the full confidence of the Well-Informed of the World and the Commendation of the most eminent physicians it was essential that the component parts of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna should be known to and approved by them; therefore, the California Fig Syrup Co. publishes a full statement with every package. The perfect purity and uniformity of product, which they demand in a laxative remedy of an ethical character, are assured by the Company's original method of manufacture known to the Company only.

The figs of California are used in the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna to promote the pleasant taste, but the medicinal principles are obtained from plants known to act most beneficially.

To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Peppermint and Tobacco.
If you have a boy who has begun smoking too early and whom you wish to cure of the habit, feed him peppermints. Dr. O. Clayton Jones of Silverton, England, writing in the London Lancet, is authority for this simple cure. Dr. Jones writes: "To break the smoking habit in a youth there is nothing better than peppermint drops. He cannot smoke with a 'bullseye' in his mouth, and even for some time after it is dissolved tobacco will not blend kindly with the taste that remains. Socially the cure may seem worse than the disease, but from a medical point of view the sucking of peppermints is far less hurtful. A common 'bullseye' will prevent smoking for nearly an hour, so the amount of sweets used need not be great."

Short-Sighted.
"Why don't you farmers do something to improve your roads?"
"What for?" asked the old settler.
"It would improve the value of your farms."
"Yes; and the more value we get up, the more taxes we might have to pay."

FARMER WESTERN CANADA

As further inducement to settlement of the Wheat Raising lands of Western Canada, the Canadian Government has increased the area that may be taken by a homesteader to 320 acres—160 free and 160 to be purchased at $3.00 per acre. These lands are in the grain raising area, where fixed farming is also carried on with unsupervised success.

A railway will shortly be built to Hudson Bay, bringing the world's market a thousand miles nearer those wheat fields, where the schools and churches are convenient, climate excellent, railways close to all settlements and local markets good.

CURE

The Tricksters.

"Political tricksters always give themselves away," said a Congressman. "Their methods remind me of the two men who wanted to sell their corpses for dissection. These two men, miserably clad, called on the dean of a medical college in New York.

"We are both on the verge of starvation, sir," the spokesman said. "We are well on in years, and it is clear that we haven't much longer to live. Would you care to purchase our bodies for your dissecting room?"

"The dean hesitated. "It is an odd proposition," he muttered. "But it is occasionally done," said the spokesman, in an eager voice.

"Well," said the dean, "we might arrange it. What price do you ask?"
"Over in Philadelphia," said the spokesman, "they give us $40."—New York Tribune.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Cause for Gratitude.

The benevolent looking old gentleman on the seat in front turned around and spoke to the mother of the little cherub whose sticky fingers had been smearing chocolate cream on his bald head.

"Are there any more at home like him?" he asked, with a genial smile.

The Master's Title.

Professor Key when head master of a large London school was one of the most genial gentlemen that ever filled that position. He was fond of encouraging fun in his boys and was not unwilling to recount occasionally during class time when anything prompted it the manners and customs of countries he had visited. On one occasion he was telling his class about Spain and said:

"Do you know, boys, that when a man attains to eminence there he is not called 'sir,' but is given the title of 'don'?"

"One of the boys here called out: 'Then I suppose, sir, they would call you Don Key?'"

The gravity of the class was completely upset for the remainder of the afternoon.—Strand Magazine.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN

How About It?

You vowed to be cheerful,
The test is to come,
Are you smiling this morning
Or moody and glum?

You vowed you'd endeavor
To spread smiles around;
What was it? Cold coffee,
I hear that you frowned.

You vowed to be patient:
Come now and confess,
Has she used your razor
To rip up a dress?

You vowed to be pleasant
To all you would meet;
What? She didn't say "Thanks"
When you gave up your seat?

You vowed you'd oblige,
Yet you growled over much
At the friend who came in
Just to make a small "touch."

O, these are the tests
That our good resolves end,
Come on and confess
How about it, my friend?

The Deadly Hatpin.

There ought to be a law that will prevent a 60-inch woman from wearing a 12-inch hatpin, and jeopardizing the eyes and even the life of every one within sticking reach of her. In the crowded elevated cars it is not unusual to see men frantically bobbing their heads about in a vain endeavor to get out of reach of the hatpins of the women in front of them. It is all very well to laugh at the victim who goes into the office with a long scratch on his cheek, and to ask him if he said to the lady: "Never mind, madam, I've another eye left." It is anything but blue or some other contrasting hue. The result is an elegance that fits the coat for evening as well as for day street wear.

Cord belts are the latest wrinkle in girdles. They come in almost any standard shade and are fastened in front with a huge colored stone of barbaric design. The belt is fully a yard and a half long, the ends hanging down in front.

Immensurably convenient to women who go out in all sorts of weather are the new full-length street coats of serge or worsted which have been crumpled to make them weather-proof. They are in dark blues, browns and other colors as well as black, and are close fitting and finished with velvet collars, making them suitable coats for clear weather as well as stormy.

The Mother's Part.

Boys have to fight battles to-day as their fathers before them. All modern teaching that children should not fight, that boys should be friendly to each other, is very well in theory, but the "bully" is still in existence to-day and the word "lar" is answered by a blow in the best-bred circles.

Boys should not get into fights for the sake of fighting, but every boy has to learn to take care of himself when he starts out in the world, with other boys.

As soon as the mother starts to side with her boy, to show sympathy for him and reprimand other boys for their brutality, she will have to stand for that boy's unpopularity and see him grow into a coward; but if she allows him to fight his own battles, even at the expense of a few bruises and a remarkable woman, and she has the distinction of being portrayed by Charles Reade in his "Woman-Hater."

The novelist made use of her plucky fight to enter the medical profession as a part of the theme of his story; and in commenting on the refusal of the male students to sit at medical lectures with her, he made the pertinent remark: "All her troubles ended—where her competitors began—at the public explanations."—Home Notes.

Ultra Modish Hat.

An extremely modish hat in all black is pictured in the cut. The shape is the corvay or mushroom type, in black velvet, with a long black silk scarf whose ends are finished with deep fringe, artistically draped around crown and falling over brim on left side.

To Clean All-Wool Fabrics.

laughable to the victim. A campaign against this murderous but unconvicted weapon has been instigated by the British newspapers, and a number of serious accidents are reported from London.

A lady there has been permanently blinded in one eye and an attendant in a store has had his face so badly injured that it was necessary to remove him to a hospital. There is much point to the question, in any event, and it deserves to stick in the public mind.

seratches, he will be worth while. The whimpering child who always runs to his "mother" with every offense has small chance in the big game of life to come.

A Girl's Allowance.

The sooner a girl is given an allowance, at any rate for the small items of dress, the better, as it teaches her to be careful in detail, the neglect of which so often mars a toilet. The dance or party frock is the first consideration. So many delightful impromptu occasions arise that to obtain sufficient variety is often a serious difficulty. The average girl certainly requires at least two good evening frocks, well cut, and, for the younger ones, of a style that admits of "doing up." Take, for instance, satin frocks. The girl of 17 should be possessed of a smart dance frock in plain tulle or satin. This, after the initial outlay, is a really economical purchase, since after a few visits to the cleaner's it can be turned into a foundation for another frock.

Woman, Lovely Woman.

Her waist begins just below her neck. Her hips have been planned off even with the rest of her body. She is usually buttoned up the back, and around her neck she wears a section of barbed wire, covered with lace. She wears on her head a blonde haystack of hair, and on top of this a central dome with rings about the same size as those of Saturn. She is swathed in her gown like an Indian papoose, and on the end of her feet are dabs of patent leather. She walks on stilts like a tight-rope dancer. The pores of her skin are full of fine white powder.—Harper's Weekly.

For Cleaning Furs.

Heat in the oven one-quarter of a peck of bran, place fur on clean table, take a handful of hot bran and rub into fur well, doing one part at a time. Continue this process—keeping bran hot all the time—until all the fur has been gone over, then take outside and shake vigorously until all bits of bran have fallen out. Fur will then look as good as new.

The First Woman Mayor.

Mrs. Garrett-Anderson, M. D., the newly-elected mayor of Alaburgh, Suffolk, is England's first lady mayor. Mrs. Anderson, who was elected to the Council last year, has been an M. D. (Paris) since 1870, in which year she served on the first London school board. She is cold water. Insert articles to be cleaned, let soak four hours. Then rinse in water containing four tablespoonfuls of borax and four tablespoonfuls of ammonia. Do not wring. The articles so cleaned will be just like new.

Transparent Sleeves.

It is rare to see a sleeve that is lined these days unless it is of rough cloth as a part of the waist fabric. Transparent sleeves are everywhere. They are of net, chiffon, flit, tulle and lace and are worn on cold days on the street under a coat.

They are conspicuously transparent, however, even in the house when the coat is removed. Added to their thinness—and this is the point—will be strips of the thickest fur to weigh them down.

Popular Designs in Tailor-Macs.

Two distinguished looking tailor-macs are shown in the accompanying cut. The first is made of elephant gray satin cloth, which fits the figure closely. The front is draped across the bust, and narrows into two shoulder straps, on the edges of which are cloth buttons and buttonholes. There is a curious little "vestment" of gray-blue cloth, and above this a tacked yoke of white net and jabot of saute. The sleeves are of the cloth laid in narrow tucks. The second suit is of taupe cloth, the skirt plain and the coat elaborated with wide and narrow soutache, button moths and button loops.

The Greenwich observatory will have to be moved. From year to year the magnetic observations made there have become less reliable because of the increasing traffic; and the impending establishment of large electric works in the immediate neighborhood will make it necessary to make the nautical calculations elsewhere.

CHILD HAD SIXTY BOILS

And Suffered Annually with a Red Scald-Like Humor on Her Head—Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Some time later a humor broke out behind her ears and spread up on to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

Whiskey for Rheumatism.

To one-half pint good whiskey, add one ounce syrup sarsaparilla, and one ounce Toris compound, which can be procured of any druggist. Take in teaspoonful doses before each meal and before retiring. Followed up, this is a sure remedy.

The fact that no death from hydrophobia has been recorded in England since 1902 is cited as an illustration of the preventive treatment of disease.

Bees and Their Baskets.

Every bee carries his market basket around his hind legs. Any one examining the baby of a bee through a microscope will observe that on the hind legs of the creature there is a fringe of stiff hairs on the surface, the hairs approaching each other at the tips, so as to form a sort of cage. This is the bee's basket, and into it, after a successful journey, he will crawl enough pollen to last him for two or three days.

Prophecy Fulfilled.

"That baby, madam," said the doctor to the proud and happy mother, "will make his mark in the world some day." Note the fulfillment of the prediction. In less than sixteen years that boy was the scoreboard artist in a great baseball park.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, dizziness, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will never be without this medicine in the house."—Mrs. SAM'L LEE, 3523 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 8.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.
