The Great Transaction in September Lard and Its Phenomenal Features—Milwaukee Wheat Damaged.

ON CHICAGO 'CHANGE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—It all that the September lard clique said was true, and if the shipments were of any such quantity as they have pretended them, the manufacturers of lard during the last two months have done something phenomenal. The inspector's statement shows that the stock of contract lard here now is 39,695 tierces, against 22,300 tierces a year ago. This stock is in spite of the shipment of probably 100,000 tierces in the last sixty days. There was a single shipment of 50,000 tierces in one contract. When McGeoch failed there were about 3,000,000 tierces of lard in store, and it was notorious that he had made no effort to ship the stuff out. If Plankinton had not bestirred himself and shipped out with the aid of Armour as no other man in the trade could, there would have been more lard here at the opening of the packing season than there was in July, 1882, when Metcoch collapsed. The stocks of other produce are about what they were estimated. It is likely that the ribs and pork can easily be disposed of this month, as it is the great consumption season for both.

At Milwaukee Angus Smith & Co., proprietors of the Chicago & Northwestern elevators, notified the board there that they would be compelled to "turn over" the wheat in their houses and "blow" it, and that they would add a ¼c per bushel charges to receipts. This was considered here a confession that Milwaukee wheat was "out of condition." It added to the weakness of this market. It was claimed here that Angus Smith was short the market, that the bulls will retaliate by refusing to take Smith's receipts.

The receipts today were 146 cars of wheat, 375 of corn and 170 of oats. The withdrawals from store were heavy, being nearly 45,000 bushels of wheat and over 335,000 bushels of corn. Cables were generally heavy and had a depressing effect on the curb market. On the regular board November wheat opened at 75⅞c, but sold steadily down to 74⅞c under the bearish manipulations of the Bean crowd. Corn opened easy at 38c for November and sold at 37½c. Oats were unchanged from yesterday. November pork was about the same, selling at both $9.22½ and $9.25. Frosts were very general last night, but corn everywhere is conceded to be beyond all damage from this cause. Men who did not get out of their long wheat yesterday devoted all their energies to doing so this morning, which made a heavy market. November recovered a shade from 74⅞c, but kept closely around 75c. "Eliminate war from the present situation," said a prominent operator, "and there is nothing to prevent this wheat going to 50c." Pork was heavily offered and sold at $9.00 for November. Shaw was quite a heavy wheat seller and his sales were generally supposed to be for the New York house of Seymour, Baker & Co., who are known to have been heavy buyers through him a day or two ago. In fact pretty much everybody had wheat to sell during the morning. They came to business on the "long side of the market" by reason of purchases made on yesterday's bulge, and as there was nothing to hold the market up this morning and everything to crowd it down, values had to respond to the temper of the crowd. During the greater part of the day the price for November was closely around 75c, with very little outside interest centering in the market and not much locally. But toward the close it dragged around 74⅞c, with plenty for sale at this figure.

The provision crowd cannot figure out why stocks of lard are so heavy this month considering the steady and large shipments by the clique all last month. But lard and pork is the scalpers' market now at best. Outside of the packers nobody is doing anything with it. The large stocks depressed to-day's prices, November pork dropping 40c before noon and selling at $8.85. The first sale this year of November ribs was made to-day at $5.15.

A very moderate business was done in corn with all the fluctuations between 37⅝@38c for November and inside figures prevailing toward the close. The estimated receipts for Monday are 2[illegible] cars of wheat, 440 cars of corn, 193 cars of oats and 20,000 hogs. The estimated receipts of hogs next week is 120,000.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—CATTLE—To-day there was no change in the market. The supply was really too light to justify quotations on natives. Good to choice "blocky" cattle were not very desirable. There were 1,400 lb cattle here for which no bid was made. Common cattle were very dull. The range cattle market to-day was nominally steady on western natives and stronger on Texans. This week the market has been stronger and more active, especially on Texans, than it was last week. All were sold. Representative sales of Texas cattle: 46 steers, average 942 lbs, $2.75; 52 average, 812 lbs, $2.80; 249 average, 872 lbs, $3; 68 average, 881 lbs, $3.10; 60 average, 1,040 lbs, $3.15. Wintered Texans: 163 Montana Texans, average, 953 lbs, $2.85; 446 Colorado Texans, average, 1,052 lbs, $3.05.

HOGS—Trade was fairly active, largely on speculative account, however, and prices about 5c higher all around. The light run enabled speculators to take and hold the market. Common to fair packing sorts, $3.75@4.10, and good to choice packing sorts, $4.20@4.50, with both heavy making $4.30@50; light sorts, $4.00@4.45.

FINANCIAL.

New York, Oct. 2.—MONEY—On call, quiet at 5@7 per cent.

PRIME MERCANTILE PAPER—4@5 per cent.

STERLING EXCHANGE—Quiet, firm and unchanged.

GOVERNMENTS—Government bonds were quiet but steady.

STOCKS.—Opened with a much stronger tone and the impression that the trunk line matters will be amicably arranged at the presidents' meeting next week gained ground. The opening was firm to strong, first prices generally showing advances of from ⅛ to ⅝ per cent above last evening's final figures. Western Union, however, was up ⅞ per cent and Jersey Central down ¼ per cent. There was some hesitation in the general list in early trading, but the extraordinary strength in New England and Western Union held the market and the upward movement was not checked until afternoon, when the advances were generally lost. There was some little improvement in the last hour, but the market closed barely steady. The closing prices show irregular changes, but the advances are more numerous and important. New England is up 5¼ per cent, New York Central 1⅛ per cent, Michigan Central and others fractional.
