WEDNESDAY WRINKLES.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hines returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Peter Bussey has been ill for the past two weeks.

Mrs. George Spear and daughter, Donna, are expected home Thursday from a three months' visit in California.

H. F. Fleharty, who is to speak at the Auditorium tonight in the cause of Bryan and the state Democratic ticket, arrived in Norfolk at 11 o'clock over the Union Pacific.

W. J. Stadelman and Jack Larkin were hunting yesterday.

Miss Bertha Pilger returned to Stanton yesterday after a visit at home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Sessions, who have spent the fall at Flathead lake in Montana, are expected to arrive home here Saturday.

Mrs. Mayme Hedrick Cleaver of Neligh, newly elected grand chief of Honor of the Degree of Honor lodge in Nebraska, was in Norfolk yesterday afternoon.

Among the day's out of town visitors in Norfolk were: L. A. Pullman, Pierce; J. M. Simpson and C. J. Phillips, Fremont; George Brissler, Pender; Frank Holman, Plainview; D. A. Harrington and W. Freeman, Butte.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Beitz, a son.

There will be no meeting of the Wednesday club this week.

Mrs. B. W. Barrett has entirely recovered from a recent illness.

Miss Metta Wilde has resigned her position in the office of Smith Brothers.

Harry Lodor is recovering from the effects of a bad fall, his broken arm showing signs of becoming knitted again.

Miss Etta Durland has consented to act as secretary of the Madison county sunday school association. Miss Lena Mills is the new district secretary of this district.

The big initiation of the Norfolk Eagles, planned for this fall, has not been forgotten but will be held sometime in November. The local lodge has quite a list of candidates ready and will extend invitations to a number of prominent Eagles from away.

Miss Mino McNeely is now remittance clerk at the Nebraska National bank, having resigned as bookkeeper in the office of the Nebraska Telephone company. The latter position has been taken by Miss Edith Evans, who in turn is succeeded by Miss Margaret Austin as collector for the company.

Business is good in Norfolk at this time. The restaurant men are possibly as good judges as any others as to just what the city is drawing from way and they unite in saying that business is surprisingly good. "I thought this Tripp rush would end like a Fourth of July celebration when a lull in business always comes," said Harry Lodor today. "But business on the street is very brisk."

With the arrival of another pickle drop the Norfolk pickle factory will be a flourishing institution. This is the statement by men who are financially interested in the concern. The pickle factory until next summer will be kept in readiness for next year's crop, the failure of the pickle crop in this vicinity having made it impossible to operate the factory to any extent this winter. The pickle factory last year, it is said, showed that it had something of a future.

County Chairman J. F. Flynn returned from the meeting of the Democratic committee at Battle Creek suffering from a severe cold, which is just now preventing him from fully appreciating the excitement and delights of the closing days of the campaign. Mr. Flynn states that the attendance at the Battle Creek meeting was good and that the principal business transacted was to appoint a sub-committee to arrange for getting out the Democratic vote on next Tuesday.

Theatergoers are counseled to secure their seat reservations early for "The Devil," which comes to the Auditorium Thursday night. Indications at this time are that the theater will be packed and that the "Standing Room Only" sign, for the first time this season will be dusted off and brought forth for use. Seldom has there been such advance interest in a play as has been manifest in "The Devil." The Burwood Stock company, which will present the play here, has been forced, by public demand, to continue more than three weeks' engagement in Omaha where seats have been sold for weeks in advance. The last performance of the play there will be given Wednesday night and Thursday morning the company, with all its special scenery, will come to Norfolk. The seat sale will begin at the regular place Wednesday morning. "The Devil" is the most talked-off play in America at the present time. Two versions of it are running full force in New York City and all of the popular magazines are running pages concerning the play. Norfolk gets it this year because a flaw in the copywright permits stock companies to play the piece.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED

Man Who Stole a Horse and Saddle at Lynch Is Captured.

Butte Register: Deputy Sheriff N. P. Bradstreet arrived in Butte Thursday afternoon bringing with him Charley Campbell of Holt county a confessed horse thief. The horse and saddle which he stole were also brought. The capture was the result of a long chase, for which Mr. Bradstreet deserves much credit. The previous Thursday night a horse was stolen from the farm of Pete Carl, living fourteen miles south of Lynch in Holt county. Early Friday morning it was found that Nic Baker's barn at Lynch had been broken into and a fine big saddle taken. A young man who said his name was Campbell had been seen in town that night.

Deputy Sheriff Bradstreet arrived in Lynch about midnight, and the crime becoming known at about five o'clock he said he was going to get the fellow, and at once set out for Creighton, with no clew but an idea. He knew that a family of Campbells lived at that place, and he knew of the young man who had given his name as Campbell; that was all. With the aid of the vigilance committee there he found that an Albert Campbell lived in the vicinity of Bassett and drove on to Newport, taking with him Constable J. B. Menuey of that place. They found the place Thursday, and drove in when three men emerged from the house.

Being asked if Charley Campbell was there, no response was made until a little boy said, "He is in the house." Bradstreet went in and told him to come along as he was wanted at Lynch.

"What for?" he asked.

"For stealing a horse."

He denied the charge and was told that if he could prove it, to come along. He got permission to get his coat and came out in tears.

"Where is that horse?" was asked.

"In the hills," Campbell replied.

"Where is the saddle?"

"In the haystack."

He promptly produced it.

After a hard chase the stolen horse was caught in the pasture, when the party drove to Butte.

The unfortunate young man is but twenty-three years old and does not seem to realize what he has done. His unconcern was manifested by leisurely smoking a cigar upon his arrival. It is sad that a young man should do what he has done, and yet how very foolish. He said he had nothing to eat from the time he stole the horse until Saturday, and was continually in the saddle. He also claims to have been drunk.
