THE army scandals so blatantly mentioned by the democratic new-papers are being punctured, and that too, by democratic officers in the army. The entire talk about mismanagement will be found absolutely untrue.

THE outlook for republican success, or rather for the defeat of the fusion scramble for office this fall, is certainly bright. The republican organization is the best ever had, and the fuses are jangling among themselves.

WHEN the Omaha congressional campaign gets fairly opened, the files of the World-Herald will furnish Dave Mercer all the campaign ammunition he will want. Hitchcock used to be a gold bug and a red-hot fighter against the pops.

THE State Agricultural Society has enough self respect to not attempt to hold a fair this year, and were it not for the luscious rakeoff from the pockets of the tax payers, very few counties in the state would attempt to hold any fair this fall on account of the expposition.

OUR namesake at Nebraska City calls it partisanship to object to the columns of falsehood which is being daily printed about the army and its so called mismanagement by the democratic papers. We are heartily in favor of a thorough investigation and the punishment of those who have been guilty of neglect. The plan of making democratic capital out of such misfortunes is too small for most people to indulge in, and we take no stock in that sort of dirty politics.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The democrat machine has fixed up the dose which will be given the pops at Weeping Water next Tuesday. Slippery Sam's scheme of coaxing Doug Rouse, after much coaxing, has been turned down and J. W. Robinson will be nominated for the legislature. It should conclude to try for the house. J. M. Patterson, the barber, might be distasteful to the rank and file of the pops, as his class are supposed to stand closer to the pole cat of Auburn street than to the laboring man. That fiat has gone forth and the pops have to take the medicine which is being fed to them down here in Plattsmouth, whether they like it or not. Patterson must be named for the senate is the edict from the bosses and what they say goes so far as the Cass county is concerned. Fee Gordon of Weeping Water, is to be the democratic member of the house and D. O. Dwyer to be the fusion candidate for county attorney, although Mat Gering's pushers want him to take the job of getting licked next November. The present plan as given us by parties on the inside show one pop on the fusion ticket to three democrats and no white metal republicans. The three ringed fake with a reform banner meets at Weeping Water next Tuesday.

INFORMATION AND OPINIONS.

Rose Hessel was sentenced from York county yesterday to twelve months in the penitentiary for horse stealing.

One of the sons of Col. Tom Majors, who is a member of the Second Nebraska volunteers, was taken sick a short time since at Chickamauga, and when found by Mrs. Colby, wife of General Colby, she at once took him in company with the son of a captain of one of the other companies of the Nebraska boys to the top of Lookout mountain, where she is nursing them herself back to health. The boys both have typhoid fever but are getting along nicely as the daily wire report received by Colonel Majors shows.—Nebraska City News.

The fond father who wants his sons to refrain from evil habits should take some care to see that there is no chance for them to become tramps. If he does not he may be sorry for it later on. Take the case of Christopher Columbus, for instance. He was the son of a weaver, and he was himself a weaver of cloth. Since the war closed, the feeling against Columbus for having discovered America is such that his descendants are not likely to receive any courtesies.

State University.

Entrance examinations and registration for the state university will begin Tuesday, September 13. On Saturday, September 17, classes will organize and be assigned work for Monday. On Monday, September 19, the regular class work will begin. The university of Nebraska will open with the expectation of at least 2,500 students during the year. The registration last year was 1,915, and it is hoped that the number will be swelled to the anticipated enrollment.

Additional space will be had in the library study room, by the tearing out of the down stairs' history room, and provision, too, is made for a wet laboratory. J. H. Lees, teacher of chemistry, formerly of the Nebraska Agricultural College at Milford, is expected Monday. It is hoped that he will bring back his apparatus. Instructors in the university are being kept busy fitting up their laboratories, lecture rooms, etc., for the work of the year. The outlook for a good year is very bright.

A Fake Story.

The Associated Press dispatches have been circulating a story that the Sacred Heart Academy, of Omaha, had sent a petition to the Pope to have the Pope remove Archbishop Ireland from his position as head of the Catholic church in America. The story was given a good deal of publicity and was quite generally believed. The Omaha Bee has taken the trouble to investigate the story and has ascertained that there is not the slightest foundation for it. The Bee says: "The Sacred Heart Academy is a Catholic institution for the education of young ladies, and is conducted by the Sisters of the Sacred Heart. The Mother Superior of the institution is a French woman, and it is her boast that she has never been in the United States since she came to Omaha to take charge of the institution. The Mother Superior is a very pious woman, and her sympathies are with the Archbishop in his controversy with the Pope, and she would be very glad to see the Pope remove Ireland from his position. But she would not be guilty of such a thing herself, and she would not allow any of the sisters under her control to be guilty of such a thing. The Mother Superior is a very shrewd woman, and she would not be likely to allow any of her pupils to write such a letter to the Pope, even if they should be so inclined. The Mother Superior is very strict with her pupils, and they are not allowed to write letters except under her supervision. The story is a fake from beginning to end."

Russian Caviare.

"Caviare was a favorite with the Russian peasantry," said a traveler, "but they could not afford to buy it. Caviare was sold in Russia by the pound, and it was a very expensive article. A Russian peasant, if he had the money, would buy a pound of caviare, and he would hide himself in his house with it and eat it all himself. He would not share it with his family or his friends. He would not share it with anybody. He would hide himself away with it and devour it all himself."

Wonderful Figures.

One of the most marvelous workmen in the world is Hermann the Magician, of Paris, who has created a figure in wood so life like that when the two are placed side by side it is hard to determine which is the man and which the wood.

By a series of calculations in arithmetic which are beyond the grasping of the most profound and learned people of modern times, Mondschein has faithfully recorded the story of each crow's foot and wrinkle to be seen on the face of the earth. The figures represent the exact age of wood, stone, iron and gutta percha with which Wanamaker and Brown have to deal.

There is a curious little Holland village in Wisconsin named Little Chute whose chief manufacture is wooden shoes. The people there are as thoroughly Dutch as their progenitors. The town stands on the ground where Pere Marquette had his winter quarters, and where the Dutch priests instructed the Indians.
