DEALERS PLAN TO REDUCE CLOTHING COST

Conference Called for January at the Instance of Assistant Attorney General.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Steps to lower the retail price of clothing will be discussed at a conference here early in January of persons interested in the production of wearing apparel, from the producer of raw materials to the consumer of the finished product.

The calling of the conference was announced today by Assistant Attorney General Fling, who said that in addition to effecting economies in operation, it was planned to provide for the production of a standard quality cloth and garments at a reasonable price as an indication to the public in check extravagance in purchasing.

Producers Call Meeting.

Suggestions for the conference came from the producers of wearing apparel, and a committee of 27 is being chosen, the personnel of which will be announced after the Christmas holidays. The manufacturing clothing unions will be represented in the conference.

Mr. Fling said it was generally agreed among producers that one essential for reducing the cost of clothing was to have manufacturers design their plants to necessities, meaning the type of clothing purchasable by the average man. Some clothing manufacturers were said to believe that men's suits new selling for $65 retail could be sold at a profit for $25. If an arrangement could be worked out between the mills, manufacturers, and retailers, whereby a certain percentage of business could be devoted to goods of standard quality to be turned out in quantities.

There is no intention to declare a "moratorium" for the public, Mr. Fling said, and the standard goods under consideration would be standard in quality rather than in pattern.

The department of justice also is taking other steps to turn the effort of the public to the lower priced goods neglected in the rush of high war prosperity. Mr. Fling has suggested to National Retail Dry Goods Association that "economy" departments be established by the association's members, which would call the attention of customers to the fact that goods of excellent quality but medium price still are to be had.

Another H. C. L. Meeting

Mr. Fling has disapproved the action of some merchants, however, who were said to have taken advantage of the campaign and inaugurated "economy sales." The government does not desire to stampede the public into purchasing goods not needed, simply because they are advertised as "bargains," Mr. Fling said.

With the coal strike over officials expect to give renewed attention to the cost of living. A call was sent out today from Attorney General Palmer's office for a meeting of the committee, with whom he had met frequently in the past on the topic of prices. Secretaries Baker, Daniels and Wilbur, Director General Hines, Chairman Murdock of the federal trade commission and others are members of the committee.

BETTER GET YOUR THINK-BOX WORKING

Important Questions That Will be Asked of Farmers in the Coming Census.

The time is fast approaching when will pool in hand the army of enumerators will go forth to begin their task of "counting noses." But in this particular instance the work extends far and beyond the mere enumeration of population and includes a wide range of information regarding age, color, sex, place of birth, and whether or not for residents of cities and villages, while in the rural communities the information desired is of such volume as to prove nerve-racking to the poor census takers.

Owing to the high cost of living the rate per person for enumeration has been raised to about 4 cents, with a proportionate increase in the price allowed for each farm enumerated. The work is scheduled to begin on January 1, Friday the 2nd of January, and in cities of over 2,500 must be completed within two weeks. In country precincts and the smaller towns, however, a full calendar month is allowed for completing the task—for task it is.

Important Questions Asked

Among the more important questions asked of farmers are included the following:

1—Each occupant of a farm will be asked how many years, if any, he worked on a farm for wages; how many years, if any, he was a tenant; and how many years, if any, he has farmed as an owner.

2—Whether he (or owner or tenant) owns, or owns partly owns and partly rents, his farm, or whether he operates the farm for others as a manager or superintendent.

3—How many acres in the farm? Number of improved acres? Number of unimproved acres and number of acres of woodland?

4—Total value of farm? Total value of buildings? Value of implements and machinery on farm?

5—Whether farm is mortgaged? If so, the amount of mortgage?

6—Expense for feed, fertilizer and labor in the year 1919?

7—Several questions concerning artificial drainage of the farm.

8—Number of cows, horses, sheep, chickens and other domestic animals on the farm January 1, 1920?

9—Quantity and acreage of all crops grown on the farm in 1919, including fruits and vegetables?

10—Quantity of milk and butter sold off the farm during the year 1919?

11—Acreage of timber land on the farm and value of timber produced.

Farmers answering the above questions are of the census opinion The Capital State Department of Agriculture issued a circular recently in preparation for the enumerators, giving the questions and suggestions as to the best means to farmers, or their wives, for keeping farm records for census purposes.

Copies of the Agricultural schedule can be had in advance by any farmer who needs one, by application to the Director of Census, Washington, D. C.

Questions Must be Answered

The Act of Congress provides that the persons making up the schedules shall call personally at every dwelling house in the country and demand the information asked for by the census takers. It is not only the census schedules, however, which farmers should be diligent in preparing and answer fully and completely, but the unemployment questions. For the questions concerning unemployment are included on a supplemental schedule to be filled in by the census enumerators.

PRIZES COME TO CASS COUNTY MEN

Winners at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago—Received by Will Eldred.

We were right in our forecast of last week when we predicted that Cass county would come in for a share of the prizes in a contest of this kind, referring to the International Stock Show, the week was still near the beginning of the event. We were quite sure in our mind this would be true, especially in regard to Nebraska and Cass county in particular. Of course Nebraska precinct has never ranked as the big land of pure bred stock in this county, but now the honors are divided between this and Avoca precinct in regard to Hampshires. At the International show last week Carl Schroeder of Avoca showed the world in Big Hampshires, winning 1st, 2nd and 3rd on three sows and reserve champion on the senior sow pig. This is a remarkable showing and one Mr. Schroeder can well be proud of. It is a fitting reward for his patience, perseverance and good judgment in establishing a breed of Hampshires second to none in the world. It seems singular that the two Red herds of Hampshires the world affords are to be found in Cass county and that too within a few miles of each other, the one belonging to Mr. Schroeder and the other to that veteran breeder H. F. Pollard of Nehawka.

And this is not all of the story by any means. There are two young men in this precinct who are not alone building a name for themselves in the stock breeding world, but a history for themselves as well. These young men are fast becoming known as dependable young stockmen, who are producing the very best quality of Galloway cattle, Poland China and Hampshire hogs. These young men are Paul and Connant Wolph, who though young in years, show remarkable judgment as purebred stock raisers. They too, were in the winnings big at the International show last week. They were either too modest to report their winnings to us for publication or too overjoyed to think of it, and we have only unofficial news of their winnings.—Nehawka News.

SPLENDID COUGH MEDICINE.

"As I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is, I am only too pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I had known of its merits years ago," writes Mrs. Clay Fry, Ferguson Station, Mo. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold on the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it for a few days get rid of the cold."

SPECIAL OFFICER ENDS LONG SEARCH

Webb Suffered 20 Years—Trouble Overcome After He Takes Tanlac.

"Till Tanlac I just the worst I have been looking for for 20 years," was the statement made to Tanlac representative recently by John Webb, a special officer on the A. T. & S. F. railroad, living at 1217 Cliff street, Kansas City, Mo.

"I had suffered so long," continued Mr. Webb, "and could find nothing at all that would relieve me, that I thought my life had about gotten the best of me and I would have to beg my employer to let me go as I need. My stomach was in such an awful fix that I was in agony all the time. My appetite was poor, and I was so nervous that I kind of a dread of the ordinary would make my hair rise I was afraid. Nearly all the time I had headaches and dizzy spells, and I became so weak that it was a job for me to get about and get the most I did really and drowsy.

"I had already taken every medicine I had heard of when I started taking Tanlac, and I didn't expect anything to do me any good for none of the other medicines had helped me any, but I went on and took it just to feel satisfied that I had tried everything I had ever heard of. And I want to tell you I have never been so surprised in all my life. Yes, sir, Tanlac went right to my old troubles and has knocked them out high and put me in the very best of health. I don't believe it's anybody's fault if I don't get better when I take what I want and not have a slim of indigestion or any stomach trouble, are friends and I don't have any more headaches or dizzy spells and I feel hale and hearty and weigh four times of 15 pounds in weight. When a medicine brings a fellow's health back like Tanlac has done mine, I reckon he ought to tell everybody about it, and that is just the reason why I am so enthusiastic about Tanlac and recommend Tanlac to suffering people."

SHIPPING OUT THE UNDESIRABLES DAILY

Many Special Trains Are Carrying Radicals to Ellis Island for Deportation.

New York, Dec. 20.—Anarchists and undesirables from all sections of the United States were being rushed by special trains tonight to Ellis Island to join the large colony of radicals already assembled there awaiting deportation to Russia. Russian immigration officials held ready the transport which will take the radicals, including Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman on their forward journey, probably will sail Saturday.

Three special trains, one from Pittsburgh, another from Buffalo and a third from Philadelphia will arrive tomorrow with contingents of radicals for deportation. The Pittsburgh train will bring 40 anarchists.

Acting Commissioner of Immigration Byron H. Uhl said that 15 persons, including 13 anarchists arrived at the Island today for deportation from New Jersey.

Wives of the Russian radicals being held at Ellis Island tonight sent a letter to Commissioner General Immigration Caminetti asking his appeal that they and the children be transported to soviet Russia with their husbands. Martens, ambassador from soviet Russia today filed notice of an appeal to the appellate division from the decision of Supreme Justice Greenbaum, ordering him to submit for examination by the joint executive investigating committee books or papers pertaining to his relations with the Russian soviet government.

DISPOSING OF BONDS

From the central and southern sections of the country comes the report of a number of residents of that locality who have in the last few months disposed of their holdings of Liberty bonds in exchange for the bright and attractive appearing stocks of various oil, mining and industrial companies which have been offering a larger return on the investment than the government bonds. The offering may be very liberal in exchanging the sure and safe government bonds for stock in some unknown company and in nine cases out of ten the seller of the Liberty bond will cover very much that they were induced to the offer of the parties who hold out to them such bright prospects of doubling their money. A government bond in the hand is worth a basket full of unknown oil or mining stock.
