Omaha Grain

Omaha, Nov. 2.

Liverpool cables were firm today and there was a better export demand for wheat and corn. The domestic demand also showed signs of improving. Receipts were heavier, but the demand takes care of the increased offerings.

Receipts at Omaha totaled 252 cars and included 148 cars of wheat and compared with a total of only 22 cars last year. Total shipments were 87 cars, against 79 cars last year.

There was a good demand for spot wheat on the Omaha floor and prices were a cent higher. Corn was unchanged to 1 cent up, the mixed showing the greatest strength. Oats were unchanged to a half cent up. Rye was 1½ cents higher and barley was nominally unchanged.

Grain markets will close November 7, election day, and November 11, Armistice day.

Chicago Grain

By CHARLES D. MICHAELS.
Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—While May wheat and rye sold at new high figures for the season and December wheat at a new high on the present upturn, the grain markets lacked sufficient breadth to keep them continually on the upgrade and with profit taking and selling by local traders, who thought there had been advance enough for the time being, the finish on all grains was around the bottom.

At the last, wheat was 1-8c to 2-8c lower, corn 1-8c to 1-4c higher, oats up 1-4c to 3-8c and rye 7-8c. At the outside figure wheat showed 2 1-8c to 4 1-2c over the low of the previous day and corn 3c to 3 1-4c, with December leading in both instances.

Technically, the market was regarded as in shape for a setback, as the outside trade has not witnessed the advance to any great extent, and while there was fair commission house buying early, the most effective selling of wheat was by the best buyers of the previous day, which ultimately had an effect upon values, but not until after December touched $1.17 5-8, with a decline to $1.16 later.

Exporters Take Corn.

December corn went to a fraction over May again, but the bulge brought out heavy profit-taking and the finish was on a good reaction. Several local professionals who have been very bearish of late liquidated on the advance, but there was a good class of buying on the setback. Cash premium were slightly easier with sales of 245,000 bushels to exporters. Receipts, 157 cars.

Bulk of the trade oats was in spreading between the December and the May, a local cash house selling the December and buying the deferred delivery. Cash demand was fair with receipts, 102 cars.

A big trade was done in rye, those with export connections free buyers and a liberal business was put through in the west and at the seaboard with a local house selling 250,000 bushels to exporters. Charters have been made for 740,000 bushels from Duluth to Chicago as December rye here is selling about 10 cents premium.

Pit Notes.

Grain and stock exchanges will have two holidays next week. Tuesday will be election day in many states and Saturday will be armistice day and a legal holiday. Banks will also be closed.

Profits were too inviting to holders of wheat and corn to resist after a bulge of 4½c on wheat, and 2¾c on corn from the low this week and a setback resulted. The selling was of a good class around 117 to 117⅛ for December wheat, and a break of 1⅛c brought in equally good buying by strong interests of May at 112. Traders at the last said they looked for a further recession before another sharp upturn.

It was said at the close there was no change in the basic position in grains, but with the trade not broadening as fast as many holders would like, the disposition is to sell on bulges. Those who are bearish believe this is the safest, but they are not following declines very far. The break in futures and cash premiums put the market in a healthier position, and those who believe in higher prices, said any further drop should bring good buying and a rally.

Omaha hard winter, which has been 3 to 4 cents over Chicago December, has declined and was reported selling at 2c discount. Liberal sales have been made from that market of late. An Omaha grain man says that not over 50 per cent of the plowing has been done for winter wheat so far.

Broomhall says there is no doubt that the poor quality of the northern continental wheat crop makes it necessary to use more foreign wheat than last year.

NEW YORK TIMES.
Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

New York, Nov. 2.—Today was one of those occasional days on which a number of interesting movements, not all related to one another, occur simultaneously. Recovery on the Stock Exchange, much more emphatic than the brief upward reaction of last Friday, gave pretty plain evidence of retreat by speculators for the decline.

Liberty bonds moved smartly upward, the fourth 4 1-4 per cents going 3-8 point for the day and reaching a price nearly a full point above last week's low figure. Both the wheat market and the cotton market moved into new high ground for the present crop season, cotton almost touching the 25-cent price, which it crossed on the downgrade on October 2, 1920. The reserve system's weekly statement showed reduction of 1 5-8 per cent in ratio of reserve; a result of $118,000,000 increase of rediscounts, apparently in preparation for the large "November settlements" of inland trade.

Marks Lower.

While the foreign exchange market, as a whole, again moved irregularly, the German mark found a new low level of depreciation in the price of .0018¾.

The advance on the Stock Exchange, which began with the opening of business and continued with little interruption up to the closing, was the most considerable that has occurred on any day since professional speculation for the rise broke down in the first week of October. It gave the impression that the decline has legitimately terminated with the break in prices of a week ago, but that resistance by the "bears" is stiffening and the momentum which the downward movement had acquired had been able for a time to prevent continuing recovery.

How far even today's recovery will be carried must depend chiefly on the size of outstanding commitments for the decline. The market certainly has ceased to indicate anything in the underlying situation; even the period of particularly active use of credit was approaching its end and rates of term loans had remained at the lowest figure of any corresponding period since 1916. No doubt we shall presently be hearing of the new and vigilant "inflation boom," which is about to sweep the stock market upward. But that is a different story. What has been happening in the past four weeks was not artificial interruption of a normal rise, but readjustment of an overdone and "over-discounted situation."
