AMES EXCURSION

AMES STUDENTS HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC FOOTBALL RALLY.

College Band ano Two Hundred Rooters Accompany the Ames Team to Lincoln Saturday.

Ames, Ia.,—(Special)—Tuesday the students of the Iowa State College held a very enthusiastic football rally. Speeches were made by many of the prominent professors of the College. Among these were Dean Stanton and Prof. Bryan. Besides these two men, Coach Ristine and Assistant Coach Buckley made speeches. The Independent Order of Chronic Rooters was out in full force. According to the general opinion Ames will come to Lincoln on Saturday loaded for bear. The special train for the Ames excursion will leave this city at 5 a. m. Saturday, going via Missouri Valley and Fremont, returning at 7:30 p. m. There are thirty men on the squad, besides the college band and two hundred rooters. The team will come Friday arriving in Lincoln about 5 p. m. Ames expects to give Nebraska a run for her money, and possibly will score.

From the above we can see what Nebraska will have to face on Saturday. A team of the best Iowa can produce, and cheered on by about two hundred and fifty rooters will make the old "stonewall" varsity work to place a good margin over Ames on the score card. Ames will be in Lincoln to put up the game of her life on Saturday. Every possible thing has been done by the Ames coaches to win the game from Nebraska.

The varsity went through a fast practice last Saturday on the football field. A good deal of practice was given to the quarterbacks. Drain, Eager and Morse were all given some hard work by the coaches. These men seem to have improved some in passing the ball. In a light scrimmage Denslow was injured, just how serious it is not known, but it was thought that it will not keep him out of the Ames game. Cotton did not report to practice last night owing to his poor physical condition.

The men will indulge in a light signal practice to night, but no heavy work will be used owing to the poor condition of the men in general. The squad was enlarged last night by the return of Drain, McDonald, and Craig. These men have all been on the squad before this year, and owing to the physical condition of some of the varsity it has been found best to bring McDonald and Drain out to work at quarterback, and Craig in the back field.

The second debate in Rhetoric 17, will be held in room 106 this afternoon, from two to four o'clock. The question is: "Resolved, that the use of the injunction in labor disputes be prohibited." The speakers are: Alva C. Huff and Leo S. Legro.

The debate is open to the college public as usual.

RHETORIC I MEETS.

Dean Davis Takes to the Classes on Correct English.

The third of a series of general meetings of all divisions of Rhetoric I, was held in Memorial Hall yesterday morning. A new requirement in the course was announced namely, that each student is to read a book of good literature once a month. It was also announced that a mid-semester examination would be held the week before Thanksgiving.

Dean Davis, head of the college of Literature, Science and Arts, addressed the meeting. He spoke on the necessity of all students being able to "express thought clearly, directly, simply, forcibly;" that language is the means of expressing thought; that, precision, and clearness of language is necessary to clear thinking. He urged the Freshmen to study the meaning of words and quoted a professor, of logic as saying that "the first ten years of a student in logic should be spent in studying the meanings of words." Furthermore, he urged the members of the class, to strive to write good English, not only in Rhetoric, but in all classes; to be careful of their English in conversation, in recitation, on the athletic field, and in their correspondence. As a means of acquiring exact English, the dean recommended translation.

Junior Law Class to Estimate the Cost of Putting Out a Law Book This Year.

The Juniors held a class meeting yesterday at 11 a. m. in the chemistry lecture room. The meeting was called mainly for the purpose of hearing the reports of committees and stirring up class spirit and enthusiasm to insure a good football record besides making work easier for the football manager, who, in spite of repeated appeals and demands, still finds it hard to get enough men, especially heavy men, out for practice.

The secretary's report of the proceedings of the last meeting was read and accepted. Roy Sunderland presented a bill of two dollars that was incurred last year in buying slides and other necessaries for the Sophomore's convocation program. The bill was allowed and inasmuch as the treasure reported only one dollar and thirty-eight cents in the treasury the finance committee was instructed to collect a levy of ten cents from every Junior.

The report of the hat committee was heard next. Mr. White the chairman reported a blue hat with gold letters as being the choice of the committee. The cost of the hat is one dollar and the committee will begin taking orders at once.

The football team should be whipped in place before the end of the next two weeks. A football has been purchased, a new coach, Weller, has been appointed, and the manager announces, an election of captain at the practice tomorrow.

The Junior Law class met once more in U 308 yesterday morning at eleven o'clock to take action regarding the proposed Law Book. More interest was displayed by members than on Wednesday, and about three-fourths the class was present. President Corey announced that the members of the class had pledged themselves for 76 books, and members of the Senior class for 150 books. Many of the class seemed to feel that this was not enough to insure a successful book, and some thought no steps should be taken towards publication until all books had been paid for. As no definite figures could be given as to the cost, it was finally decided that the class should elect its manager, who should act with the other class managers and find out just how much the book would cost and how much the probable receipts would be and report to the class which should then decide finally upon its action. Mr. W. C. Parriott was then unanimously elected manager. In a brief speech Mr. Parrott told the class that he would accept the position, but only on condition that there be no delay nor grumbling, and that when he made his final recommendation it be acted upon by the class. The applause following this expression showed that the class would stand behind him.
