Free Meals For Parents Discontinued

William Harper, director of University Services, said Tuesday that parents of dormitory students will not be served free meals in the dorms on Parents' Day as has been done in some Residence halls in the past.

"We have simply decided to discontinue the practice," explained Harper. "In former years it was not uniformly carried out in all the dorms. With the addition of Twin Towers our dormitory system has expanded to the point where a uniform policy is necessary, and this is the policy."

Harper added that serving free meals actually constitutes free service by the University and that free service is not a regular policy of the University.

When told that many dorm students were disappointed that their parents could not eat at no cost on Parents' Day, Harper said that all students are still welcome to invite their parents to eat with them in the dorms and that parents, families and guests are invited to visit and tour the dorms as in the past. The cost of the noon meal in all dormitories is $.85.

A red carnation will be provided for all mothers going through the lunch lines on Saturday, said Harper, as a special favorinrecognitionof

J-School Reports Frosh Enrollment Is Highest Ever

The University School of Journalism this fall has the largest enrollment in its history, the largest total enrollment since the bulge of veteran students after World War II, and a sharp increase in the number of male students over last year.

Dr. William E. Hall, director of the School, reports:

—A freshman class of 74 students compared to 53 last year;

—A total of 180 journalism majors compared to 156 last year;

—An increase in the number of male students from 65 to 89, while the number of female students remained constant at 91.

A breakdown of classes shows 74 freshman, 33 sophomores, 36 juniors and 37 seniors.

The current enrollment represents a 100 per cent increase during the past 10 years, Dr. Hall said. About 75 non-majors also are taking journalism courses this fall, bringing the total number of students in the program to 250.

Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School and Church?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Yes, definitely!

Startled? Why? How do you answer Lucy when she comes to the breakfast table and announces, "I'm not going to school today!" You know, Lucy goes.

How do you answer when Lucy comes in besmudged with dirt and says, "I'm not going to take a bath!" You know, Lucy bathes.

How do you answer when Lucy, threatened with illness, says, "I'm not going to take that medicine!" You know, she takes it.

Why all this timidity, then, in the realm of spiritual guidance and moral training? Going to wait and let her decide what Church she'll go to when she's old enough? Don't fool yourself. By that time she'll probably believe that a decision neglected by her parents during her first twenty years might not be necessary at all. You didn't wait until she was "old enough" to decide she should go to school.

Afraid she'll later succumb to the old story about "... too much religion when I was young ... parents made me go?" This tale is obviously false. Just because she takes a bath tonight doesn't mean she'll discontinue them at the age of twenty-one.

What shall I say to Lucy when she announces she doesn't like Sunday School and Church? That's easy. Be consistent.

By firmness and example you can show her that church-going is a necessity. And in later years, she will thank you for bringing into her life the greatest values a mature person can possess — Christian habits and ideals.
