THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Wheat Starts Off on a Gallop, but Makes a Poor Finish.

OATS CATCHES THE BULLISH FEELING.

The Corn Market "Up Like a Rocket and Down Like a Stick."—Early Dispatches Help Provisions.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The greatest snap and greatest strength in wheat today was during the first ten minutes. The opening was very excited and while $1.05¾ is generally given as the opening price, it is claimed that a few deals were scattered all the way from $1.07 down to $1.06. There was an early dip to $1.05¾, but the market was well supported and moved slowly up again to $1.06¾ before 11 o'clock. From this on till 1 o'clock the tendency was downward until December sold at $1.05¼ or 1c under the close yesterday. On the way down was one rally from $1.06⅝ to $1.05¾, and after touching $1.05¾ a little spurt of buying put the price up to $1.06¼. May was quoted as high as $1.07¾ and sold off to $1.06¾. Trade was badly mixed most of the session and many operations were frequently on both sides of the market. The news of the day was not of a decisive character. Liverpool cables were slightly firm. New York cleared no wheat and Baltimore but 32,000 bushels. Northwestern sold at here all day on the strength of large receipts. British dispatches giving accounts of rain and snow and general stoppage of threshing and the movements to the market were not heeded. A bearish influence of the day was tight money, with money loaning on stocks at New York at 100 per cent and scarce here. Bears used this to depress the market. Linearly trading Mitchell, Brosseau, Dunham & Co., Roche, Driver, Farnum, Wagner and Partridge were buyers, the last named covering short wheat. Bloom was called a big buyer and seller. Hutchinson was a moderate seller most of the day. Selling by the northwest was significant. Half an hour before the close stronger continental cables were received and the market firmed up quickly, going to $1.06¾ for December at 3 p. m. The only price heard for December wheat on the curb was $1.05¾. Puts were 1.04¾ to 1.04⅝, calls $1.07¼ to $1.07¼.

The corn market went "up like a rocket and down like a stick" today. There has not been such a wild opening in months as that of this morning. Following the great advance yesterday on Dodge crop figures was a further jump in prices the first few minutes today. The immediate cause of the sensational jump was a cold weather scare. Early dispatches gave snow and blizzards in the far northwest, with cold weather extending into Nebraska, and predictions for a sharp cold snap in Iowa tonight. Trade went into the pit on a feeling, not on judgment, and prices were higher at once. May started at about 52¾c, or ⅜c over the close yesterday. The crowd bid the price up to 53½c in a minute. A few round lots were sold at 54¼c to 53½c, and the bulge was at an end. The price went off quickly to 51¾c, recovered later to 52¾c, declined to 51½c about noon and again rallied to 52⅝c before 1 o'clock. Corn closed ⅜c off on the day for September, ⅛c lower for October and about steady with last night for May. September sold at 50⅝c off to 49c, closing at 49⅝c; October sold at 50c, off to 49⅝c, closing at 49½c; May sold at 54⅝c, off to 51¾c, closing at 52⅝c. There was little news of any importance the last half hour. Everything for tomorrow depends on the weather tonight.

Oats caught the bullish feeling this morning, and the first prices made were ¼c to ⅜c over the close last night and at the highest points of the day, as follows: September 38⅝c, October 38⅝c, December 39⅝c and May 41⅝c. With an easy feeling in the other markets later, prices dropped down for oats to 37⅞c for September, 37⅞c for October and 40⅝c for May. Last prices were 37⅞c for September and October and 40⅝c for May, or about ¼c under last night. There was liberal trading early, with pretty free selling out on the decline.

Early dispatches from the yards reported only 15,000 hogs received and all parties buying at 5c to 10c advance. This helped provisions at the opening. The sensational advance in corn also helped provisions. The market started strong and active. This was an opportunity for packers who at once became sellers of products. This, with the break in corn, after the first few minutes caused prices to go off quickly. Thus the highest and lowest prices of the day were touched before the morning call. Most of the changes were in more detail. January sold at $12.07 and $12.17½ and May at $12.65 and $12.85, with the close at $10.00 for October, $12.20 for January and $12.8½ for May, or a little changed from last night. Lard opened at $6.82½; January sold at $6.72½ at the close; May at $7.20 off to $7.12½. Short ribs were but 2½c to 5c up at the start and closed at the bottom figures of the day at $5.67½ for October, $5.90 for January and $6.30 for May.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—Receipts 9,000, a light run for the day and numbers not in excess of last week, helped to keep values steady and to make a better market for salesmen—that is, there was no particular change in prices, although some buyers claimed their stock costing more than yesterday; but taken altogether there was little or no change in values on the ordinary run of fat cattle or even on the second class or grassy stock. Native butchers' stock, on account of the light run of Texans, sold rather better than for a day or two past and buyers reported scarcity of good cows and heifers. First class natives $4.90@5.35; second class, $4.40@4.75; third, $2.80@4.10; butchers' stock, $1.50@2.65; Texas steers, $2.40@3.00; rangers, $3.10@3.80.

HOGS—Receipts 18,000, demand active with a "wild" upturn of 10c to 15c. In some instances the advance was 20c to 25c as compared with the low prices yesterday morning. Packers paid the wide range of $4.10 to $4.40 and prime heavy, together with butchers' weights, sold at $4.35 to $4.65. Light sorts, $4.30 to $4.80; York sort and shape, $4.75; one lot of prime light sold at $4.82½.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—An unsettled condition in industrial shares caused a sharp advance in the price of cereals. Adverse crop reports and continued stringency combined make railroads shaky. This morning bears jumped in as sellers of everything. London sold a few stocks and altogether the list was demoralized. The rally last evening did not hold and first prices were generally from ¼ to ⅜ lower than last evening, while Sugar Refineries was 1¾ lower and Burlington & Quincy 2¼ percent lower at 94¾. Trading was very large, but the most usually active stocks, after the first few minutes, were well held and late in the hour some strength was shown, which resulted in leaving many stocks slightly higher than at the opening. Burlington & Quincy advanced from first sales and recovered 1¾ per cent out of the 2¼ lost at the opening, while the principal pressure was on Sugar Refineries, Chicago Gas and Rock Island, through a loss upon the last named, was only ⅞ per cent and that was nearly all recovered by 11 o'clock. Sugar was the weakest point, and it retired with rapid strides to 73¼, a loss of 2½ from the opening and 4¾ from last evening, and after a sharp recovery to 74¼ it settled back again to 73¾. Chicago Gas was one of the first stocks to open up its advance, being ¾ per cent at 8, and its early loss was 1¼ to 44¾, afterward recovering 1 per cent. Among the specialties Michigan Central retired at 1 per cent to 92, but no other feature was shown outside of the activity displayed by St. Paul. Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Atchison and Richmond & West Point. Before noon Lake Shore went down to 95 and rallied ¾, and Rock Island recovered a point to 82⅝. Money was at 50 per cent. The stock market closed with prices of railroad shares generally at about yesterday's figures. The extreme declines of the day were on high money rates, which went at one time to ½ per cent per day. A unscrupulous bear element attempted to create an impression that the two stock houses were in trouble, but no confirmation followed. At the close Sugar Refineries went down 2 points, Chicago Gas recovered from 42¾ to 43¾, Vanderbilts and grangers regained all early losses and closed steady, and money went back to 5 per cent. Sales, 360,000 shares.
