Letters to the Editor

Mr. Editor of the Tribune:

What will they do about reducing some of the taxes that were scooted sky-high during the post war period spending fever? In place they indicate higher taxes.

In regard to this bond issue now before the voters of North Platte will say that every voter of the city pays taxes whether it is direct or indirect. He can't escape. The higher the taxes the higher the taxes, the higher the the higher the tares, the higer the cost of groceries, meats, shoes, cloth, ing, dry goods and other necessities. You pay your proportion of the taxes anyway. The real estate boomer is trying to be our shepherd. He points to rosy future but he lives at our expense.

High taxes is high cost of living.

Yours respectively,
A Taxpayer
