Mr. Krzyger had resigned from his place at the head of the school on the previous Sunday. He has held the position for a number of years and thought some younger person should now take up the work. Such a spirit of good fellowship was created, however, that Mr. Krzyger consented to retain his place. Mr. Krzyger was presented with a beautiful umbrella.
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sunde and family, of Soldier, Ia., were the guests of Mrs. Sunde's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manning, of Walker's Island, a few days this week. They came from Soldier in Mr. Sunde's automobile. The start was made on the return trip Tuesday, but the weather was so cold the machine would not work very well, so the homeward journey was postponed a day or so.
The Consumers Ice company has a large force of men at work at their Crystal Lake plant this week. The snow snap brought by the ice man's heart. Ice at the lake is now over 12 inches thick and the quality is fine. On Tuesday the company lost another valuable horse. The animal broke through the ice. While he was rescued alive, the shock was too much for him and he died of exposure. He was valued at $200. This is the second horse the Consumers Ice company has lost at the lake. The other had its legs broken by falling ice.
The South Sioux City car on the traction company's line now runs down Third street to Pierce and north a block on that road to Davidson's corner, landing passengers on the east side of that street instead of on the north, as before. This change was made to avoid making extensive repairs to the bridges across Perry creek and to avoid paying the city large sums for the use of other bridges that had to be used. The new route is very handy for passengers destined to the uptown districts to shop, but for passengers who like to take the scenic route, the street until the last minute it will not be so convenient. The car makes just as good, if not better time, over the new route, so complaints are few.
About the middle of the afternoon on New Year's day, smoke was seen issuing from the Frank Ammerman home, two blocks west of the combination bridge approach in the north part of town. The ladies of the neighborhood gathered at the house and finding that none of the family were at home, they broke in and succeeded in taking out most of the furniture and family belongings. Mrs. Ammerman was in the city visiting and Mr. Ammerman was at work in the Armour packing plant. No clue has been found as to the origin of the fire. The kitchen approach in the north was destroyed, but the neighbors succeeded in quenching the blaze before the main part of the building was in flames. Several apartments in the building were quite badly burned. The damage is estimated at about $250. Insurance was carried. Mr. and Mrs. Ammerman are very thankful for the neighbors for their kind assistance. At present they are boarding in Sioux City.

CONGRESS HURLS BACK PRESIDENT'S BIG STICK
Special Committee of House Presents Report Refusing to Accept Roosevelt's Attack.
REPLY VITRIOLIC IN EXTREME
Charges Are Titled Disrespectful—'Dangerous to Destroy Confidence in Lawmakers.'
Congress has hurled the "big stick" back at President Roosevelt. In the House of Representatives Thursday afternoon a bitter attack was made on the chief executive. A special committee appointed to deal with the President's message on the secret service, submitted Monday, brought in its report, which is vitriolic in the extreme. The report and the resolution accompanying it were thought likely to make the President furious, for they say in effect:
"Portions of the message are beneath the dignity of Congress and should not be received."
"These portions constitute a breach of the privileges of the house."
"It is dangerous to the republic that the confidence of the people should be impaired in those who enact the laws, and it is for this reason that the duty devolves on the lawmakers not to allow the integrity of their motives to be lightly questioned."
"He it resolved, That the House in the exercise of its constitutional prerogatives declines to consider any communication from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful."
The committee caused a sensation by its recommendation that the "objectionable portion of the President's message be laid on the table" and that similar action be taken with respect to the message of last Monday because of its being "unresponsive to the inquiry of the house" as to what the President meant when he said, referring to the limitation placed on the field of operations of the secret service, that the "chief argument in favor of the provision was that the Congressmen did not themselves wish to be investigated."
When Chairman Perkins of the special committee arose to make his report, he faced an almost full membership, while the galleries were packed with interested spectators. Messrs. Tawney, Smith of Iowa, Sherry and Fitzgerald were on the floor, prepared to resent what they deemed to be the insinuations of the President on them as members of the committee on appropriation. They were not alone in their indignation. The feelings of other members had been growing more intense.
VOLUNTEERS JOIN CRUSADERS.
Ten Thousand Follow Cleveland in Trying to Live Like Christ.
The movement begun on a recent Sunday by 1500 young people of Cleveland to live for two weeks as Jesus would, has assumed a scope far beyond the expectations of its promoters. It is city-wide and is spreading to nearby towns. Fully 10,000 volunteers have unofficially joined the movement by attempting the test and pledging themselves to walk in His steps. Even the city officials are taking an interest in the question of what Jesus would do if He were a city official. Many interesting experiences have been related by those who have completed the first week's test. Some claim they cannot carry the practice into business. Others say they can. The test also has brought out a host of critics, some praising, others condemning the idea. Church people are encouraging the trial and pleading for its continuance. The scoffers say the effort, which is being made mostly by church members, should be unnecessary, as it implies a past hypocrisy.
WOMAN HELD AS EMBEZZLER.
Ex-Cashier of Packing Firm Charged with Stealing $4,000.
Miss Nellie O'Donnell, aged 30, a former cashier and bookkeeper for the Schwarzschild and Sulzberger Beef and Provision Company, was arrested in Kansas City on a charge of embezzling $4,000 in a bond. According to the police, Miss O'Donnell has made a complete confession. Miss O'Donnell asserts that she does not know why she took the money. Frank O'Dowd, also a former bookkeeper for the company, was arrested soon after Miss O'Donnell. The police assert that O'Dowd signed a statement admitting having received $300 from Miss O'Donnell. O'Dowd resigned his position shortly after the fire and went into the cigar business. Miss O'Donnell also left the company and became his clerk. In her confession Miss O'Donnell says O'Dowd did not know that she had embezzled the money.
WOMAN DEAD; FAMILY IS HELD
Police Say Skull Was Crushed Before Fire Was Started.
Mrs. Sarah Costerlin was found dead from burns and other injuries in her home on the Shark river shore near Asbury Park, N. J., and the county authorities are investigating the case on the theory that she was murdered. Mrs. Costerlin's two daughters, Rose Vaughn Layton and Mrs. Mamie Gunson, together with James Layton and Ervin Hoffman, are held without bail. According to statements made by the prisoners, Mrs. Costerlin's charred body was found lying in the kitchen. Her face and breast were burned, but little of her clothing was burned, and nothing in the room took fire. According to the police, the woman's nose was broken and her skull crushed in before her clothing was set on fire.
STORE IS DYNAMITED AGAIN.
Second Attempt Made to Destroy the Building Occupied as Store.
For the second time in two years an attempt has been made to destroy the building occupied by Viviano Bros. in St. Louis by exploding a stick of dynamite in the cellar. The glass fronts of three store buildings were blown out as the windows in a stable across the street were shattered. The Viviano brothers live with their families in rooms over the store. They assisted the police in the investigation. They said that they had received no threatening letters.

MINE EXPLOSION KILLS 24.
Mysterious Blast Not Felt on Surface Takes Toll in Human Life.
The series of mishaps in Joe Leiter's famous million-dollar colliery at Ziegler, Ill., during the last few years reached a climax shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning when a mysterious explosion killed twenty-four men. Nineteen bodies have been recovered, five are missing and are undoubtedly dead and two are injured critically. This is the second serious disaster in the Ziegler Coal Company's property which has been the scene of several minor fatalities and where for more than two years a desperate labor war was waged as the result of a strike. An explosion in 1905 killed thirty-five men at work in the mine.
Joseph Leiter and his bride of half a year were there when the explosion happened, having come to town several weeks ago to direct the fight on a fire in the workings which, after a long battle, was got under control Friday night. The first coal hoisted out of the shaft in more than six weeks was brought up Saturday, and it was expected to put the full force of men to work during the next few days.
The explosion was remarkable in that except for the many dead it left scarcely a trace of its work, and the interior of the mine shows no sign of damage.
No sound was heard by the residents of Ziegler to warn of the disaster almost beneath their feet, and even those at the mouth of the shaft at first did not realize what had happened deep in the workings.
A small puff of black smoke was seen to issue from the mouth of the mine, but it soon dissipated in the air. The engineer, who saw the smoke, forced something was wrong, and summoning assistance, an investigation was begun.
Men were sent down the shaft and there discovered what had happened. Scattered through the workings where they had been engaged were found the members of the night shift of miners, all dead but two. Many of the bodies brought from the mine were mutilated almost beyond recognition. Two of the victims were natives of Franklin County and a majority of the others were of foreign birth.
The exact cause of the explosion, it is hoped, will be disclosed by a thorough inquiry, but at present it is shrouded in mystery, for to all appearances the workings had never been in better condition than Saturday and no gas was apparent or suspected.
CONFESSION FREE PATRICK?
Valet Said to Have Deathbed Statement Ready.
John T. Milliken, the St. Louis millionaire, brother-in-law of Albert T. Patrick, now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the slaying of Millionaire William M. Rice, has started for Texas to take what is reported to be a deathbed confession of the murder which convicted Lawyer Patrick of murder and gained freedom for the valet. The confession, said to have been made in the fear of death, which Jones is rapidly approaching from consumption, caused Mr. Milliken, Patrick's wife, and other friends to hurry to New York, where the former held a long consultation with District Attorney Jerome in an apparent effort to pave the way for a new trial and for the acquittal of Patrick.
PRICE OF BROOMS TO GO UP.
Wholesale Rate Has Increased 50 Cents a Dozen During Year.
The closing session of the Association of Broom Manufacturers in Chicago was attended by delegates to the Broom Corn Shippers' Association, which also had been in session. A general advance in brooms and the products of broom corn, owing to the shortage in the broom corn crop, will be made, according to some of those at the meeting, which was held behind closed doors. State Senator William A. Gardner, of Amsterdam, N. Y., who presided, said the wholesale price of brooms had increased 50 cents a dozen during 1908. "Farmers have found that raising broom corn is not as profitable as raising Indian corn," he said. "Broom corn must be harvested and handled entirely by hand, while the other variety is cultivated by machinery."
FORTY SLAIN AT WORSHIP.
Ancient Church in Switzerland Collapsed, Injuring Scores.
During divine service Sunday an ancient church near Sion, Switzerland, suddenly collapsed, burying the worshippers in the ruins. Practically all the members of the congregation were killed or injured. Those who escaped were thrown into a wild panic, rushing through the fields shouting that an earthquake had overtaken the village. Other villagers joined in the outcry and were with difficulty calmed. After an hour's exertions the fire company extricated forty corpses, but it is believed that there are still more under the timbers. Sixty persons were badly injured. The collapse of the church was caused by the time-worn pillars in the underground crypt giving way.

SUICIDE FINAL SCENE OF CHURCH TRAGEDY
Pastor Carmichael, Haunted by His Deed, Ends Life at Carthage, Ill.
Hypnotic Spell He Seeks to End Given by Michigan Preacher as Motive for Deed.
Rev. John Haviland Carmichael, who murdered a simple-minded carpenter, Gideon Browning, in a church at Rattle Run, Mich., and cremated the body in a stove, ended his life in Carthage, Ill., Monday, leaving a remarkable confession. Carmichael cut his throat with a pocket knife, lingering several hours after he was discovered lying in a pool of blood in a shed near the boarding-house run by Miss Miranda Hughes.
The confession, written in a letter to Sheriff Wagensell of St. Clair County, Michigan, pleading hypnotism first and self-defense finally, is a thrilling narration of the terrible church tragedy which aroused the inhabitants of lower Michigan and shocked the reading public.
It is the story of a man under the hypnotic spell of another who played upon his fears, haunted his dreams, overpowered his will and finally lured him under false pretense, the guise of wishing to be married, to the church, where, afraid to flee, he was forced to slay to preserve his own life.
Carmichael's detailed account of the death of his victim is a blood-curdling as the most sanguinary tale from a dime novelist's imagination. He told of a terrible struggle, Browning armed with two knives and a hatchet attacking him after laughing at the trap in which he had snared him. Incoherently the preacher wrote the word story of a man, who rebelled against the weakness of his own will as it was juggled fendishly at the whim of an ungodly mind, until reason broke into fury at the sound of laughing mockery and the sight of a grinning idiot claiming mastery over him, intent upon his slaughter.
Carmichael arrived in Carthage Friday night from Burlington, Iowa, whither he had gone from Chicago after flight from the scene of the tragedy. He sought lodging at the home of Miss M. Hughes, where he gave his name as John Elder. Haunted by the tragedy, he neither ate nor slept Saturday nor Sunday. Monday morning he paid his bill and prepared to leave. He put his suitcase in charge of the landlady, excusing himself, saying he would return within a few minutes. He went out the back door.
An hour later Miss Hughes heard scuffling in the shed. There she discovered Carmichael prostrate in a pool of blood. Physicians worked heroically to save him, but he would not be necessarily fatal, but exposure to the cold and loss of blood had so weakened the man that he expired shortly after noon.
In Carmichael's suitcase were found letters addressed to the sheriff of St. Clair County and to his life at Adair, Mich. The letter to the sheriff, addressed to Port Huron, Mich., contained a complete account of the murder from the dead man's point of view. His words clearly indicate that his own mind was turned by the awfulness of his experience.
ROCK RENT BY EXPLOSION.
Strong Flow of Gas Afterwards Makes Investigation Impossible.
A second mysterious explosion, apparently some distance beneath the surface, took place on the farm of D. E. Livengood, ten miles south of Sandusky, Ohio, where workmen have been engaged for some time in clearing away forest and underbrush with a view to opening up a stone quarry. The first explosion rent the rock for a distance of forty feet, leaving a gap six inches in width midway between the ends and of unfathomable depth. Following the second explosion, which opened up another gap of about the same length and width of the first, some twenty feet to the south, there was noticeable a strong odor of gas, as a result of which men employed on the premises were unable to work. Mr. Livengood is about ready to believe that oil and gas are to be found on his farm in valuable quantities. He refuses to lease and is seriously thinking of abandoning his stone quarry plans and of drilling oil and gas wells instead.
Ends Life as Officer Waits.
Harry C. Dunham, a prominent real estate agent of Minneapolis, committed suicide by shooting himself at his home. The man's deed was prompted by the fact that he was about to be arrested on a charge of embezzlement, as a result of an investigation which has been carried on by Chicago parties.

PITCHFORK VS. BIG STICK.
Tillman in Defense Says He Did Nothing Wrong in Land Deal.
The unprecedented spectacle of a Senator of the United States defending his honor before his colleagues against an attack by the President was presented in Washington Monday.
Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina denied President Roosevelt's charge that he had used his official position for his private benefit, or that he had made a false statement to his fellow-members regarding western land transactions. The times of the "pitchfork" had been sharpened anew and the recent onslaught of the "big stick" was returned with the South Carolina Senator's old-time skill.
Mr. Tillman accused the President of

PANAMA TO PAY FOR FREEDOM.
United States Will Forfeit Money Promised to Colombia.
It was learned in Washington the other night that negotiations have just been concluded between the governments of the United States, Colombia and Panama whereby all matters in controversy between them are settled. Colombia recognizes the independence of Panama, which agrees to pay to Colombia $2,500,000 in annual installments of $250,000 for ten years as her share of the Colombian national debt. The United States agrees to furnish this money to Panama in accordance with terms of the existing treaty between the United States and Panama, the first payment to be made nine years after date of the treaty. The treaty also permanently fixes the boundary line between Colombia and Panama.

ORDERS SIX TO GALLOWES.
Night Riders Sentenced to Pay Extreme Penalty for Murder.
Without a tremor six men of Reelfoot Lake heard judgment passed in Union City, Tenn., condemning them to pay with their lives the penalty for the part they had in the putting to death of Captain Quentin Ranken at Walnut Log, the deed of a band of so-called night riders, of which the six men were declared to be the leaders. Whatever may have been their emotion, they faced the court to receive sentence with the same stoical expression that has been their marked characteristic during the sensational trial of which this action was the climax.
When court convened the room was crowded with people from Reelfoot Lake. The motion of the defense for a new trial was promptly overruled by Judge Jones. Then amid a death-like quiet, the six men, Garret Johnson, Sam Applewhite, Tid Burton, Roy Ransom, Arthur Cloar and Fred Plinton, convicted of murder in the first degree, each in his turn, faced Judge Jones to hear the sentence of the court setting Friday, Feb. 19, as the day of their execution.
WOMEN ACQUITTED OF MURDER.
Mrs. Erb and Mrs. Beisel, Sisters, Are Set Free at Media, Pa.
Mrs. M. Florence Erb and Mrs. Catherine Beisel, charged with the murder of Capt. J. Clayton Erb, husband of the former, were acquitted in Media, Pa., after the jury had been out nearly eighteen hours. At 9:45 o'clock the jury came in and asked for further instructions on the question of self-defense. One of the jurors asked what Mrs. Beisel was justified in doing when Capt. Erb threatened her. Judge Johnson said: "It is for the jury to say what was the condition of her mind. If it was necessary for her to shoot to save her life or herself from great bodily harm, or if she thought so, she had a right to shoot. The law is that a person must escape if he can before shooting. It is for you to decide whether Mrs. Beisel had that opportunity."
THIS MAY BE A DOUBLE MURDER.
Mystery Surrounds the Deaths of W. G. Brault, a Salesman of 1403 Tower Grove Avenue, St. Louis, and his wife, who were found dead in bed in their room in Kansas City. There was a distinct odor of chloroform in the room when the police entered to investigate the deaths, but no other evidence that the drug had been used was found. The coroner asserts that Mrs. Brault killed her husband and then committed suicide. Friends of the couple, on the other hand, believe that the pair were murdered. Brault was 45 years of age. He came several weeks ago from St. Louis and engaged in the baking powder business.

It will have but one entrance and one exit, an employee not being permitted to enter and leave again without a pass.

GROOMING COUNTS
But it cannot make a Fair Skin or a Glossy Coat.
Women with good complexion count on being lovely. Creams, lotions, washes and powders cannot make a fair skin. Every horse knows that the best skin coat is that which comes from the animal's "all-right" condition.
Let the horse get "his feet" and his coat turns dull. Currying, brushing and rubbing will give him a clean coat, but cannot produce the coveted smoothness and gloss of the horse's skin, which is his completion. The ladies will see the point.
