TRADE CONDITIONS IN OMAHA

General Rains Over the Territory Help the Corn Crop.

BANKS ARE FLOODED WITH CASH

Never So Much Money in West as at Present and with Prosperity Everywhere Jobbing Business Benefits.

Rains have been general over the state in the last week, affording relief wherever drought was threatening the development of the corn crop. Rains were reported in other states. Conditions are now favorable and optimistic reports came from every section.

There was never so much money in the western country as at present. Deposits in the Omaha national banks, as shown by the statements recently issued at the call of the comptroller of the currency, are the largest on record. The report of the state banking board, to be issued soon, is expected to show the largest deposits in the history of Nebraska.

All lines of the jobbing trade continue to do well and without exception report that trade for the first eight months of this year has exceeded that of a similar period of last year.

"Uneventful" is the word that expresses conditions in the shoe trade. The salesmen are pegging along and doing a splendid business out in the territory, but no advances and no declines have taken place and there is a scarcity of predictions as to what the market will do. An increased demand is shown for the better grades of goods.

Due to the present stringency in the eastern money market, a dullness in New England dry goods markets is reported. Still, prices are as high as ever and cotton in the raw probably will continue to command a high figure. In the last week no changes have taken place in the price of finished materials. Gingham and cambrics and all kinds of prints are offered at stiff quotations. Retailers are buying liberally for fall and winter and express the greatest confidence in the future.

Silk on Up-Grade.

Further advances in the raw silk markets abroad have resulted in American manufacturers becoming more interested in the situation.

It is well known that quite a few manufacturers are by no means well covered on raw material, and have not in fact sufficient to cover many of the orders that they have already booked for fall. The markets abroad seem to be firmly fixed on the up-grade, and every fresh buying spurt serves to still further increase the cost of raw silk.

Advices just to hand from Yokohama state that, owing to increased buying for account of both America and Europe, prices have gone up fully 20 cents per pound over those quoted a week ago, and that the market is still on the up-grade. Cable advices also state that the autumn crop of cocoons in Japan has been greatly damaged, and this is still further adding to the strength of the situation.

Tinware has not yet been affected by the slight decline in the price of pig iron. No change has been made for weeks in the prices of nails, fence wire, fencing and all kinds of builders' hardware. Owing to a slacker demand for sheet zinc, prices have eased up a little. An advance in volume of trade of about 20 per cent for the last eight months over eight months of last year is reported by the hardware jobbers.

Sugar refiners are apparently beginning to feel the pressure of an improved refined market and are showing a tendency to buy up raws at a figure nearer sellers' ideas than they have previously been willing to consider. On the strength of a sale of a small cargo of Porto Ricos in port, spot New York prices are now quoted on the basis of 3.92c for 96 degree test centrifugals. Refiners show an inclination to buy still more small lots at this figure, but sellers are slow with their offerings and little is to be found.

Brighter Outlook for Tomatoes.

The outlook for tomatoes is brighter than it has been this season. Reports from many canning centers refute former reports by the announcement that the output is likely to be as large as in former years. The quality of the fruit is also good.

Sardines were advanced 5c early in the week and indications are for a further advance. Salmon is strong and advancing.

Coffee is quiet. Prices on all of the well known Brazil roasted brands are the same. A limited stock of new teas is on the market, the demand being active and the price well maintained.

No new offerings of southern rice have been made in the last week and the situation is considered serious. Storms two or three weeks ago did great damage to the rice fields of Louisiana and Texas.

Prices continue strong on dried fruits, though there has been no change. The California crop of prunes is short and is now estimated not to exceed 80,000,000 pounds. No reliable estimates have been made on the Oregon output.

There is considerable difference of opinion in local dried fruit circles over the necessity existing for the sulphuring of apricots and peaches during the process of curing, but there seems to be no difference of opinion among jobbers on the question of buying sulphurated fruits under the conditions that now exist. The jobber fears he will not be sufficiently protected under the packers' guaranty, and in spite of the assurance by James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, that the departmental ruling will not be carried out in the case of peaches and apricots, the buyers for the jobbing grocery houses are not buying the varieties of fruit mentioned.

In advices from the coast it is made clear that the packers are buying peaches from the growers with caution and are rejecting such stock as shows oversulphuring. It is pointed out, too, that the percentage of deliveries showing less than the maximum quantity of sulphur used—35-1,000 per cent—is comparatively small.

During the week there was considerable interest taken in the gum situation, owing to a report from Egypt indicating sharp advances in the prices of varnish. It is said that altogether only 2,000 bales are available to supply the demand of Europe and America. There has been a decline in the price of camphor of 4 cents. Quinine is much stronger and indications point toward advances. Opium remains the same as last quoted—$7 the minimum price in case lots. There is a strong advancing market on Golden Seal, on Jamaica ginger and senega root. Indications are that there will be lower prices for peppermint oil and advances on oil of anise and Messina essences.

During the early part of the week there was a little weakness in the turpentine market, though there was no disposition to lower prices. There has been steady improvement in the linseed oil market, with no change in prices.
