Made Trip Over Sheridan County

Lloyd C. Thomas, business manager of The Herald and Democratic candidate for state representative from the district comprised of Box Butte and Sheridan counties, returned Tuesday evening from a trip over the northern part of Sheridan county. He visited Gordon, Clinton Rushville and Hay Springs. Monday evening he spoke at a mass meeting in Rushville from the platform with Hon. J. L. Craddock of Omaha, who is also a candidate for the legislature. Lloyd reports political prospects very good.

Shall We Discard Local Option and Adopt State Prohibition?

Under the existing Local Option Law, it lies within the power of the citizens of any community in Nebraska to adopt local prohibition for their own city, town, or village.

In every community in this state absolute control over this question lies in the hands of the majority of the voters. No interference from the outside is possible; nothing can thwart the wishes of the majority in the city, town or village, with respect to the question of license or no license.

Many communities in this state have availed themselves of the power granted to them under our Local Option Law, and have adopted local prohibition for their own community. Where there is a dominant LOCAL public sentiment in support of that policy, it is possible to make the no-license policy respected and obeyed.

There are, on the other hand, many communities in this state where it is the opinion of the majority of the citizens that the license policy is better adapted to their own community. Where that is the prevailing sentiment, the community is permitted, under our existing Local Option Law, to license the sale of alcoholic beverages—subject of course to the provisions and restrictions of the general state law.

In neither case, is a policy forced on a community from without. The principle of Home Rule prevails.

It is now proposed to substitute for this policy of local self-government, the policy of state-wide prohibition. This prohibition policy is not intended for the relief of communities in which the no-license policy already prevails, but is designed to FORCE such a policy on other communities against their will.

The result, as the experience of other states has abundantly established, would be disastrous in every city and town on which prohibition is forced. It means, where dominant local sentiment is opposed to prohibition, lax enforcement of the law, the dividing of such towns into bitterly hostile factions, the reign of the spy and of the informer, the rapid growth of crime—and in the end it means higher taxes.

Against the substitution of such a system for that under which Nebraska is now operating, everyone having the best interests of the people of this state at heart, should solemnly protest.

ADDITIONAL RAILROAD NOTES

The state commission has again had to correct the impression that freight cars cannot be used for peddling purposes. It issued an order requiring roads to cancel an order prohibiting peddling, but the railroads appear not to have properly instructed agents. Henry Obbing had a car of potatoes billed from Alliance to Lincoln and reconsigned to himself at Firth. At the latter station he sold all except 150 bushels when the local agent received orders from Wymore to lock the car. Mr. Obbing appealed to the state railway commission and the commission directed the railroad company to instruct the agent not to lock the car. In this case the agent is said to have tried to make a distinction between selling from a car and peddling from a car.

Vern Kennedy appealed to the police department of the city for assistance Saturday and related the following story: He said he had been visiting at Lakeside and left there intending to return home. He attempted to beat his way back and threw his suit case and overcoat into an empty box car and got in himself. He was immediately assaulted by two other occupants of the car and robbed of $48, his suit case and overcoat and so badly beaten up that he did not regain consciousness until he arrived here. Drs. Plehn and Moore dressed his wounds and sent him to his home at Greenfield, Iowa. —Scottsbluff Republican.

How large a quantity of breakfast dainties could you consume after a comfortable nights ride aboard a luxuriously appointed train, if they were prepared and served by a charming young woman dressed in a smart traveling suit?

This query was properly answered last Saturday morning on a Burlington train en route from Chicago to Saint Paul.

The train reaches its destination at an early morning hour and, consequently, does not carry a diner; but those early risers, whose persistent appetites will not be postponed, can secure their coffee and eggs in the lounge car.

Now, unheralded, comes the heroine—and the climax.

Ha! Watson, an actress!

Elsie Esmond, the actress and leading lady of the new stock company which is to open next Sunday at the Shubert theatre of Saint Paul, entered the lounge car, and found the lone colored waiter at his wit's end to prepare the food and serve the impatient breakfasters.

"I went to the kitchen, and got my coffee there without waiting," Miss Esmond commented later, "and seeing the plight of the poor waiter, I just pitched in and helped, that's all. Yes, I prepared eggs, toast and coffee, served and colected, and even sold cigars.

"Tips? Yes I got a few; and, by the way, I'm quite converted to the tipping system."
