SAYS JAILER ASSAULTED HIM

Aged Man Sues Deputy Sheriff Who, He Says, Knocked Him Down.

John C. Henry, an aged shoemaker, has begun suit in district court against Deputy Sheriff August Sideen for $5,000 for personal injuries in an assault he says Sideen made upon him November 12. He went to the county jail to deliver a pair of shoes to Captain Haas and he says Sideen, who was in charge, knocked him down on the hard pavement. As Henry is a cripple, he declares, the injuries forced him to remain in bed two weeks and has permanently injured his health. Henry also filed an assault and battery case in a local justice court.

MURDER CASE NEARS END

Fate of Pumphrey in Hands of Jury This Afternoon.

MULLEN'S STORY CORROBORATED

Barkeeper Declares He Saw Allmack and Pumphrey in Saloon Several Times on Night of Killing of Ham Pak.

The fate of Charles Pumphrey, the 19-year-old boy charged with the murder of Han Pak, will be given into the hands of the jury sometime this afternoon. The evidence was all in at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Deputy County Attorney Ellick followed immediately with his opening argument. He was followed by John O. Yelser for the defense, who talked for an hour before the adjournment of court and will resume this morning. He will be followed by Carl E. Herring for the defense and County Attorney English will close for the state.

The state closed its case with a strong piece of rebuttal evidence in the testimony of Fred Sergeant, barkeeper at the Turf Exchange saloon, under the Han Pak restaurant. Sergeant testified that on the night of the murder he went on duty at 6 o'clock and remained until closing time at 1 o'clock. He said the defendant, Charles Pumphrey, and Willis Allmack were in the saloon together several times during that interval and that he talked to Allmack. He said he thought one of the times they were in was between 8 and 9 o'clock, and then he asked Allmack why he was not working. Allmack told him Mullen was working in his place. This evidence corroborates Mullen's story and tends to discredit that of Pumphrey, who said he was in the room of Anna Farr, his sweetheart, from 7 o'clock until midnight.

Denies Chloroform Theory.

Dr. Fitzgibbons testified Pak was not given enough chloroform during the operation on his head to cause his death, and Basil Mullen was recalled to deny the story of Pumphrey that he had struck Pak and intimidated Pumphrey into running away. One piece of evidence intended to discredit Pumphrey's testimony could not be offered because of a ruling of the court that it was not proper rebuttal and should have been offered in chief. This was the testimony of Detective Drummy concerning certain statements alleged to have been made by Pumphrey to him on the way back from Arkansas.

At 3 o'clock Deputy County Attorney Ellick began his opening statement. He devoted most of his time to a detailed review of the evidence on both sides.

"If Pumphrey had been innocent of the crime of killing Ham Pak he would have escaped during the three minutes he said he stood there in darkness while Mullen and Allmack were in the bed room. His first impulse would have been to escape and give the alarm. He would have cried out to the policeman they saw standing on the corner on their way to the depot. When he got to St. Louis he changed his name to McKelvie and only changed it back again in order to cash a money order from home. Then he took a new alias and fled to Memphis and then to the little summer resort in Arkansas. Was this the act of an innocent man?"

Yelser Opposes Death Penalty.

John O. Yelser devoted the first hour of his argument to an argument against the infliction of capital punishment on criminals.

"Killing by the state," he declared, "causes murder by suggestion among its citizens. Murder of criminals by the state is the cause of lynchings because it suggests the killing of criminals. In those states where hanging is the legal method of execution, hanging is the method taken by the mob. Where beheading is the legal method of killing criminals the stilette and the knife are the weapons of the mob. Where criminals are shot by the state the mob is satisfied with that method of executing its victims.

"The sultan of Tuykey recognizes that suggestion is the cause of murders when he censors the press and will not allow the publication of the news of the assassination of a ruler by any papers in his realm. When President McKinley was shot the papers in Turkey announced the cause of his death to be indigestion.

"The growing sentiment against capital punishment is shown in the examination of jurors in this case by the members who declared they would not bring in a verdict with the death penalty. The killing of criminals by the state does not lessen crime. The man who commits murder does not think of the penalty. If the death penalty were intended to prevent crime the state would require it to be done in public instead of in the presence of only a half a dozen witnesses. If it is bad for the public to see a hanging it is bad for it to read about it in the papers."

Four Convicts Testify.

Four convicts from the penitentiary and two prisoners from the county jail, all closely guarded by deputy sheriffs and detectives, were the principal witnesses for the defense Friday morning. All six of the witnesses gave testimony as to alleged conversations had with Basil Mullen, the state's leading witness, tending to show that Mullen had made statements inconsistent with his testimony on the stand and to exonerate Pumphrey from participation in the crime.

Pumphrey was called to the witness stand at the beginning of the session for cross-examination. County Attorney English began to ask him questions relating to alleged conversations with Detective Drummy in order to lay the foundation for rebuttal testimony by Drummy by which the state hopes to show that Pumphrey made statements inconsistent with evidence he gave on the stand. Attorney Yelser objected to the questions on the ground the evidence should have been offered in chief and Judge Troup took his ruling under advisement.

Charles Williams, who is serving a three-year term in the penitentiary, testified while he was in jail with Mullen the latter told him Pumphrey did not have anything to do with the murder, but that the detectives had told him if he stuck the other boys he would be allowed to get off with a reform school sentence. J. C. Bowen, who is serving a three-year term for shooting a man at Gretna, and Charles Price, who is in for five years for holding up and shooting Fred Pepple of South Omaha; William L. Williams, a negro serving a sentence for burglary; John Rigby, serving ninety days in the county jail for vagrancy, and Louis Miller, who is in jail awaiting trial on a burglary charge, all testified to similar conversations.

All Heavily Guarded.

While these witnesses testified Sheriff McDonald guarded the entrance to the court room, while Deputy Sheriff Stryker took a position nearer the witness stand. Four or five detectives were distributed along the inside of the railing. The court room was crowded with spectators, scores of whom could not find seats and had to stand in the aisles.

The convicts from Lincoln were brought up early Friday morning by Sheriff McDonald and were taken back Friday afternoon.

The defense rested at 11 o'clock and the state will go on with rebuttal testimony at the afternoon session. It is believed the case will go to the jury Saturday evening.

NEVER WAS GENUINE PANIC

Flurry Due Solely to Faithless Bankers, Says Loup City Man.

"Nothing but a bankers' panic is the terse way A. P. Culley, president of the First National bank of Loup City, sizes up the financial flurry. "There never was a panic and there won't be one," added Mr. Culley. "I wrote a letter to John B. Forgan of Chicago, in reply to the Chicago bankers asking if we were ready to resume cash payments, in which I told him my sentiments. The thing is this: These fellows in the big cities saw a ghost and they tried to make us see the same ghost. We had to look through too thick a wall of prosperity to see any ghosts. There aren't any ghosts, or if there are they are only ghosts and nothing real.

"I got one of those Chicago letters in which the bankers there practically said: "If you leave your money on deposit with us, we'll resume paying cash.' Well, bless their hearts, my bank at Loup City never ceased to pay cash. We have been paying it right along and we are in better fix than we ever were."

Here is Mr. Culley's letter to Chicago:

Mr. John B. Forgan, Chairman Chicago Clearing House, Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sir: Your circular of November 22, carrying more of the seeds of our trouble, at hand. Why not resume normal ban
