Market, Financial and Industrial News of the Day

Omaha Grain

Omaha, Sept. 25.

The Liverpool wheat market was sharply lower this morning and our grain market followed the trend of the foreign market, all grains going to a lower level. The war talk was of a more assuring nature and caused holders to let go and bears to become more aggressive.

Receipts at Omaha totaled 295 cars, consisting of 169 cars of wheat, 64 cars of corn, 55 cars of oats, 5 cars of rye and barley. Shipments totaled 126 cars, as compared with 212 cars a year ago.

Sales of cash wheat were made at 1 to 2c lower, the market being generally 2c lower. Corn sold ½c lower; oats were ½@1½c lower; rye was quoted 1½c lower, and barley unchanged, quality considered.

Chicago Grain

Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—More peaceful news from the near east was reflected in a sharp break in grain prices. While the finish was on a rally, due to short covering, wheat closed 1⅞@2c lower.

Coarse grains showed stubborn resistance to pressure and rallied with wheat, corn closing ¾c lower on September and unchanged to ¼c higher on the deferred deliveries, while oats were unchanged to ¼c lower. Rye finished 1⅞@2⅛c lower.

At the inside price wheat here was off 2⅛@2⅞c from Saturday's finish and 6⅛@6½c under the high of last week. General selling was in evidence from the start, with liquidation by local and outside longs and also persistent selling by houses with northwestern connections, partly representing spreading between this market and Winnipeg. The latter showed pronounced weakness, with hedging sales in October and December a factor.

Drop at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg December dropped to around 10c under Chicago, the greatest difference so far, and the close there was 2⅝@3⅛c lower. The most effective support came from houses that were the best sellers on last week's bulge. Liverpool closed 1½d lower, a decrease of 4,600,000 bushels on ocean passage, offsetting to some extent the better political news. Export demand was only fair. Receipts, 116 cars.

Hedging sales of September corn purchases in the sample market had a depressing effect on that delivery, but the undertone in the deferred deliveries was firm the greater part of the day. The early selling was in sympathy with wheat, but was quickly absorbed and many of the local traders were on the bull side. Receipts of 792 cars sold readily, with the basis about unchanged as compared with September.

September oats had a range of 1c and fluctuated rapidly on light trading. Deferred deliveries in the main reflected the action of other grains, although closing on a rally in sympathy with the September. A moderate decrease in the visible has little effect. Cash demand, fairly good, with 50,000 bushels sold to exporters. Receipts, 149 cars.

Houses with northwestern connections were on the selling side of rye, and with support mainly of a local character, the finish was about the bottom. The two northwestern markets received 214 cars.

Pit Notes.

Sentiment among wheat traders generally was bearish after the close, but there was still a noticeable disposition to go slow on account of the unsettled foreign situation. Considerable evening up was under way at the last.

A local operator calls attention to the fact that total supplies of wheat in the United States, visible and afloat, for Europe are down to 44,000,000 bushels, or 40,000,000 bushels less than last year. Supplies on the continent are regarded as less than at this season of 1921.

"In the last two weeks probably 40,000,000 bushels cash wheat have been brought into sight in the Canadian northwest," said J. S. Bache & Co. "With a light speculative trade, the question naturally arises as to who bought the hedges on this grain. The only answer would seem to be that foreigners have done so."

Contract stocks of wheat in public elevators in Chicago Saturday night aggregated 657,000 bushels; corn, 775,000 bushels, and oats, 1,696,000 bushels. For the week wheat increased 149,000 bushels, corn 396,000 bushels and oats decreased 18,000 bushels.

Congestion continues at Buffalo. The situation there is regarded as rather serious, despite the recently announced plan by the railroads to try to get grain to New York for export.

Farmers in central and western Kansas have been bid $5 to 95 cents per bushel for their wheat, but arrivals at interior stations last week were small. The car shortage continues to be acute over a good part of the western grain belt.

Foreign and domestic demand for lard and meats continues unabated. Dry salted meats were marked up ¼@½ cents a pound, buyers paying the advance. Hams continue to sell at unusually low figures and are obtainable around 16½c a pound, compared with 14 cents paid for bellies. Buyers were bidding slightly less than asking price for hams.

Cash corn handlers estimate that about 50 per cent of the 792 cars received here today were applied on contracts to arrive.

New York Cotton.

New York, Sept. 25.—Cotton futures were reactionary today. An opening bulge of 4 to 10 points was quickly lost on selling by southern and New Orleans interests. Selling pressure was not heavy until the last hour, when it was mostly near month liquidation prior to October notice day. The list sold off until, at the close, which was near the low. Prices were 16 to 29 points net lower.

Spot—Quiet; 25 points decline, 21.15c for middling upland.

New York Coffee.

New York, Sept. 25.—The firmer showing of Brazil led to some covering at the opening of the market for futures here today and first prices were 5 points lower to 4 points higher; the early sales ranging from 3 to 9 points above last week's closing quotations. There was very little demand, however, and December contracts eased off from 3.32c to 3.26c after the early buying orders had been supplied, closing at that figure. The general market closed net 2 points higher to 3 points lower. Sales were estimated at about 21,000 bags. October, 3.11c; December, 3.26c; January, 3.21c; March, 3.29c; May, 3.28c; July, 3.22c.

Cattle—Receipts, 21,000 head. Although the supply of cattle Monday was the heaviest of the season the demand for beef was broad and best grades, both corn-fed and grassers, sold readily at fully steady prices. Prime yearlings brought $10.50@10.85, and prime western rangers, $8.00@8.50. On the ordinary grades of both beef steers and butcher stock the trade was very slow and prospects were that prices would be lower before the day was done. The same was true as to stockers and feeders, strictly choice kinds selling well, as high as $7.25@8.25, and commoner lots moving slowly at more or less shaded prices.

Financial

NEW YORK TIMES.

Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

New York, Sept. 25.—Whether the changing phases of the controversy between Turkey and the entente allies, and between the allies themselves over the terms of compromise with Turkey, are or are not the present governing influence on financial sentiment, the movement on the surface of the markets apparently responds to news from the negotiations. It could hardly be otherwise, when the buying or selling under which the markets fluctuate comes almost wholly from professional speculators.

A year ago the attitude was the same; all that could be inferred from the day-to-day action of the financial markets was that the public at large would neither sell when prices were then forced down by professional operators, nor buy when prices were bid up. From this position there was practically no change until the rise of the foreign exchanges, the fall in money rates and the subsequent notable broadening of the market for investment bonds gave a new color to the financial situation.

Tendency Not Plain.

The probability is that the character of this coming season's events in all of these directions will determine the general attitude of the financial public. As yet, with the possible exception of foreign exchange, the tendency is not plain in any of them, and even the weakness of foreign exchanges, compared with a year ago, is commonly ascribed to the larger magnitude of the necessary autumn purchases of our grain and cotton by Europe.

The trend of today's stock market was upward from the start and most stocks closed around the best prices of the day. But the advance was factional as a rule, gains of a point or more were not very numerous and there were some declines.

The agreements on the concessions to be granted on the Turkish government doubtless had a hand in the recovery; not, however, to the extent of causing anything like enthusiasm. Even the French republic bonds, which advanced ¼ to ½ in the early trading, ended practically at last week's prices and the United Kingdom bonds closed slightly lower. There was no uniformity of movement in the prices of government issues in London and Paris. They advanced in the one market and declined in the other.

In Liberty bonds half the group showed small advances and the others proportionate reactions.
