After an Early Depression Wheat Closes with a Strong Upward Movement.

CORN UNSETTLED BUT CLOSING STEADY.

Oats Follow the Course of Other Cereals—Provisions Depressed and Lower—Live Stock and Financial.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The early market in wheat was bearish and prices were easily depressed. For a time everything appeared to be against the market. Cables were simply steady. Bradstreet's figures of late yesterday, showing an increase of over 3,000,000 in available stocks east of the mountains, was freely used. Receipts here were nearly 100 cars over the estimate at 274 cars and contract wheat received reached 107 cars. The weather in the northwest was very fine. A Price Current dispatch reported wheat doing well, with no important injury from fly. There were no export clearances to speak of either in wheat or flour from Atlantic ports. The trade started in bearish and liquidation was free, helped on by liberal short selling. The market opened at $1.00¼ seller for December, with the first business at $1.00⅝ and a drop at once to $1.00. This brought out many buying orders and trading was heavy. After a slight rally to $1.00⅞, the price went to 99⅝c, then to $1.00¼, then off to 99¾c. May at the same time sold down to $1.03⅞. This was the turning point of the day. Under $1.00 such buying started that many of the smaller shorts hastened to get back their wheat. Short selling was led by Pardridge, through Schwartz. The buying was led by George Smith, Henry Parker, Dunham & Co. and Counselman & Day. With this buying the price rallied to $1.01¾. Purchases by Counselman's house alone were put at over 1,000,000 bushels. After a little hesitation the price of December climbed to $1.02⅝. At 11 o'clock there was another easy period, when more buying, traced to Codahy, and a little bull news, put the price to $1.03¼, or a fraction over the close yesterday. May at the same time sold up to $1.06¾, or ¼c over last evening. The bull news was in the shape of 44,000 barrels of flour cleared from Boston and closing cables from Liverpool firmer and ¼d higher. At the same time the estimate for tomorrow's receipt was light at 110 cars, or about equal to the contract wheat received today. The wheat market continued to grow in strength to the close. The advance was in progress when the bell struck with December up to $1.01¼ and May at $1.07, or ¼c over the close yesterday, besides recovering the loss of 1c early. November was quoted at 99¼c to 98c to 99¾c at the close. On the curb December wheat privileges sold at $1.00¼@1.00⅝ for puts and $1.01⅝@1.01¾ for calls.

The corn market was more or less unsettled all day with weakness early and strength at the close. The action in May was 54⅝c to 53⅝c to 54⅛c to 53¾c, the bottom, to 54⅛c to 54⅛c to 54⅝c to 54⅛c to 54¼c. 54¼c bid at the close, or ⅛c over the close yesterday. It was not easy to tell what depressed corn early unless it was in sympathy with wheat. Although receipts were nearly fifty cars less than the estimate, there were liberal offerings for November as well as May. Cables were ¼d lower for spot and futures. The prices yielded readily and November sold to 51⅛c, with May off to 53¾. The Price Current statement had no special effect on the trade. Part of the early loss was recovered by general buying by scalpers and commission houses. Buying of May was heavy around 54c on outside orders. Later the cash demand improved. Shippers began bidding for corn and the price of November went up at the close to 52⅛c. Receipts for tomorrow were estimated very light at 250 cars. Buying of May followed and the price went to 54⅛c, closing at 54⅛c bid. May corn on the curb 54⅛@54⅛c for puts and 55⅛@55⅛c for calls.

The oats market went to pieces on early trading. When everything else was found weak a few big operators jumped on the oats market and by their offerings broke the price of May about 1c under the close yesterday. Selling was led by Hutchinson, Poole, Counselman and Eggleston. The little storm was soon over and the price was bid up slowly to where it started. The cash demand was strong and a trifle higher for November and but slightly under for May. November was quoted at 42½c early to 47⅛c at the close; December, 42½c to 43c to close; May, 46c to 45⅝c to 46¼c to 46c at the close.

Provision dealers had some surprising figures before them today. Packing for the week in the west was estimated at 390,000 hogs, or about 30 per cent over last year. There was naturally some selling pressure in near futures in provisions and all months were depressed. January pork sold from $12.10 off to $11.92½, and May off to $12.70. Lard lost 10c, closing at $6.42½ for January and $6.57½ for May. Ribs were 5c lower.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—Industrial shares and railroad stocks were at contraries again this morning. There was activity all around in early trading. The lower opening in railroad shares was due largely to London selling and to stop orders caught. The apathy of the public also makes short selling comparatively safe. Lackawanna, Lake Shore, Burlington and Union Pacific were among the first to feel the pressure. The opening was but fractionally lower with New England down ⅜ and Lake Shore ⅝ per cent from last night's figures, and while there was a slight hesitation in some stocks, a decided weakness soon manifested itself all along the line and, in spite of a rally of two per cent in Sugar Refineries, all the leading stocks were soon materially lower than the opening figures. Illinois Central yielded 1¾ to 92¼, Burlington 1¼, St. Paul 1⅜, Northwestern, Lackawanna and Union Pacific each 1¼, and Missouri Pacific 1. New England and Lake Shore with Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis retired ¾ each, but the first named at the lowest point was 1½ below its last night's price. The advance in Sugar and the downward movement in the regular list came to an end at the same time and slight reactions occurred, the market becoming comparatively quiet. Late in the hour there was renewed activity in Lead Trust at slightly lower figures. St. Paul, Union Pacific and Burlington were specially active, but there was large trading in all leading shares, the rest of the list being comparatively neglected. This proved a big bear day in railroad stocks. Money was bid up to 12 per cent. There was heavy short selling of standard shares all through the list. Liquidation, which still continues, helped the decline along. No group of stocks was spared. Vanderbilts, Villards, Grangers, Coalers and Specialties all were pounded. Burlington closed down at 87⅝; St. Paul at 75¾, or 2¼ points off; Union Pacific down to 44, or 2 lower; Louisville, Northern Pacific preferred and Lake Shore were also very weak. Sales reached 344,000 shares, the largest for months.
