Student's trial is Tuesday

A UNL junior elementary education major from Lincoln has been arrested and charged with concealing stolen property.

Debra Nelson was arrested Feb. 6 after campus police found a rhino boot in her car, according to Campus Police Lt. Robert Edmunds.

Nelson, who has pleaded innocent, will stand trial Feb. 17.

According to police reports, the rhino boot was attached to Nelson's car Feb. 5 because of unpaid parking violations. Later that day an officer discovered the boot and car gone.

John Duve, Campus Police parking and traffic coordinator, said this is the fifth incident in which a boot allegedly has been illegally removed. He said the removals probably resulted from improper application and not from a mechanical breakdown of the boot.

Edmunds said that this is the first time charges relating to an illegal boot removal have been filed. There are no provisions under university policy to deal with rhino boot removals, he said.

getting ahead

Janet Norris, a UNL senior majoring in University Studies, will be one of 33 American students studying abroad after receiving an International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) scholarship through the Institute of International Education (IIE). She will be studying at the University of Innsbrook in Innsbrook, Austria.

Introducing Vision Center's

It takes the indecision out of the decision to buy contacts.

If you wear eyeglasses, you've probably thought about getting contact lenses. You've probably also had second thoughts about whether you'll like them or not.

That's why Pearle Vision Center now offers our "Love 'em or Leave 'em" Plan. Try contacts. Wear them. Live with them. And then, within 30 days of purchase, if you decide they're not for you, we'll refund the cost of the lenses. This plan does not cover soft or bifocal lenses.

You owe it to yourself to see how you like contacts. And now Vision Center has a way for you to do that. Without owing anything to us.
