Boston Wool.

Boston, July 1.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:
"There has been a fair business in wool during the week. Prices are generally firm, although bright wools are possibly a bit on the easy side and scoured wools are less active. In the west there has been steady operating at firm prices. Naturally the chief topic of discussion is the proposed tariff. Although it is deemed too early as yet to say what it's effect really will be on the wool textile industry, some of the rates on manufactured goods manifestly are low. The domestic mill situation is fairly healthy, with increased operations reported from some of the larger worsted mills."
