Landowners Get Pat on the Back

LINCOLN—M. O. Steen, Game Commission director, gave Nebraska's landowners a pat on the back for their efforts in promoting the state to tourists. He lauded farmers and other landowners for providing places to hunt and fish.

Steen mentioned a recent letter from a grateful Missouri sportsman who during a December trip here asked permission to hunt from 15 different landowners and each time received it.

"This letter illustrates that the state's landowners are definitely doing their share in bringing visitors to our state," Steen said. "Because state law requires permission of landowners before hunting and fishing on private property, it is imperative that these people co-operate by making visitors feel welcome."

Steen added that since the landowners are doing their share, the state's sportsmen should respond by treating farmers and ranchers with the consideration due a gracious host.

Curtis Co-Sponsor Of Pay-as-You-Go Federal Proposal

"The bringing of Federal spending under control is a must and it should not be delayed any longer," declared Senator Carl T. Curtis (R-Nebr.) as he introduced a proposal for a constitutional amendment to end deficit financing and put the Federal government on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Virginia's Senator, Harry F. Byrd, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance and Chairman of the Joint Committee on the Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures, joined Senator Curtis as a co-sponsor of the proposed amendment.

The amendment provides that the President shall submit a balanced budget annually including an amount of not less than one-half billion dollars for debt reduction.

The amendment also provides that, if Congress authorizes expenditures for the ensuing year in excess of the estimated receipts, and after allowing for a reduction of the debt of one-half billion dollars, the Congress cannot adjourn until such action has been taken as may be necessary to balance the budget for the ensuing year.

In case of war or other grave national emergency the amendment provides that, upon the recommendation of the President, the Congress may by a three-fourths vote suspend the provisions of the amendment for one year at a time.

Under the provisions of the amendment it would have to be ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states within seven years from the date of its submission to the states by the Congress.
