A Feast of Merchandise

You have been invited before this to attractive bargain offerings in this big store. But we feel safe in saying that never during our 42 years of efforts to serve our customers have they had offered to them a feast of high class merchandise at low prices such as we will offer in our Great Progress Sale beginning Monday. Foreign as well as domestic buyers for The Brandeis Store were instructed months ago to buy, in large lots and for cash, the very best merchandise obtainable for this sale. We may say without hesitation that they succeeded so admirably and even beyond our fondest expectations that we desire to make this public acknowledgement of their good and effective work. Every department in this store will participate in this sale. The assortment is as varied as it is large, the merchandise is of the best and the prices the lowest that could be made by buying for cash and in large lots. Read this advertisement carefully. You will recognize at a glance that we are offering you in our Progress Sale, values unprecendented in local history. Numerous as the offerings advertised are merely suggestions of other bargains which will be found in every department during this great sale. From day to day new bargains will be advertised and from day to day new shipments will arrive and they will all be offered at prices that will emphasize our determination to make our 1923 Progress Sale one of the high marks in our history of value giving.
