Everything in the line of school supplies, such as pencils, crayons, pens, tablets, etc, at Van de Zedde's.

It pays to trade at Vans, and besides he will give you, free of charge, a handsome chrome in the course of time. Go and see him.

David Hileman arrived here Monday from Julesburg, Colo, having made the trip by team. He expects to rent a farm and remain here next year.

W I Nolan is superb as an entertainer and as a humorist. He will keep you laughing if you haven't laughed for ten years. Come out and have a good laugh. It will do you more good than the price of a ticket.

Hoarseness in a child subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given at once or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Contains no poison. Sold by all druggists.

U S Senator E J Burkett spoke in the court house at this place at an afternoon political meeting Wednesday. The speaker was introduced by Rev J L Phillips of South Sioux City, and for nearly an hour held his hearers in close attention, while he made his position clear on all the important progressive republican issues.

District court convened here last Thursday morning, after a few days' adjournment, and the case of Thos Sullivan vs the S C & W and the C B & Q Ry Cos was taken up for trial. A jury was empaneled and some of the testimony taken, when the case was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff, without prejudice. Court adjourned again until October 27th.

The practice of writing on newspapers and packages—impairing some information to relatives and friends on papers and parcels mailed there—has become so common with thoughtless and ignorant people that the $10 penalty has been made $100 by the postal department, and hereafter offenders will have to stand arrest and trial. Newspaper publishers can do the general public good by imparting the latest governmental action on the matter.

H W Feldman has put in a private phone line to his place at Crystal Lake.

Mrs Catherine Thompson of Savannah, Ill, is visiting at the E H Cornell home.

The man's family has been notified but did not come to take charge of the remains.

See any of the following for season tickets to the lecture course entertainments this year: W L Ross, D Van de Zedde, George Orr, John Evans, Geo Wilkins and Paul Pizey. Call any of these men up by phone and give your orders for tickets. Potatoes and corn are bringing a high price this year and there is a bumper crop so don't be a grouchy but phone for a season ticket. Be metropolitan and boost for your home town and a public spirit.

George Wilkins and D G Evans went to Horsefoot, Neb, Saturday for a few days' hunt for chickens and ducks. They stopped with Ed Wilkins, George's brother, while there. Miss Lena Wilkins looked after business in the office of the clerk of the district court for her brother, and Ward Evans attended to his brother's duties in the county treasurer's office. They returned Thursday morning and feasted on prairie chicken brought down by George's trusty repeater.

Another of those pleasant occasions which happens in so few lives was held at home of Mr and Mrs John C Gribble at their pleasant farm home five miles west of Dakota City last Saturday afternoon. It being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage about a hundred relatives and old friends of the family assembled and surprised them on the happy occasion. This worthy couple are among the first settlers of Dakota county, coming to Nebraska with the vanguard of civilization. Mr Gribble settled in Dakota county May 18, 1857, while Mrs Gribble—then Mary Conroy, accompanied the Father Tracy colony here in 1858. On October 8, 1880, they joined hearts and hands for a long and happy married life. Many tokens of remembrance and esteem were presented them on this, the fiftieth milestone of their wedded life, and many were the good wishes tendered them for the future.

W L Ross returned Wednesday from a week's trip into Montana, where he went to look over the Judas Basin country, and visit his brother Frank. He was well pleased with the country there, but did not invest. His father, L Ross, who accompanied him on the trip, expects to return to Montana to reside in the spring.

We think there is nothing more cruel than for a man to be so unmerciful as to make love to a pure hearted girl or woman with a view to compel her to do things which are against her nature; by tormenting her with those beneath her level, until her life is a burden and she is a fit subject for the insane asylum or the grave. We think punishment to great for such a crime.

Fred Deussing will represent the I O O F lodge of this place at the session of grand lodge to be held in Lincoln beginning next Tuesday. Mrs Mary R McBeath will represent the Rebekah branch of the order which meets at the same time and place. From Lincoln she will go to Blue Springs, Neb, for a short visit with her granddaughter, Miss Neva Best, who is teaching in the public schools there.

ALL ARE CONCERNED

IMPROVEMENT OF NATION'S WATERWAYS OF INTEREST TO EVERY CITIZEN.

VITAL FACTS ARE PRESENTED

Cost of Getting Grain to Market Materially Reduced Through Shipment by Water—Benefits Distributed All Over the Country.

You may not know it—you probably don't—but it is a matter of importance to you whether the waterways of the United States are improved or not—and this is true no matter who you are, what your business is, or what part of the country you live in. It may be that you are a farmer and you tell me that it is nonsense to say that it can make any difference to you whether the waterways of the country are improved or not, because you live away out west, miles away from any river which is navigable now or ever will be.

Well, I admit that it is not as easy to see as the grain elevator down at your railway station, but the benefit is there just the same—a real, sure-enough, dollars-and-cents benefit. Waterways have already been of tremendous advantage to the farmers of the country and their further improvement will put more money into your pockets and those of your neighbors. Take grain for an illustration. A large part of the grain raised in the country is shipped away from the place where it is grown, some for use in the eastern states and some for export to Europe. Under these conditions the price of grain is not fixed at the nearest railway station. Your wheat, for instance, is worth just what it will bring in Liverpool—less the cost of getting it there. You can see at once that it makes a whole lot of difference to you how much it costs to send your grain to New York or Liverpool—and there's where the waterway comes in.

Where Economy Comes In.

In 1908 the average cost of carrying wheat from Chicago to Buffalo by lake was one cent a bushel, while the cost by rail to New York was 11.7 cents—almost twelve times as much—although the distance is the same. But grain which is to go all the way by water must be transferred to canal boats at Buffalo. Little canal boats drawn by mules cannot carry stuff as cheaply as big ships driven by steam, so the through rate by water was six cents a bushel, a little over half as much as by rail. For the twenty years ending with 1908 the water rate, on the average, was lower than the rail rate by 6.2 cents a bushel. On the shipments from Lake Superior the difference was greater still, since Duluth is less than 100 miles farther from New York than Chicago is by water and nearly 500 miles farther by rail, but no comparative rates are published.

The beneficial effects of the waterway, through lowered cost of transportation, are not confined to the grain shipped from cities on the lakes, but extend to practically all the grain produced. The total production of the five principal cereals—wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye—during the past 40 years, was over 120,000,000 bushels. If the average addition to the value of this vast volume of grain was five cents a bushel, and that seems a moderate figure in view of the facts stated above, the total is more than $6,000,000,000—nearly all of which has gone into the pockets of the farmers.

But while the beneficial effect of the waterways extends to a surprising distance, a waterway close by exerts a very much more direct and powerful influence than one a long way off. If the Great Lakes and the Erie canal have increased the value of grain all over the west, what do you suppose would happen if the Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas and Red rivers were so improved that boats could run every day in the year unless hindered by ice?

Money Needed for Work.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress is working for the improvement of the rivers, harbors and waterways in all parts of the United States. Chairman Alexander of the rivers and harbors committee, says that $325,000,000 will complete every project which has been begun or has been recommended by the army engineers. Five hundred million dollars would probably finish up all of these and all the new projects which will be surveyed and adopted within the next few years.

The average annual production of the five principal cereals, which during the last ten years has been 415,000,000 bushels, has been steadily increasing and will probably continue to increase for some time to come.

The complete improvement of all our waterways would increase the value of every bushel of grain produced by at least five cents—my own opinion is that it would be more than that.

But let us be on the safe side. Suppose we spend a billion dollars on waterways instead of a half-billion; suppose that the production of grain remains as it is instead of increasing; and suppose that the price of grain is increased only 2½ cents a bushel instead of five.

Even so, with production stationary, the expense doubled and the benefit cut in half, the whole $1,000,000,000 would be returned in less than ten years in the increased price of grain alone.

Warm Floors Insure the Children's Health

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wanted with all other stoves.

The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor.

Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney.

The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first quality gray cast iron is used.

Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms.

Burns Soft Coal, Slack, Lignite, Hard Coal, Wood and lighter fuel. Make your selection now.

Steady Even Temperature Day and Night.
