Simon our artist in the box allowing only three hits. The home boys got five scores off Homer.

Emerson Enterprise: Mr and Mrs Henry Sindt and children spent Sunday at Crystal Lake with Mr and Mrs R B Hatcher... At about 12 o'clock yesterday an explosion at the pumping station blew the roof completely off of the structure and burned Marshal Ross Daniels in a very serious manner.
It is thought that a quantity of gasoline had overflowed in the pit, was the direct cause. Mr Daniels said there were two explosions the first one was quite bad and happened just as he started the engine setting his clothes on fire. He ran for the door and just as he reached it the second explosion occurred which did the damage. By the time he reached the road Jake Francisco, Ernest Enke, E O Shearer and others were there and smothered the flames, put him in an auto and he was rushed to a physician. While he is in a very bad shape it is thought that he has good chances to recover. The damage to the building will amount to about $300. The machinery was only slightly damaged and was all in working order before light.

Sioux City Journal, 17th: Rushing down a steep grade near Emerson, Nebr, yesterday morning and crashing into an extra freight that was on the main track, the engine of train No 17 on the Chicago, St Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha line was demolished, and the engine of No 17, Oliver J York, of South Sioux City, dangerously hurt.
He was brought to the St Joseph's hospital in this city. The train was coming down the grade at a rate far above its normal speed, and the crew of the extra supposed that they would have time to get off the main track before the regular arrived. This was impossible, owing to the speed of No 17, however, and the two trains collided head on. The members of both crews, with the exception of York, who pluckily stuck to his post, jumped, but the engineer was caught in the collision and his left leg so badly crushed that it probably will have to be amputated. Mr York is a well known and popular engineer, having been in the employ of the Omaha road for nearly eight years. Although he resides in South Sioux City, York is well known on this side of the river.

Wayne Democrat: A "stake" joke is out on Ross Hammond, revenue collector. When Judge Evans met Mr Hammond at Crystal Lake the other day he said to Ross: "I was just down in Omaha and it is reported around headquarters that a state official is running around here in his bare feet, in hopes of finding a "mind cure." Mr Hammond "admitted the corn" without a quibble. The Democrat man was told that the talented writer of "Banjo Thoughts" had several afflictions who thought his feet were simply infectious ... in the contest for county attorney over in Dakota county, between Fred Berry and J J McAllister, the former has taken an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Graves' decision that there was a possibility of the votes having been tampered with since the election, and therefore a reason why the recount showed Mr Berry to have been elected. In the first count the precinct that caused all the trouble, gave the republicans only some 18 votes, while Mr Berry got 28. To win it was necessary that the recount give him 10 votes more, and as the evidence showed that the election board was composed of men of good character, and that the ballots had been kept in a gunny sack, previous to the recount, Judge Graves held that the element of error lay in the second count... There are now a large number of northeast Nebraska people at Crystal Beach, "Finney's landing." Families from Allen, Wakefield, Wayne, Ross Hammond and family from Fremont, Judge Warner and family, and a host of others that make a splendid little outing village there. There are only twenty cottages now complete and there will be more built this season.
After a few days spent on "our own dug hill" at the lake we have come to the conclusion that it is the best and biggest investment open to a man of moderate means, and that within the next five years a patch of ground large enough to locate a cottage will be worth more than an acre now is. Ross Hammond, of Fremont, who is spending the summer there, says it is the largest lake in Nebraska and sure to be a great resort in the near future.
The Democrat has no personal interest in saying that now is the time for Wayne people to get a piece of ground, even though they do not build in the next year or two. It is a good speculation, but better than a golden increase if used for the purpose of getting back the health and happiness of your youth.

elected principal of the schools at that place.

"I want a husband who is easily pleased." "Don't worry, that's exactly what you will get."
Belle—Dick says I grow prettier every time he sees me. Estelle—You should get him to call more often.
Milly—I find this balm excellent for preserving the face. Jessie—But why do you wish to preserve your face?
"Yes; they not only have everything to worry about that women have, but they also have the women to worry about, too."—Smart Set.

"I see they have the same means of rounding up the lambs in Wall street as shepherds have in the field." "What is that?" "A crook."
"I started out on the theory that the world had an opening for me and I went to find it." "Did you find it?"
"Oh, yes. I'm in a hole." Grace—He said I looked lovely in that gown, didn't he? Helen—Not exactly, dear. He said that gown looked lovely on you.—Brooklyn Citizen.

She (on the Atlantic liner)—Did you observe the great appetite of that stout man at dinner? He—Yes; he must be what they call a stowaway.
Suffragette—We believe that a woman should get a man's wages. Married Man—Well, judging from my own experience, she does.—Boston Transcript.

"Sued for a breach of promise, eh?"
"Yep." "Any defense?" "Temporary insanity; and I expect to prove it by the love letters I wrote."—Washington Herald.

"Your ocean trip was pretty nice, I suppose?" "Oh, yes." "Saw lobsters and such things, eh?" "Yes; but I missed the billboards, I can tell you." —Washington Herald.

He (teaching her bridge)—When in doubt it's a good rule to play trumps.
She—But that's just it; when I'm in doubt I don't know what the trump is.
—Philadelphia Record.

Mother—Johnny, why didn't you wash your face this morning? Son—The doctor said to be careful and not get my feet wet, and I guess my face is just as good as my feet.
Housekeeper—Look here, I ordered a dozen eggs from you this morning, and you only sent me ten. Dealer—Well, mam, two of 'em were bad, and I didn't think you'd want 'em.

Her Father—When you marry, my daughter, you marry a big-hearted, noble girl. Her Sutter (a wise guy)—I know that, sir, and I'm sure she inherits those qualities from you.
"I have just decided to suspend your sentence," the judge began. "For the lord's sake, judge, you don't mean to say lifting a few chickens is a hanging matter!"—New York Herald.

Redd—This paper says there is an exhibition in Saco the largest lobster that has been landed in those parts for years, if ever. Greene—Does it give the name of the lady who landed him?
First Farmer (pointing to the far-ring horn on an automobile)—What's that thing for? Second Farmer—That's th' thing they blow jes' before they run 'y' down!—Town and Country.

Clergyman (examining a Sunday school class)—Now can any of you tell me what are sins of omission?
Small Scholar—Please, sir, they're sins you ought to have committed and haven't.

Gentleman (indignantly)—You praised your kitchen coal to the skies, and said it was most economical. Why, it won't burn at all! Coal Dealer (coolly)—Well, what could you have more economical than that?
"Mr. P, how is it you have not called upon me for your account?"
"Oh, I never ask a gentleman for money!" "Indeed! How, then, do you get on if he don't pay?" "Why, after a certain time, I conclude that he is not a gentleman, and then I ask him."

"Here," said Dr. Price-Price, "just take these pellets. You've merely got a little fever, that's all. Five dollars, please." "My!" exclaimed the transient patient, who had happened into his office by chance. "Excuse me, Doc, but I hope the fever ain't as high as the fee!"

"It is said that aggressive, impusive people usually have black eyes," remarked a man who was interested in an index of the mind. "That's quite true," rejoined a listener. "If they haven't got them at first, they get them later." Dashaway—You say your sister will be down in a minute, Willie. That's good news. I thought perhaps that she wanted to be excused, as she did the other day. Willie—Not this time. I played a trick on her. Dashaway—What did you do? Willie (triumphantly)—I said you were another fellow.

Jack—I have a chance to marry a poor girl whom I love, or a rich woman whom I do not love. What would you advise? George—Love is the all-est of life, my friend. Without it all is naught. Love—pure joy—makes poverty wealth, pain a joy, earth a paradise. Jack—I thought I will marry the poor girl whom I love. George —I'mely proud by the way, would you—could introduce me to the rich woman whom you do not love?
