A 50 bushel crop of corn removes 80 pounds of nitrogen, 27 pounds of phosphate, and 55 pounds of potash. This is equal to a plant food of 60 pounds complete fertilizer or eight tons of manure.

Nature requires, roughly, 500 to 800 years to build up one inch of topsoil, according to the SCS. If a field has lost four inches of topsoil it has lost more than 2,000 years of nature's work.

It is important that soil be well nourished for it takes as much work to plan, seed or plant and otherwise handle an acre of small yield as it does an acre yielding well. The tax is the same, also.

"Give me liberty or give me death" are not the only words of Patrick Henry that go ringing down the years. He also said, "He is the greatest patriot who stops the most gullies."

We live on a three legged stool: soil, water and plants. When anything happens to destroy one or more of these, the stool topples over.

To begin with, we had something over 500 million acres of tillable land in the United States. More than half of our farm land has been damaged by erosion.

It's poor business to spend money for time and fertilizer and then lose most of it by plowing and planting up and down hill.
