Huskers Shut Out—Orange Win 38-0 With Versatile Attack

By Norman Beatty

An undersized Husker eleven was pounded by a snappy Syracuse team, Saturday, to the tune of 38-0.

Taking the opening kick-off, the Orangemen marched downfield to score the first of five touchdowns. Nebraska couldn't seem to be able to move the pigskin at all as they ended the afternoon with a net of 42 yds. Both of these factors, the rocklike defense and the sparkling offense made it a long afternoon for Nebraska.

The loss put the Scarlet and Cream in the loss column as they now sport a 2-3 record. The same contest gave Syracuse a 3-2 record. Syracuse also has a 5-4 series edge against Nebraska.

"They were bigger and tougher than Penn St.," remarked Clay White who suffered a sprained ankle and knee, but still saw a big share of the action. "Kansas State is definitely not as good as Syracuse, they were just up for our game," he concluded.

Statistically, Syracuse had the edge all the way as they held the visitors to a minus 15 yards the first half. Probably the only bright spots were in the form of McCashland's bull-like running and the punting of Harshman and Tolly which averaged out to 38.7 yds. per boot.

Colorado Next

The Huskers hope to be at full strength next Saturday when Nebraska will face the Golden Buffs of Colorado. The Big Red will be seeking win no. 3 of the season and no. 2 in conference play, whereas Colorado hasn't lost a conference game so far this season.

Injured

Those missing the action Saturday were, center, Don Fricke, halfbacks, Pat Fischer, and Max Martz and fullback, Carroll Zaruba. They are expected to be ready to make the Colorado excursion if no more complications arise.

Both Pat Fischer and Don Fricke were among injured Huskers that were forced to sit out the 38-0 loss Syracuse administered to Nebraska.

From The Outside

by randall lambert

This weekend when the Huskers head west to meet the Colorado Buffaloes, the pride of the Rockies, Nebraska will probably meet a team that is as strong as either Syracuse or Purdue. So far the Buffs have not been too impressive in their wins over Kansas State and Iowa State.

Lambert

However, Colorado will probably be primed for the Huskers. Buffalo fans aren't quick to forget when a sophomore halfback named Willie Greenlaw upset their plans for an Orange Bowl trip several years back or the following year when many a Buff fan treked to Lincoln to see the Huskers again upend a heralded Colorado team before 35,000 thrilled homecoming fans.

Fred Casotti, Buff sports publicist, was pretty high on the Buffs at the beginning of the year. After they were scared by Kansas State he cooled off a little. This didn't last too long because when Colorado ran over Arizona 65-12, Casotti was on cloud nine again.

Basketball Practice Opens For Freshmen

A pair of 6-8 centers were among the thirty-four candidates reporting to Nebraska Freshman Basketball coach, Tony Sharpe, Wednesday as the Cornhusker yearlings held their first practice.

The tall boys—A. Allen Buuck, Fort Wayne, Ind. and Raymond R. Solee, Grand Forks, N. D. — were prep standouts. Buuck was an Indiana All-Stater.

Among the other candidates reporting for the opening practice session are: Albert Roots, a transfer from Pueblo (Colo) Junior College, an All-American last season in the junior college ranks.

Rex Swett, an All-State All-American (Wigwam Wiseman of America) from Huron, South Dakota.

Jan Wall, two-time Lincoln Northeast All-Stater, also an All-American, who was Nebraska Prep Athlete of the Year (1958).

Bernt Elle, a Manual Training H.S. graduate (Brooklyn, N.Y.), who earned All-City Honors in New York City.

Allen Olsen, who was born in Krase, Norway and was an All-Long Island (N.Y.) center.

Nebraska All-Staters include Ivan Grupe, Byron; Phil Barth, Omaha (Central); LeRoy Dick, Hampton; Joe McWilliams, Lincoln (Pius X); Fred Rickers, Wayne; and Ed Van Vliet, Omaha (North).

IM Ice Hockey

A new sport is being introduced this yeaar at the University. The intramural department has arranged facilities with the Pershing Memorial Auditorium so that they can include ice hockey on the intramural program. There are not a lot of schools the size of Nebraska that play ice hockey on the intramural level.

The following dates have been arranged with the Pershing Auditorium for the use of their ice:

Thursday November 6
Thursday December 11
Thursday January 15
Thursday January 22
Thursday January 29
Thursday February 5
Thursday April 9

IM Managers

All intramural managers are reminded to check the touch football tournament schedule daily at the Physical Education building in order to make certain that there are no mistakes concerning times of tournament games.

The first sorority intramurals athletic competition is well under way.

In the tennis finals Delta Gammas, Carol Morehead and Nancy Troxel, defeated Kay Schmidtmann and Gail Parker, Delta Gamma, 6-2 and 6-1.

Alpha Phi will meet Chi Omega in the soccer baseball finals Tuesday night. The Alpha Phi's defeated the Tri Delts and the Chi Omega's the Delta Gamma's in the semi-finals last week.

Archery finals will be held Thursday night with Janet Rhoda, Pi Beta Phi, Donna Scriven, Delta Gamma; Pat Arbuthno, Delta Delta Delta, Carolyn Hall, Fedde and Alberta Dobry, Love Hall competing.

Since the freshmen are now eligible to compete, a freshman soccer baseball tournament will start next week. Tuesday the Pi Phi's will meet the Delta Gamma's. Wednesday's games will be Alpha Chi Omega vs. Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Delta vs. Ag and Alpha Phi vs. Zeta Tau Alpha. Thursday the Tri Delts will play the winner of Tuesday's game, the Alpha Omicron Pi's the Alpha Xi Delta's and the Chi Omega's, the Kappa Kappa Gamma's.

Aquaquette practice will be held Tuesday night. Tryouts will be October 28.

Orchesis will practice Wednesday at 7 p.m. Their tryouts will be October 29.

Geier Program For Frosh

Gymnastics Coach Provides Program That Develops Co-ordination and Cuts Down Football Injuries

By Charles Coffin

To even the most cynical observer, it is evident that the Nebraska football team is rebuilding — earnestly and with noticeable success. In this drive to make the Huskers again a power in the Big Eight, J. G. "Jake" Geier plays an important part.

Geier, asst. professor of physical education and coach of the NU gymnastic team, works with the freshman team in a program that has been proven to develop coordination and prevent injuries.

Stretch Muscle

A native Nebraskan who earned his B.A. and masters degree at NU, Geier says his frosh program is designed to develop the strength and agility of the yearlings and "stretch" their muscles. "Most boys just out of high school are basically strong, of course," he explains, "but they need to be more flexible. This involves muscle stretching and strengthening."

"Desire" is an important factor in the physical condition of a player. He thinks that this year's Huskers, both sophomores and upperclassmen, have a lot of a desire and the coaching staff to best utilize it.

The current crop of freshmen impresses Geier with its eagerness, size, and ability. "If the attruition rate (number of drop-outs) can be kept low," he opines, "they will be a big help in our rebuilding program."

Geier feels that the Touchdown and Extra Point clubs provide necessary funds for competing with other schools in recruiting. He points out that there were few outstanding Nebraska preps last year who were not enlisted in the Husker ranks.

The yell squad, another important determinant of NU football fortunes, has been under the direction of the former gymnastic star since he began teaching at Nebraska in 1949. It was without sponsorship or definite organization when he first came; it now has a system for selecting, training, and rewarding its members and "belongs," as he put it, to the University athletic effort.

Husker Frosh Beat I. St. 21-14

Nebraska's freshmen displayed the brand of football to the Iowa State yearlings that may give Husker followers heart during the next few years.

Not only did the young Huskers beat one of the best Cyclone frosh squads in history 21-14, but they also showed some of the speed that has been lacking in Husker backfields and lines during the past years.

Halfback Hugh Smith displayed some of his native Oklahoma football prowess when he ran 49 yards to tie the score at 14-14 after the Huskers had daringly faked a kick with fourth down on the Iowa State 49 yard line.

Ron Meade, Nebraska quarterback kicked three extra points for a perfect afternoon in that department. Meade's toe could be a big factor next year when George Harshman has departed.

Pat Clare was another Nebraska standout. Clare, who is big at 190 pounds, showed speed and elusiveness while rambling to several touchdowns. However, only one counted as penalties erased the others. Claire, former Sioux City high school footballer, was the leading ground gainer for the yearlings as he romped 113 yards in 15 carries. This was almost as much as the entire Iowa State team gained during the whole game.

Nebraska performers were Linemen like Al Fischer, Pete Williams, and Monte Kiffin all stood out for the Huskers.

When Nebraska plays the Kansas State freshmen, Husker fans will get a chance to see possibly the top frosh squad in Husker history.

Perhaps the outstanding fact about the team is the depth of talent. They have third, fourth and fifth team men who could have started on freshman teams in past years.

Nebraska Cross Country Team Wins Second Meet

Nebraska's Joe Mullins broke a cross country mark for the second week in a row as the Huskers clipped Iowa State and Drake in a triangular meet at Waveland course in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mullins ran the hilly course in 14 minutes and 58.5 seconds, to better the mark of 15:01.4 set by Drake freshman Tom Rivers earlier this season.

Nebraska scored 33 points against 40 for Iowa State and 50 for Drake. Points were also counted in dual meets. The Huskers won from Iowa State 25 to 30 and from Drake 22 to 34.

Husker runners also finished in second and third place. Bill Melody was second in 14:59 and Joe American Horse took third with a 15.02 timing.

Drake's Sylvester Robertson, Missouri Valley Conference half mile champion, took fourth in 15:06.

Iowa State's best was Ron Sanson, who finished fifth, just ahead of teammate Leo Teghtmeyer.

A SHORT NOTE FROM PAUL SCHEELE, KFMQ STATION MANAGER:
Speaking for Radio KFMQ, I am happy to announce that we have engaged the Nebraska theatre for these two excellent films, both of which have won international film awards and are now film classics. Both films are now playing in large metropolitan cities at advanced prices. We have arranged this festival so that film classics of this caliber can be made available to all. You won't want to miss either of these features—but we have printed tickets for available seating only. So pick up your tickets today — at either the Nebraska Book Store or the offices of KFMQ.
