Mrs. H. L. Thomas returned from Omaha Sunday, where she had gone on Thursday to consult a physician in regard to her health.

A miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Harold Todd, (formerly Miss Flossie Ludke) was given at the home of Mrs. Nicholas Klaurense last Saturday afternoon. Besides numerous presents presented to the bride, the ladies indulged in refreshments.

Mesdames G. Hoback, L. W. Ingwerson and M. A. Hoback, visited Mrs. Frank Anderson in Union last Friday. Mrs. Anderson's health has been poor of late and her condition on Tuesday of this week was reported worse, but not to the extent as to be alarming.

Mesdames G. C. and V. P. Sheldon and children, who have been visiting the family of Ex-Governor Sheldon at Wayside, Miss, the past month, returned to Nehawka last Sunday night. While on their Southern trip they visited the Mardi Gras at New Orleans, and while here took a steam boat trip on the Mississippi river where they saw two of Uncle Sam's submarine boats ready for duty at any moment.

C. P. Richards, of Plattsmouth, well known in Nehawka, as the contractor and carpenter who built the Jas. Palmer residence, was so unfortunate as to lose the forefinger and a part of the thumb on his left hand while operating a buzz saw last Saturday afternoon. The hand was hastily dressed, and Mr. Richards is reported as getting along with the painful members as well as could be expected.

The Nehawka Mills was closed down the first of the week for the purpose of removing the old engine, which failed to meet the requirements of the constant growing business. A new Murray Corliss engine, the last word in engine construction for up to date flouring mills has arrived from Burlington, Iowa, and will be running just as soon as the connecting parts are properly adjusted. The mill is now completely equipped with the best and latest machinery and Mr. St. John is to be congratulated on having the most modern mill in eastern Nebraska.

UNION Ledger

C. J. St. John of the Nehawka mill was down Friday afternoon delivering flour to Chas. F. Morton.

Mrs. Will Donaldson of Chapin, Ia., visited from Thursday until Monday with Mrs. B. A. Taylor of this place.

About the next entertainment on the docket is to be an old fiddlers' contest, which will be given here in the near future if the present arrangements go through.

George Edmison and family of Hartington, Neb., arrived here Monday afternoon. It is said they are contemplating making Union their future home.

Little Dathel Young, who was reported as being seriously ill last week with pneumonia, is recovering nicely at this time. The trained nurse who had been attending her for several days, returned to her home in Omaha Monday afternoon.

L. J. Hall left Monday afternoon for eastern Minnesota and western Wisconsin, where he went to buy three car loads of graded cattle for a man in Iowa. It is in this same locality where Mr. Hall purchased those which he sold at public sale here a short time ago.

From the latest reports it is probable that there will be a good wrestling match here before long. The participants will be a few of the Union men against some from our neighboring town of Nehawka. Watch for further announcement.

C. W. Clark, who was operated on in Omaha several days ago, is reported as getting along in fine shape. About the only kick he has is that he is not getting as much to satisfy the inner man as he does when in his home at the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Montgomery of Auburn, Ill., came in Thursday and visited at the Mrs. B. A. Taylor home until Monday of this week. Mr. Montgomery is out locating the heirs of Joshua Lynde and his trip is taking him through Iowa and Nebraska.

Erven Carroll who was matched with Ded Dow in a handicap match Tuesday night at the opera house, in which Dow was to throw Carroll in fifteen minutes, held out and won the match. Carroll showed good science and pluck. Skinner of Alvo lost the match with Dow on Wednesday evening.

G. A. Nenstiel and family left on Monday for Chappell, Neb., where they will make their future home. Mr. Nenstell has a nice farm in that country, about fifteen miles from Chappell, and they will live on it. They have the best wishes of a host of friends from Elmwood which goes with them to their new home.

The latter part of last week another old-timer of Elmwood visited here. It was Walter Kenniston of Keapa county. His father was a doctor of this section. He visited his two friends, William DelesDernier and Chas. Bailey, and they talked over the old times and of the base ball games that they played together nearly forty years ago. He went from here to Wabash for a short visit before returning home.

On Thursday of last week, A. H. Weichel was quite badly injured when he was forced to jump from a scaffold where he was working at the Al Wallinger place. It seems that while at work on the scaffold it gave way, and when Mr. Weichel noticed this he jumped, striking the ground with such force that he sprained both of his ankles. He was brought home and was layed up for some days on account of his injury.

"THE DISTRICT SCHOOL" BY THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

From Friday's Daily.

"The District School" which was given last evening by the members of the Epworth Leaugue at the parlors of the Methodist church, proved one of the most pleasant social event which has been held for some time, and about eighty persons were present totake part in the occasion. The young ladies came to "school" attired in the old time school girl costumes and with braided hair and the nodding hair ribbons presented a striking picture of the old time school, while the young men, not to be outdone came in overalls and knickers, taken altogether the scene was one that certainly provoked much pleasure as each new pupil made his appearance and was assigned to their classes. The school master was very dignified in appearance with a tall silk hat and flowing grey beard and mustache, and it was not until later that it was discovered that the schoolmaster was Jennings Seivers, one of the active members of the Epworth League. The members of the class were put through a very severe ordeal by being called on for recitations and while a few were able to carry out this part of the program in a manner that would be a credit to a real school boy or girl others produced much enjoyment by being prompted by the kind hearted teacher in their efforts and these stunts aided very much in the enjoyment of the evening. Rev Truscott; who was assigned to the primary class was given the honor of carrying the flag for the school. At the close of the school a real old time "spellin' bee' was enjoyed by the members of the party and the war of words continued for some little time but was brought to a hurried close when the school girls begin to unpack their lunch baskets for the "feed" that had long been anticipated by the hungry school boys, who were so thoughtless as not even to bring an apple with them, and as a result each lad was required to "dig up" twenty-five cents for the honor of enjoying lunch with his school girl friend. The occasion was one of delight to all of the party and it was with much regret that the party departed for their homes feeling that it had indeed been a most enjoyable time.

FIRE AT PACIFIC JUNCTION DESTROYS BIG MULE BARN

From Saturday's Daily.

Last night shortly after 9 o'clock our neighboring town of Pacific Junction was visited by quite a spectacular fire, which wiped out of existence the old Davis & Anderson mule barn in the north part of that town, and which was owned by parties in Council Bluffs. The fire raged with great intensity and it was with difficulty that a number of horses were rescued from the building, including a valuable stallion, worth $2,500. The barn was used largely for storing of hay, thirty tons of which was destroyed by the flames and which added to the intensity of the fire and made the danger to the rest of the town very great for a few minutes. The only losses as far as known is the hay and a goat that was quartered in the barn and which it was impossible to rescue before the structure caved in and buried the animal beneath the ruins. The blaze from the burning structure leaped high in the air and was clearly visible from this city, and for several hours was watched by the interested citizens. It was thought at first that it might be the Burlington depot at the Junction, but a message from that place brought announcement that it was not the passenger station. The Junction has had a number of very disastrous fires in the past few years, and had the wind been as strong last night as on Thursday, the whole north portion of the town would have been wiped out by fire.
