GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Dry Weather is Developing Bullish Wheat Sentiment.

CORN RECEIPTS ARE LARGE

As Long as Weather is So Favorable They Will Continue So—Some Bullish Traders Have Changed to Bears.

Omaha, Jan. 4, 1913.

Bullish sentiment is being engendered in the wheat market by the dry weather conditions over the entire winter wheat belt. Advices are beginning to pour in to the speculative market from the interior which show that although no damage of a serious nature has yet taken place there are many grave apprehensions as to what may occur.

The situation is one having many peculiarities as far as the speculative market is concerned, and foremost among all of them is the fact that it would not take much of an incentive in the way of cold weather, unaccompanied by snow fall, to start a heavy buying movement in wheat. There is now such a tendency, although on all of the sharp advances considerable wheat finds its way upon the market, which gives prices a normal setback. Such were the conditions yesterday.

The early market was full of buying orders, but before the final transactions there was enough grain thrown on the market to cause a liberal reaction from the best prices. Gossip on wheat last night was more mixed than usual, with a good percentage of it bearish. It was noticeable that the northwest continues a liberal seller of cash wheat to come to Chicago. Bears are looking for stocks to pile up more rapidly. Bulls, however, are figuring that there will be a demand for all wheat that comes in sight. The northwestern flour output last week, all the mills being closed Christmas, decreased 94,455 barrels. The output (week ending December 28) was 273,040 barrels against 241,355 in 1911; 218,525 in 1910 and 272,960 in 1909. This week twenty-one mills are in operation and the production would show a material increase. A year ago it was 288,100 barrels. There appears to have been a marked falling off in flour sales last week with both Minneapolis and interior mills. Previous to that date sales had a comparatively good average. Cash wheat, unchanged to ¼c higher.

The weather throughout the corn belt is generally favorable for marketing and as long as it remains so the best authorities look for continued large receipts. It was noticeable that traders who have been bullish on corn of late were bearish yesterday. Their change was due to reports from cash handlers in the east that the trade in Chicago had been filled up and that the corn in transit as well as fresh loadings were selling at a discount at eastern points as compared with corn to be loaded.

Cash corn unchanged to ½c higher. There was no new feature to the oats market yesterday, and the trading ruled dull throughout the session, although prices follow the same general course as in other grains.

Cash oats, unchanged.

Clearances were: Wheat and flour, 413,000 bu.; corn, 215,000 bu.; oats, none.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Improved prospects for the winter crop eased prices off today in wheat. Gains disappeared and the market closed the same as last night to ¼c down. Corn finished at a net advance of ¼c, oats unchanged to a shade lower and provisions 5@7½c increase in cost.

Unmistakeable heaviness ruled the wheat trade after midday and final quotations were within ¼@¾c of the bottom figures reached. Snow, which fell here profusely for a short time, had a good effect in relieving anxiety as to fall-sown grain, a dread that during the early hours had pushed prices higher. In addition, official records were being circulated to prove that moisture in most cases had been normal up to the time the plant became dormant.

Huge receipts in all directions, when distribution should be well under way, counted somewhat against the wheat bulls, although heretofore of late this factor has been ignored. Promise of heavy world shipments acted also in favor of the bears.

May wheat fluctuated between 91⅛@91¾c, with last sales ¼c net lower at 91¼@91⅜c.

Forecasts of unfavorable weather strengthened corn. Export call was a little better and offerings from the interior small. May ranged from 48⅝@48⅞c to 48⅝c, closing firm ⅛c up at 48⅝@48¾c. Cash grades were unsettled. No. 2 yellow, 47@47½c for car lots.

Oats appeared more inclined to follow wheat than corn. Primary arrivals were three times as large as a year ago. May swung from 32⅝c to 32c and closed a shade net lower, at 32⅜@32⅝c.

Provisions rose on account of large stocks being light and hog prices higher. The upshot was an average advance of about 12½c.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Sentiment Veers to Bear Side and Prices Go Down.

NO REAL CAUSE FOR CHANGE

Position of London Market and Less Favorable Reports as to Peace Conference Contribute to Movement.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Sentiment veered to the bear side of the market today and prices went down as decisively as they went up yesterday. Losses of 1 to 2 points were general, with Union Pacific, Reading, the copper stocks and Steel playing a prominent part in the day's decline. No specific cause could be assigned for the sudden change in the aspect of the market after its display of strength recently.

The position of the London market and less favorable reports as to the peace conference also contributed to the growth of bearish sentiment. Little business was transacted for London account today, although there was some buying on direct cables from the continent. Passing of the dividend on the common stock of American Beet Sugar caused a violent decline in this issue to 41⅝, a loss of 6⅝. Western Maryland was again weak. The common dropped 4½ points and the preferred 8. Texas company moved against the market rising 4 points.

A renewal rate of 4½ per cent for call loans compared favorably with the rate of 12 per cent a week ago and call funds were placed at lower figures later in the day.

Time money also was easier.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,150,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
