Our Journal friend seems unnecessarily sore over the election, and continues to hurl d atribes at Judge Newell. They should remember that Newell and many of those who voted for him were here years before they were, and no amount of political claptrap would shake their friendship. The election is over and Judge Newell will make a good senator.

Sam Patterson, we are glad to note is making a splendid record as deputy state treasurer. He is the youngest man who ever held this responsible position in this state. He is accurate, always accommodating, and makes many friends who will try to make a place on the ticket next time to succeed Meserve, and if the office goes to a democrat we know of no one that would be more acceptible to the people of Cass county.

A traveling man stopped at Herold's store yesterday and asked who the six bloods were that got off the train here that morning. He said they were a jolly crowd, but were all a little boozy, and one of the fellows had a bottle sticking out of his pocket. Enquiry soon showed that it was the returning wedding party, and that C. S. Polk had the bottle which some joker had quietly slipped into his pocket. As none of the party drink or use tobacco, hence it was a mistake of judgment on the part of the traveling man.

Will Lloyd, son of Joe Lloyd, and his brother-in-law, Fred Cunningham, have earned reputations as professional horseshoers at Lincoln who do their work in a scientific manner. All the fast horse men in the west patronize them, and the boys are crowded with work all the time. In a conversation with the editor of the NEWS this morning Fred informs us that they put on 116 shoes yesterday in nine hours, a record we venture, that cannot be equaled in the state. The NEWS is glad to see the boys enjoying a wave of real prosperity, knowing that it has been fully earned by hard work and a superior knowledge of their Business.

Negroes Who Speak Only German.

There is a German negro colony in Pennsylvania, who speak no thing but German. The place is Lebanon county, and the negroes went there twenty, thirty and forty years ago and settled among the quiet Pennsylva n German farmers of the Blue mountain districts. The colored children grew up on the farms where they worked and heard nothing but German spoken They forgot nearly all the English they knew, and now they rarely speak anything but German. Their children go to English country schools in winter, but as quickly as they are out of sight of their teachers they begin to talk the German dialect, and nothing else.

Married at Murray.

One of the most noted society events of the early holidays was the marriage of John L. Young, Murray's popular merchant, to Miss Alta Boedecker the accomplished daughter of Chas. H. Boedecker. The ceremony was performed Thanksgiving evening, November 24, at the beautiful home of the bride, by the Rev J. D. Oldham, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Murray.

A Sad Accident.

Mrs. McBride took him to a doctor's office, and 30 minutes later was on her way to Dr. Gifford's in Omaha for expert treatment. The little fellow was very brave and sat up in the depot without a murmur while waiting for the train.

A Cruel Joke

While waiting for the train at the Junction on their way home the Spurlock wedding party took a lunch and some one slipped a half filled whiskey bottle in R B Windhams valise. After the lunch R. B. informed the boys that he had a little wedding cake in his grip which he proposed to finish up with, and if they had not fortified themselves in the same way it was their loss as he would not divide. He got the grip and as they crowded around together with about twenty bystanders, as he supposed, to sample the cake, he declaring that he wouldn't divide anything with the crowd and throwing open the grip the first thing to be seen was the tell-tale whiskey bottle Windhams face grew scarlet and the crowd yelled with laughter then the other five, declaring that they had been publicly disgraced, repaired to another part of the room refusing to associate with a man who took a nip on the sly, and the depot crowd fairly howled with laughter. It is said the grip was closed without the owner so much as tasting the cake, and the bottle was deposited on the floor in short order.
