SIOUX COUNTY.

A Great Agricultural Display From Northwestern Nebraska.

Sioux county's agricultural prosperity and natural resources were presented in a separate exhibit, disconnected from agricultural hall. "The old log cabin" was their drawing card, representing the primitive style of dwelling commonly used by the pioneer homesteader of that county. It was very substantially built from pine logs and artistically decorated over the entrance with the green foliage of the cedar and pine (native timbers of the county) out of which peered two pairs of monstrous ox horns, indicating that the cattle industry is an important feature of production in Sioux county. The interior walls of the cabin were mechanically thatched with all kinds of unthreshed small grains and grasses so arranged as to show plainly the full growth of straw to the best advantage, oats that measured five and a half feet straw growth; wheat, four and a half feet and grasses of the blue stem varieties that towered above the heads of the visitors. Their exhibit of mammoth California wheat that tests sixty-four pounds, and in size of grain is fully three times as large as the ordinary varieties of wheat, was a novelty in grains. The general average of the wheat crop of the county is conservatively placed at twenty-two and one-half bushels per acre; oats, forty-five to fifty bushels. The roots and vegetables were all fine specimens, fully establishing the claims set forth by northwestern Nebraska in general production; potatoes, cabbage, turnips, pumpkins, tomatoes, onions, beets, especially were the sugar beet varieties good, fully establishing the certainty of that section of the state for the sugar industry. A big turnip measuring thirty-seven and one-half inches in circumference and weighing sixteen pounds attracted the attention of visitors. Sioux county does not make any special claim to superior corn production. The corn prospect is, however, encouraging, and a good yield will be had this year, if frost holds off ten days longer. The samples of brick and building stone were of excellent quality, and with the abundance and cheapness of wood for fuel made a good impression with land seekers. The gentlemen in charge of this display were Eli Smith, C. E. Holmes and J. A. Green. —Omaha World-Herald.

We're After You.

The greatest of western papers, the Weekly State Journal, is determined to double its circulation this fall. To do this the paper has been enlarged to twelve pages every week; new departments added, and every column freshened and brightened by crisp and original ideas. The Journal is the true and able exponent of western enterprise and thought. It has grown apace with the progress of our commonwealth and stands to-day at the head of western newspapers, equalled by few and excelled by none.

This will be an exceptional fall and winter for reading. Every man who thinks for himself and wants his boys and girls to do the same, should have the Weekly Journal in his family. Write for a sample. You need only to see the paper to appreciate it. Send twenty-five cents for a three months' trial subscription. You will then become a regular reader. Eighty-five per cent of trial subscribers stick. That's a good record. Published at the state capitol the Journal is more in touch with the great masses of the people, and the questions that agitate the hour, than any of its competitors. Don't forget to send for a sample paper. We want you to see one. The paper itself will do the rest. One dollar per year. Address Weekly State Journal, Lincoln, Neb.
