WEATHER UNKIND TO BRYAN

Housewarming Postponed Several Times and Then Held in Rain Storm.

PLANS UNIQUE CELEBRATION OF FOURTH

Supreme Court Upholds Omaha Police Judge in Fining Waiters for Distributing "Unfair" Cards Near Restaurants.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., July 3.—(Special Telegram.)—Doubtless W. J. Bryan is disposed to institute an investigation of the Weather bureau for the shabby treatment it has accorded him in his effort to welcome his friends at his splendid new home, Fairview. First he selected two evenings in May for the reception, inviting about 600 friends to attend on the two evenings. Bad weather prompted a postponement and later it was announced that the functions would be held June 8 and 9. As those dates approached it again became evident that the weather was going to be intolerable and the receptions were declared off indefinitely.

During the current week it was announced that in view of the presence of Hon. Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, Lewis F. Post and Dr. Howard S. Taylor of Chicago at Fairview to take part in the celebration of the Fourth, the reception would be crowded into a single evening and all who had been invited for the double-headed affairs previously planned were bidden to come enmasse tonight.

The weather was ideal up to the hour for the guests to assemble, when there was a terrific thunderstorm, accompanied by a deluge. The result was that not more than half the number of invited attended the reception. Most of those who did went by the electric cars. This entailed a walk of several blocks across the prairie to the Bryan home, a sidewalk having been laid especially for the occasion. En route the guests passed the grove and big tent in which tomorrow's speaking is to occur, and the latter served as a retreat for numerous parties that left the cars in the midst of the rain.

The big new mansion was embellished with flags and an abundance of flowers and potted plants. An orchestra on the third floor played during the evening. In the library punch was served by a corps of women, and in the elaborate dining room on the half-basement floor ices and cake was served by a half a dozen young women, led by Miss Ruth Bryan.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, Mr. Johnson, Dr. Taylor and Mr. Post. There was an absence of formality. Many evening costumes were worn by both women and men, but they were not an essential. The entire house was thrown open to inspection and elicited much extravagant admiration. The reception continued from 8:30 until 10 o'clock. The souvenirs were tiny silken flag badges.

Celebration of the Fourth.

Hon. Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, with Howard S. Taylor of Chicago and Lewis F. Post, editor of The Public, guests of honor at the Bryan celebration of the Fourth of July tomorrow, arrived today, and tonight were presented to several hundred Lincoln people at a reception at the Bryan home, Fairview.

Mr. Bryan has arranged for a celebration tomorrow that is unique and unusual, but what he insists, however, is simply a revival of old days. Mr. Bryan says that the celebration is not his, but that of the Jefferson club of Fairview, of which he is president, but just who the other members are is not made known.

Big delegations from out in the state are expected, and an immense crowd is looked for. Several thousand seats have been provided and there will be a big tent to house the speakers and auditors. The celebration will last the greater part of the day.

The program begins at 10 o'clock in the morning with a band concert. At 11 o'clock ex-State Treasurer Wolfe and J. W. Crist will speak on "Pioneer Reminiscences," and at 12 o'clock luncheon will be served by the club. At 1 o'clock the speechmaking begins again. Mr. Bryan will preside and introduce each speaker. Mayor Johnson, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Post will all speak. There will be music, both vocal and instrumental, and the colonel has left the latchstring hanging entirely out, with no "Keep off the grass" signs visible.

Want the Soldier Boys.

The state militia appears to be in demand for Fourth of July celebrations. Adjutant General Culver has issued an order relating to their movements tomorrow, as follows:

The following companies of the Nebraska National Guard, having made application to leave their home stations to participate in the celebration of the Fourth of July, company commanders are hereby granted permission to move their commands as follows, without expense to the state:

Company L, First regiment, from Omaha to Cortland beach on July 3 and return on July 4.

Company E, Second regiment, from Tekamah to Oakland on July 3 and return on July 5.

Company G, First regiment, from Beatrice to Wymore on July 4 and return on the same day.

Troop A, from Seward to Beaver Crossing on July 3 and return on July 5.

Company I, Second regiment, from Omaha to Weeping Water on July 4 and return on the same day.

Gatling gun section of Company F, Second regiment, under command of Lieutenant Linder, from Lincoln to Weeping Water on July 4 and returning on the same day.

Company F, First regiment, from Madison; Company L, Second regiment, from Norfolk, and West Point Rifles, from West Point, to Stanton on July 3 and return on July 5.

Commanding officers will take necessary precautions to prevent accident or loss of property.

Holds Two Jobs Down.

The state superintendent has been appealed to for a decision in a curious case from Sioux county, in which a man whose house is just on the state line officiates as a director in both states. The facts are set forth in the subjoined letter from a resident of Harrison:

District No. 38 of this county borders on the state line between Nebraska and South Dakota. The director of district No. 38 owns land in each state and the state line runs through his house, leaving about half of the house in each state. Part of the time he sleeps in the portion which is in South Dakota. He is a director of the adjoining district on the South Dakota side also. He owns property in each state, resides in each state and votes at each school meeting in each state. Is he a legal voter of each district and a legal officeholder? Is it lawful for him to be the director of each district? If not, how can it be decided which state and district he is a resident of?

This is the first time in the history of the department that such a question has been put to it, but Deputy McBrien bravely attacked the problem, and informed the anxious county officials that the proper way to do was to make a demand upon the dual officeholder that he choose which state he wanted to claim a residence in. Until he makes the choice he will not be permitted to vote in Nebraska, as Mr. McBrien is of the opinion that a man cannot have two residences for the purpose of making him a school director in two states.

Signs His Pardon.

Governor Mickey today signed the papers which will give old Martin Haley his freedom tomorrow. Haley is the only convict eligible for a pardon, but it is doubtful if the man will ever know that liberty is his again. He is now at the Hastings asylum, and will be turned loose only if the authorities think it is safe for him to go.

Elks Seek New Home.

The local lodge of Elks is having a business session tonight for the purpose of considering a proposition to buy the old J. D. Macfarland home at Fourteenth and Q streets as a permanent club house. The house is one of the finest in the city, costing about $65,000 in the old boom days. Its owner is dead and the place has gone into the hands of the Northwestern Insurance company. The Commercial club had a deal on some time ago for buying the place, but gave it up because a more central location was desired. The Elks have been offered it for $20,000, and if the matter can be financed the deal will be made. Considerable objection has arisen because of the financial side of the question, but if this can be disposed of the place will be purchased.

Governor Mickey Will Cable.

Governor Mickey will tomorrow help celebrate the opening of the cable line to the Philippines by sending this message to Major Brad Slaughter, a former Nebraskan now located at Manila:

Congratulations on the laying of the new cable. Great is the triumph of genius.

The invitation to send a message was proffered by the new cable company, and the message will be one of the first to go over the cable. Other governors have received similar invitations.

Mail Carriers to Meet.

The rural free mail carriers of the state will meet here tomorrow to form a state association. Frank H. Cunningham of South Omaha is here and in charge of the arrangements. The object is to strengthen the efficiency of the service and incidentally to get better pay for the men, who now carry the mails at small salaries. Edward Rosewater of The Omaha Bee and Congressman Burkett will speak.

Tonner Makes a Mistake.

W. H. Tonner of Lynch has played a joke upon himself by refusing to accept an appointment for a one-year term as secretary of the State Board of Pharmacy because he had been strongly recommended for the long term. The appointment was made early this week and he has just written the secretary of state that he could not think of accepting the short term because he had been recommended by the Board of Secretaries for the long term. Now it transpires that his appointment to the short term was made with the express understanding among members of the State Board of Pharmacy that when the short term should expire he would be appointed for the full term, which is said to be five years. His declination brings to the front again the names of Messrs. Kuhn of Omaha, Dort of Auburn and Schupbach of Columbus, who were recommended by the secretaries for the short term.

The Plattsmouth Savings bank has filed articles of incorporation, with an authorized capital of $25,000 and with J. M. Roberts, Tom Parmele, S. H. Atwood and W. H. Newell as incorporators.

The Farmers Exchange bank of Tamora has incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $50,000, of which $5,000 is paid in. The incorporators are L. A. Sandberg, Anna C. Sandberg and J. R. Collins.

Miles Will Case Again.

In the case of Joseph Williams against Joseph Miles, the celebrated Miles will case, a motion to modify the former opinion has been denied, holding that:

1. Declarations of the testator are competent evidence on an issue as to whether a will was made, but will not suffice, of themselves, to prove its contents.

2. Where opinions are prepared by commissioners they must be permitted, necessarily, to state their reasons in their own way, without binding the court to all that is said arguendo, even though it concurs in the conclusions of law and express findings of fact.

3. Opinions expressed by the commissioners on matters not essential to the decision, while properly set forth to advise counsel that their arguments in briefs or at the hearing have been duly considered, do not become necessarily the law of the case and it will not preclude further investigation of such points, should they come before the court once more.

Protest Was in Time.

The court holds that the district court of Douglas county committed no error in granting a writ of mandamus against the Omaha Fire and Police board requiring that board to convene and hear protests against the issuance of a saloon license to Charles Metz. John D. McRae had filed a remonstrance by mail, which the board held was received too late for consideration. The court says:

A protest addressed to a board empowered to grant saloon licenses was sent by mail, and received prior to any action granting the license protested against. The board took cognisance of the same and ordered it preserved in the files of the office. Held, that the protest was "filed" in the proper office within the meaning of the law, and that it became the duty of the board to "appoint a day for the hearing of the case" under the requirements of section 3, chapter 1, of the compiled statutes.

Rehearing is Refused.

The court has overruled a motion for a rehearing in the case of J. C. Cleland and other members of the Nebraska Lumber Dealers' association against George E. Anderson. The former judgment is adhered to. Commissioner Pound, who wrote the former opinion, has written one on the motion for a rehearing. Anderson was a lumberman who alleged that the state association had damaged his business by certain methods. He had a cause of action for injury to his business against some seven joint tort-feasors. He brought an action against three of them. Pending the action he became bankrupt and listed his interest therein among his assets. In consequence it was sold, along with other property, and the purchaser made a settlement with the defendants. Afterward he brought the present action against the other four tort-feasors, who set up the settlement in satisfaction in bar. The question is whether the interest of the bankrupt in the pending action passed to the trustee and thence to the purchaser, so as to enable the latter to make a settlement. The court says:

Where the state stautes make a distinction between a plaintiff's interests in a pending action and his cause of action before suit brought, making the one assignable in cases where the other is not, the interest of a bankrupt in a pending action which he might sell and assign, and of which his creditors might obtain the benefit on administration of his estate, is to be held "property" within the perview of subdivision 3, section 1[illegible], national bankruptcy act, rather than a "right of action" under subdivision 6.

Waiters' Fines Stand.

The supreme court late this afternoon handed down an opinion sustaining the finding and sentence of the police court in imposing $2 fines and costs upon Sid Anderson and Si Johnson, striking waiters, for distributing unfair cards, printed circulars or handbills upon the streets, and the action of the district court in denying them a writ of habeas corpus. It holds that:

"When a municipality is expressly authorized by legislation to enact a certain ordinance in execution of the police power, such ordinance stands on the same basis as a statute, and its reasonableness or unreasonableness is not a matter for the courts, except as such question would bear upon the constitutionality of a statute of the same nature.

A police regulation, obviously intended as such, and not operating unreasonably beyond the occasions of its enactment, is not invalid because it may affect incidentally the exercise of some right guaranteed by the constitution.

An ordinance making it unlawful to circulate or distribute printed or written dodgers, handbills or circulars upon the public streets, alleys, sidewalks or public grounds of the municipality does not contravene section 5, article 1 of the state constitution.

The opinion is by Commissioner Pound.

Woodmen Verdict Stands.

In an opinion by Judge Holcomb the court denies the Modern Woodmen of America a rehearing of the case against it by Asa Coleman, from Cass county. It had been claimed because Commissioner Ames, in the original opinion, had indulged in some very pointed language. Among other things he said: "A charitable organization which collects its funds with avidity, but is astute in finding excuses for not bestowing them upon the designated objects of its bounty is not entitled to any exclusive or special consideration at the hands of the court. The enormous volume of litigation with which associations of this kind have flooded the country, and the extremely technical character of their defenses in many cases, to actions upon their beneficiary certificates are a sufficient commentary upon an appeal for tender consideration by the judiciary."

Judge Holcomb says in effect that these remarks were called forth by arguments in the brief and merely express the individual opinions of the writer, who is entitled to express his opinions in his own way. They were not material to the issue, in which the commission had given a correct exposition of the lay. The parts complained of were not binding on the court, nor does it wish to be understood as endorsing them, but they are sanctioned by the court as an animadversion.

The court has reversed and remanded the case wherein George P. Hoy was convicted of assault and battery in Cuming county because of a row over a fence across the "Blair road." It was because the court denied one instruction tending to strengthen his plea of self-defense.

Appeals Amendment Case.

Deputy Attorney General Brown filed today a petition in error in the supreme court against the recent ruling of District Judge Holmes restraining the secretary of state from drawing warrants in payment of legislation at a rate more than $3 a day or for a period longer than forty days. The errors assigned are so formal as to be noteworthy. They are as follows:

Said judgment is not supported by the evidence; said judgment is contrary to the evidence; said judgment is not supported by the law; said judgment is contrary to the law; said court erred in allowing a permanent injunction against plaintiff in error; the court erred in overruling the motion for a new trial.

REFRESHING RAINS IN STATE

Showers Come at Many Places and Greatly Benefit Growing Crops.

GIBBON, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Almost five inches of rain fell here last night and it is still wet and threatening today.

ST. PAUL, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—A fine rain fell here last night, amounting to nearly two inches, just such a rain as was needed at this time. This will be sufficient for all needs of small grain, and also be a great help for corn.

SCHUYLER, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Three-quarters of an inch of rain fell here last night, which was very much needed, as the surface of the ground was so dry and hard that working the soil was very unsatisfactory. Small grains are in fine condition, wheat and rye ripening, some rye being cut. Corn is growing at a marvelous rate, yet much of it is late and weedy.

WEST POINT, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Crops in Cuming county generally, with the exception of corn, which is backward, never looked better at this season of the year. Prospects are good for an abundant yield of all field crops. The timely rains have ensured a continuous, healthy growth of all products. The intense heat of the last three days, which at times reached 98 degrees, culminated last night in a severe thunder storm, accompanied by heavy rains. No damage was done, excepting to hay, of which a large quantity was down.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—A drenching rain visited Norfolk very early last evening and continued to pour throughout the night. The storm came after an extremely sultry day. The water has tended to benefit crops generally.

LEXINGTON, Neb., July 3.—(Special Telegram.)—The heaviest rain in the memory of the oldest inhabitant fell here last night and today. A portion of the city had the appearance of a lake. Sidewalks are afloat in many places and water has entered a number of buildings. It is feared much damage has been done to the grain crop. The precipitation was 4.5 inches.

GRANT, Neb., July 3.—(Special Telegram.)—It has been raining steadily all day. The wheat crop and all small grain is assured.

Royal Neighbors Have Picnic.

M'COOL JUNCTION, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The Royal Neighbors of McCool will picnic and celebrate the Fourth of July on the Blue river at this place. A program, consisting of music, recitations, speeches, select readings, vocal and instrumental music, has been prepared for the occasion. No admittance will be charged to the grounds and everybody is invited. The Royal Neighbors, assisted by the Woodmen, will serve ice cream and lemonade.

Dies as Result of Debauch.

KEARNEY, Neb., July 3.—(Special Telegram.)—Al Young, a bartender, died in convulsions just before noon today in Goodell's livery stable, where he went at an early hour this morning after a night spent in playing cards and drinking. The dead man had been formerly in the saloon business at Gibbon and had no relatives in these parts, but it is supposed that he has some in Kansas.

Business Men to Play Ball.

M'COOL JUNCTION, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The business men on the north and south side of Main street have chosen E. E. Lincoln captain for the south side and Dr. F. S. Morris for the north side. LOVE, JEALOUSY AND CRIME

Peculiar Story Will Be Told on Stand in Murder Trial.

FRYMYRE OUTLINES HIS DEFENSE

Man in Adams County Jail Says that Dead Woman Was His Wife and that He Shot Her Accidentally.

HASTINGS, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—An interesting trial which will be held at the next term of the district court here will be that of Charles Frymyre, now confined in the county jail of Adams county, charged with the murder of Tracy Odlenburg Puls at Eustis, Frontier county, February 21, last.

Frymyre's parents live at Holdrege, but the young man was reared by an uncle who lives at Stockville. As he appears in his cell, he is five feet eight inches high, compactly built, clean shaven, fairly well educated, and discloses a neatness in personal appearance.

Story of Jealousy.

The alleged story of the crime shows love and jealousy as the cause. For a year Frymyre had been keeping company with Miss Oldenburg, and their relation had become very intimate. During the year however, Richard Puls, a neighbor, bachelor and ranchman appeared on the scene, sued for the hand of the girl, and their marriage was the sequel.

Three days after the nuptials Frymyre armed himself, mounted his horse and rode up to the ranch house of Puls, discharging his pistol into the air as he rode. Mrs. Puls was the first to hear and see him, and she cried to her husband "Here comes Frymyre, shooting!" Almost simultaneously Frymyre entered the house and a desperate hand-to-hand fight ensued between the two men, and in the fray a revolver was discharged.

Frymyre then ordered the woman to go out and into his buggy at the same time charging her husband to remain in the house. His orders were obeyed and he got into the vehicle, beside the woman, and started for his ranch on Cannon Bank. They had proceeded but a short distance when he became aware that his companion was shot.

Woman Was His Wife.

This fact, he says, surprised and shocked him "In fact," he continued, "Tracy and I were married fourteen months before this affair happened. She was teaching school last winter in a German community, and her folks did not like me. They tried to separate us, not knowing our relation. She was in a delicate condition at the time and when this was known to them they forced her to marry Puls against her will. As soon as I heard this, I went where she was, to take her home, to save her honor. But during the trouble which followed she was accidentally shot and nobody realized it for several minutes after. God knows I would not have harmed her intentionally. When I found she was hurt I took her to the nearest house and sent for a doctor, and I stayed beside her until I was arrested that night. From that hour to this my position has been misunderstood."

Frymyre was greatly agitated and wept while narrating the circumstances.

Norfolk Taking a Census.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The city is to take a census. This was determined by the city council for the purpose of determining the population, and thus securing grounds for the issuance of bonds. It is considered that the city has grown 25 per cent since the national census in 1900.

Change in Firm Name.

WEST POINT, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The hardware firm of Schultz & Neiburg has been reorganized. Charles Stoltzman has purchased the interest of Mr. Schultz, who retires from the firm on account of ill health.

Charged with Horse Stealing.

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—C. F. Boedel, a stranger, is in jail here, charged with horsestealing. A few nights ago a horse was taken from R. Y. Lisco's pasture one mile south of town and the same night a set of harness and a buggy disappeared from D. H. Harrington's barn on the Duncan road. Sheriff Byrnes was at once notified and tracked his man to Shelton, where he found the property, which had been sold by Beedle. He turned back and found his man at Kearney. Beedle has nothing to say of the matter.

ATTEMPTED KIDNAPING FAILS

Young Man Comes to Rescue of Miss Kackley and Assailants Run.

ASHLAND, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—News has been received here of the attempt made to kidnap Miss Linnie Kackley, a former resident of Ashland, whose parents now reside at Lena, McPherson county, Neb. The attempt to abduct Miss Kackley was made in the evening. She was a student of the Nebraskan Wesleyan university and as she stepped out of the back door of her boarding place, which was located three blocks from the university, two men grabbed her, throwing a handkerchief over her face. The handkerchief was saturated with some kind of drug, the effect of which was to make Miss Kackley unconscious. The villains were thwarted from carrying out their purpose by the presence of mind of a young man, also an inmate of the boarding house, who was attracted by the girl's screams. Other inmates who heard the screams thought it was only a matter of play among the young people, but this young man very luckily took it seriously and jumped through an open window, frightening the kidnapers away before they succeeded in bearing their victim to a closed carriage nearby, which stood in waiting to receive her. In the meantime the kidnapers made their escape in the darkness with the carriage.

Miss Kackley was badly frightened and could not give a description of her assailants, but she remembered that one of the men wore a mask. Local friends of Miss Kackley believe that the present attempt to kidnap her furnishes the sequence of a threat made in February, 1901, while the family resided in Ashland. At that time a letter was posted near their door demanding that $1,000 in gold be placed near a whistle post on the Schuyler branch of the B. & M. railroad, failure to do so to result in the kidnaping of the daughter for a ransom. It was then thought to be the work of parties from Ogalalla, Neb., which was at one time the home of Miss Kackley and her parents.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Norfolk is to have another telephone line. This was definitely assured yesterday by the incorporation of the Elkhorn Valley Telephone company, with headquarters in this city. The officers of the new company are: E. Duke Naven, president; George B. Christoph, vice president; I. S. Mahan, secretary and treasurer; directors, G. A. Luikart, George B. Christoph, P. C. Dings, E. Luke Naven and I. S. Mahan. Mr. Luikart is president of the Citizens National bank of Norfolk, Mr. Christoph is a druggist. The treasurer, I. S. Mahan, is a resident of Lemars, Ia. The new company expects to be established with their exchange before fall of this year.

Business Changes at Ashland.

ASHLAND, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—The Depot hotel changed hands this week, W. L. Boring succeeding F. E. Whitney as proprietor. The Edwards & Bradford Lumber company, which has been under the management of J. W. Stratton in this city for two years past, disposed of its stock this week to W. S. Perrine of Lincoln. C. D. Russell of Sioux City, Ia., George A. Shaw of Fremont and S. H. Martin of Beatrice are here in behalf of the company in making the transfer of the stock.

Arrested for Destroying Property.

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—E. W. Mann was fined $25 and costs in the county court yesterday for destroying personal property. He was working in the streets of the village of Monroe and deliberately broke a lot of tiling with a pick. It is claimed that his act was in revenge for not having been appointed overseer of streets by the village board.

YORK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—Hundreds of York citizens will celebrate in the surrounding and nearby towns. Many will leave on the trains for Benedict, Aurora, Seward, Grand Island and other towns. Two Others Are Very Low and May Also Die from Same Cause.

Settle Lighting Problem.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—A fight of long standing over the street lighting qestion in Norfolk was finally settled last night by the city council in a compromise between the two rival companies. The competition has been between the Norfolk Electric Light and Power company and the Norfolk Fuel and Light company, who manipulate a gas plant. During the period of unsettlement there have been no lights in the residence portion of the city at all. Now the electric light company has been given a five years' contract for arc lights in the business portion and the gas company will furnish gas lights in the residence part. The culmination was brought about by the republican election in this spring's municipal campaign. The party stood for "better lights."

Buy Land for Elevator.

YORK, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—A business meeting of the Farmers' Independent Elevator company was held at the court house and was one of the largest attended meetings. At this meeting stock was subscribed to the amount of $3,000. An option was purchased on property abutting railroad property and sidetracks of the Northwestern railroad and an application has been made for elevator privileges. Whether or not the Northwestern will grant the request is not known.
