Bob Shawkey Holds Browns to Seven Hits and Yanks Win First of Series

Sisler Returns to Game and Ties Cobb's Mark

New York Hurler Beats Shocker Throughout Initial Contest of "Little World Series."

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—Bob Shawkey was better than Urban Shocker ni a pitchers' battle, and the New York Yankees defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1, today in the first game of a three-game series, which it is generally believed will decide the championship of the American league. The victory put the visitors a game and a half in the lead.

Allowing only seven hits and issuing no bases on balls, Shawkey was supreme throughout in his battle with Shocker, who was touched for nine hits and two walks.

Sisler Ties Record.

New York counted its first run in the second inning when Meusel singled, went to second on Jacobson's fumble, advanced to third on Ward's sacrifice and scored on Scott's single. The visitors counted their second marker in the third on Dugan's single, Ruth's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Pipp. The Browns scored in the sixth on Gerber's single, Shocker's infield out and singles by Tobin and Foster. Sisler hit into a double play in this inning, preventing furthe rscoring by the locals.

Sisler's two-base hit in the fourth inning marked the fortieth consecutive time game in which the Brown's first baseman has hit. His performance tied the major league record for hitting in consecutive games, hung up by Ty Cobb of the Detroit Americans in 1911.

Big Crowd Attends.

Sisler resumed his position today zitter an absence of several days, due to an injured shoulder, which seemed to bother him considerably while throwing and batting.

A crowd which filled almost every available foot of space inside the park and which swarmed on the playing field at times, viewed the contest. Many fans were refused admittance shortly before the game started. Some of the fans had waited outside the park from Friday night until noon today to see the contest, which resembled a world series in many respects.

From Jockey to Ring Battler

Jimmie LeFort, former bang-tail pilot and knight of the stuffed gauntlet, now disabled soldier at Bellevue hospital.

MR. AND MRS. OMAHA step right up and meet Jimmie LeFort, former jockey and bantamweight pugilist, but late of the A. E. F.

Jimmie is a familiar figure around the Ak-Sar-Ben race track during the fall festival meeting. Several years ago Jimmie was one of the best bang-tail pilots in the business. During his career as a jockey LeFort raced on all the big time tracks of the country and it was not until he was "set down" that he joined the ranks of the sock 'em and absorb. His rise as a bantamweight wasn't very rapid, in fact it came to a quick ending one night.

Following his short career as a pugilist, LeFort joined the ranks of the newspaper men, and it was at Dodge City, Kan., that he advanced from the ranks of the reporters to managing editor of the Dodge City paper.

When Uncle Sam toook a hand in the big fuss across the creek LeFort enlisted in the First Gas regiment. After nine weeks' enlistment Jimmie was in the trenches. In the Argonne a German machine gun mowed the Yanks down in rapid fashion, and it was during one of these machine gun barrages that LeFort got "caught." After spending seveeral weeks in a hospital LeFort was stamped "fit for duty" and again sent back to the trenches. The second time "up there" he was unable to escape a gas attack and another German machine gun bullet. The result was that LeFort was sent back to the United States on a stretcher. He has been under the care of army physicians since arriving in the "states" and at the present is quartered at the Bellevue Nebraska Veterans' Institution for Disabled Soldiers. He has been extended an invitation by Secretary Trimble of the Ak-Sar-Ben and last week was busy renewing old acquaintances among the "jocks" and race followers.
