 12:05 p. m., for Denver. There an excursion to the principal points of interest has been tendered the Knights, and after two or three days in Colorado, they go to Salt Lake for a day or two and then to San Francisco. They expect to return by the southern route.

UP FROM THE SOUTH.

The gathering of the Knights at Jerusalem years ago was not attended with more enthusiasm than is the hegira from the east to San Francisco this summer.

Another large delegation went out on a special train at noon to-day, being the representatives of De Molay commandery, No. 12, of Louisville, Ky. These Knights left Louisville Thursday, going to Chicago via the J., M. & I. railroad, and thence to Omaha over the Milwaukee line. They travelled all the way in a special Pullman car, bearing on its sides a finely executed inscription as follows: "De Molay Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, Louisville, Kentucky. The cross and crown decorated one end of the banner and the Greek cross the other. They have their own Pullman conductor, Mr. Geo. B. Keefe and porter, Al. Henderson, who go all the way through to San Francisco. They stopped at Denver over Sunday, and then proceed to Salt Lake City, where another day's stop will be made and San Francisco reached on Thursday.

The party was made up of the following sir knights and ladies:

Eminent Sir I. Kelley, commander; Sirs P. T. Allin, W. H. Meffert, H. W. Middleton, Wm. Allen, J. A. Stratton, H. P. Michell, J. Meffert, J. Schmidt, J. Hogan, E. C. Pearson, H. Beyrner, Fred Losey, T. D. Jefferson, L. Eckstenkenher, Alfred Clark, Tom Boden, C. Graham, J. Finger, A. J. Heightley, I. Kelley, J. W. Jordon, Wm. Moses, jr., A. A. Chicheriny jr., W. E. Ryan, C. C. Vogt, H. B. Grant, Wm. Ryan Sr., T. Stern, C. Daniels, Frank Henry, R. S. Moses, Quarter master Gen'l. Mrs. J. A. Stratton, Miss O. Scheffor, Miss M. Scheffor, Miss J. Scheffor, all under the command of Col. Geo. W. Northup.

The Pullman coach was attached to a special train consisting of four coaches and two baggage cars and went out as the first section of No. 3.

MESSENGER SERVICE.

The American District Telegraph Company Begin to Place Instruments.

About one hundred automatic signaling instruments of the American district telegraph company arrived Friday and Charles E. Bennett, the Omaha superintendent, commences the work of placing them at once. The company has already nearly three hundred subscribers in Omaha and fifteen messenger boys In Denver, where it has been in successful operation for some time, there are seventeen hundred subscribers and one hundred and fifty messenger boys.

The little signal boxes are very simple. To signal for a messenger a crank is turned a certain distance. This winds a spring and when the finger is removed the crank comes back turning a cogged wheel. If the number of the instrument is 26, there will be two cogs, a space, and then six cogs. A steel spring falls into these cogs as they revolve, opening and closing the circuit. By the wires to the central office this is communicated to a machine like a stock indicator that ticks off the number on a sheet of paper.

The number once sounded means that a messenger is wanted. By pushing the crank around further to the left, the number is sounded twice, which informs the office that a policeman is wanted. Three repetitions indicate a fire, and four is a special signal for a carriage or a doctor. As soon as the signal is turned in a messenger takes with him a card, No. 26, from a case of little boxes, which shows where the subscriber is. On this is marked the hour, the time of service, the cost and the destination. This serves as a guide and a check. The system is simple and systematic.

THE TALE OF A COW.

A Jury Decides that Svacina is Not Guilty.

The case of the cow that hooked some children in Bohemian town, came up lately in Judge Powell's court. The cow was taken in pound by the father of one of the children, Mr. Svacina, upon the advice of a police officer, and the judge himself. The intention was to prosecute the owner for letting a vicious animal run loose, but on examination of the ordinance nothing relative to this was found excepting the estray law. The animal was replevined by the owner, and the turning point became whether Mr. Svacina should pay the costs. The prosecution, in showing the detention of the animal, endeavored to prove that it was stolen. The judge ruled this out of order. The jury decided, upon the facts, that Mr. Svacina was not guilty.

A MOSCOW MERCHANT.

A Distinguished Russian on His Travels.

His Influence in Introducing American Manufactures Abroad.

J. Block, of Moscow, Russia; Geo. W. Munger, of laundry fame; Chas. H. Morse, of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Chicago, and W. G. Davis, General Agent of the Mystic Rubber Co., of Boston, composed a quartette of pleasure seekers who were sampling of all the luxuries that came in their way, and stopped at the Millard yesterday long enough to partake of a few of its good things, which were pronounced superior to anything in the hotel line they had found either in St. Paul or Minneapolis. After a drive through our muddy streets, they took the train for Denver and the Pacific coast.

Mr. Block is a prominent and influential business man at Moscow. He was formerly connected with the government in an important and responsible position and stands high in its favor to-day. He represents the three firms named above at this ancient city, and they make their shipments to him direct. It is not an easy matter to import American manufactures there, any more than it is to import American pork into Germany, but Mr. Block's influence has enabled these firms to deal with him without trouble, and the Fairbanks company ship over three millions of dollars worth a year, consigned to his address.

The Mystic Rubber company also does an immense business in Russia as well as all over the United States, and hence the gentlemen now making a tour of the country with their visitors are peculiarly interested in giving him a favorable impression of the country which is more closely united in friendship to the czar than any other on earth, and which owes no small debt to it for being still the Union instead of being divided into the North and South by the war of the rebellion.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

A Young Man Rolled Out by a Cask of Prunes.

A very serious accident, and one which, for a wonder, did not terminate fatally at the time, occurred on Saturday about noon at the wholesale grocery house of Steele, Johnson & Co.

A son of George W. Lacey, Thomas, who is employed by the firm as driver of a delivery wagon, was the unfortunate victim. It appears that while some of the men employed about the house were unloading several casks of prunes from a truck, each weighing about 1,800 pounds, Thomas Lacey and another boy were sparring or wrestling, boy fashion, on the sidewalk, right in the path of the casks on their way from the truck, and not observing the threatened danger, was knorked down and run over by one of the ponderous parcels, it going over his body from feet to breast. Drs. Mercer and Jensen were immediately called in, and rendered such medical aid as was necessary. The boy was then removed to his parents' home.

Owing to internal injuries received, which had not sufficiently developed at this writing to base an opinion as to whether he was or is seriously hurt, it cannot be predicted what the result will be. Time will develop the extent and nature of the internal bruises. It was certainly a miraculous escape from instant death.
