AGENTS TO RIVER CONGRESS

Delegates from Omaha and Other Towns Named by Sheldon.

GOVERNOR WILL HEAD THE LINE

Picks Men from Towns Along the Missouri to Promote Water Traffic at the Sioux City Meeting.

Governor Sheldon has named six Omahans as delegates to the first annual convention of the Missouri River Navigation congress to be held in Sioux City January 22 and 23. Those named by the governor are Joseph Hayden, A. C. Smith, Rome Miller, James Walsh, H. T. Clarke and Alfred Sorenson.

Others from various parts of the state have been named by the governor of Nebraska, who expects to attend the congress himself also. Among his other delegates are W. D. Windham, C. Parmele and H. M. Dovey of Plattsmouth; Ed A. Frye of Niobrara, W. D. Funk of Bloomfield, H. D. Bryam of Decatur, I. C. Elder of Hale, R. K. Evans and William Warner of Dakota City, W. L. Hogan of St. James, William Hayward of Nebraska City, J. D. McCarty of Ponca, W. L. Weston of Hartington and Herman Taylor of Plainview.

Governor Sheldon has kept the river towns well in mind in naming his delegation. St. James is one of the towns of northern Nebraska which still enjoys river traffic, the flour from the big mills there being shipped to Sioux City by boat almost the year around. Plattsmouth, Blair, Nebraska City and Dakota City and Decatur all flourished when the steamboats were a means of transportation.

H. L. George, president of the Commercial club of St. Joseph, was in Omaha Friday enroute to his home. Mr. George said:

"The interest in river transportation at St. Joseph is keen. We will send a large delegation to Sioux City, and it is a source of great satisfaction to know that all the cities on the river are to co-operate."

STRAWBERRIES IN JANUARY

Sounds Like a Fairy Tale, but it is a Sober Fact, as Omahans Know.

Strawberries in January. It would almost sound like a fairy tale if it were not for the crisp, fresh lettuce, the tender new onions, the fresh radishes and all the other spring garden stuff that has been in market all fall and winter. Of course, these berries are a little more expensive than when raised in the home gardens, selling for 60 cents a quart, but they are fine looking and fine tasting and are selling well.

New vegetables have not looked better this winter than just at present. The head lettuce is especially fine and sells for 10 and 15 cents a bunch. Cuban tomatoes sell for 25 cents a pound and could not be finer if picked from the dooryard garden. Florida wax and string beans are selling by the pound just now instead of measure and bring 20 cents a pound. New radishes, parsley, turnips and onions are all 10 cents a bunch and new spinach is 40 cents a peck, a little higher than it has been for some time past.

New cucumbers are 20 cents each. Mushrooms are 65 cents a pound, decidedly cheaper than they were, and brussels sprouts are 35 and 60 cents a quart box. Irish potatoes sell for 20 and 25 cents a peck and sweet potatoes for 45 and 50 cents a peck.

Creamery butter sells from 30 to 33 cents a pound in the package and from 25 to 30 cents in bulk or roll.

Eggs are from 25 to 30 cents for the best and 15 cents a dozen for the others.

Chickens are still comparatively cheap, but the retail price varies greatly. Springs and hens wholesale for 10 cents a pound and springs under four pounds for 12½ cents a pound. Broilers or springs weighing under two pounds wholesale for 15 a dozen. Turkeys are 18 cents a pound, geese 11 cents and ducks 13 cents a pound.

PIONEER ARCHITECT IS GONE

Henry Voss Dies at His Home After Illness of Two or Three Years.

Henry Voss one of the pioneer architects of Omaha, died at 4 a. m. Friday at his home at Park avenue and Leavenworth street, after an illness of two or three years. He was about 63 years of age. Mr. Voss has been engaged in the business of an architect in Omaha and vicinity for upwards of thirty years and was some twenty years ago one of the foremost architects of the west. Among the buildings he designed are the Merchants hotel, the new Institute for the Deaf and Dumb and the Columbus (Nebraska) Opera house. Of late years he has not been engaged in much active work except in designing additions to the various breweries of Omaha, several of which are monuments to his handiwork. He has also designed many buildings throughout the state, more particularly public buildings of twenty or more years ago. He has no immediate family in Omaha.

The funeral service will take place at the undertaking establishment of Harry S. Davis at 9:30 a. m. Sunday, and will be conducted by Jacob Houck. Interment will be made in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Voss was a member of a number of the German societies of Omaha, some of which will participate in the funeral ceremonies.

JUDSON AND RAHM ARE TIED

Receive Same Vote for Election to Commercial Club Executive Board.

YETTER PRESIDENT, OF COURSE

Forty-Six Members of the New Board of Directors Meet and Select the Executive Committee.

Forty-six members of the board of directors of the Commercial club of Omaha met at the rooms at 12:30 o'clock Friday and elected W. L. Yetter president of the club, and an executive committee for 1908 consisting of the following twenty-five members of the board of directors:

E. H. Allen,	F. W. Judson,
H. H. Baldrige,	G. H. Kelly,
C. C. Belden,	Z. T. Lindsey,
E. A. Benson,	Euclid Martin,
E. E. Bruce,	Charles Metz,
W. H. Bucholz,	C. H. Pickens,
W. M. Burgess,	J. B. Rahm,
R. B. Busch,	F. E. Sanborn,
T. A. Fry,	John Steel,
D. B. Fuller,	G. H. Thomas,
W. M. Glass,	J. A. Sunderland,
F. L. Haller,	L. M. Talmage,
E. A. Hinrichs,	H. S. Welter,
	C. M. Wilhelm.

F. W. Judson and J. B. Rahm had an equal number of votes for the twenty-fifth place on the committee and it will be decided when the board organizes Tuesday which of the directors will remain as a member of the executive committee.

When Mr. Yetter was elected president he was escorted to his place by the committee and made a short address. C. M. Wilhelm, the retiring president, also addressed the directors and a vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers and members of the executive committee.

LID ON EVEN IN BILLINGS

Town Where Poker Was Once Chief Diversion Now Outlaws the Game.

"The lid and reform mania that started in the south and east has struck the west amidships and seem to be spreading over the entire country," said E. E. Stevens, a traveling jewelry salesman of Seattle, at the Paxton hotel. "Why, I spent Sunday and Monday of last week in Billings, Mont., and found all interest centered in the county court house where several prominent citizens were being prosecuted for running poker games, which pastime used to be considered in that town as one of the inalienable right guaranteed by the constitution. In the good old days at Billings the judge, sheriff and county attorney used to be regular sitters-in at a little game of draw poker, and have even been known to adjourn court in order that the game could begin on schedule time.

"Now all is changed and the days when prominent citizens can engage in draw poker and still be prominent and the days of which Eugene Field wrote, 'When liquor flowed like water and every bluff was called,' are no more. The lid now sits as firmly on Billings as it does on Omaha and he who attempts to lift it finds himself in disrepute. The same is true of many western cities where but a few years ago cards and whisky were the principal amusements and the saloons ran wide open."

STOCKMEN SUE RAILROADS

Cattleman Wants Money from Burlington and Sheep Raiser from Missouri Pacific.

Because the Burlington railroad was slow in getting cars to him for the shipment of his stock from Hyannis to South Omaha, Louis Wolf has begun suit in district court against the road for $3,611.16. He says the road promised to have the cars ready for him Sunday, October 13. They did not reach Hyannis until the following Thursday, he says, and during all this time he had his cattle in a corral at Hyannis. He says he lost $1,198.65 from shrinkage and $1,969.64 in a decline in the price of stock, and in addition was put to extra expense because of the delay.

Hiram N. Way, a sheep feeder, asks judgment for $154.77 against the Missouri Pacific railroad for failing to move his shipment of cattle from Ruser's siding to the South Omaha stock yards promptly February 6. He says the sheep remained in the car practically all night and eleven of them died, three more were injured and the rest lost three pounds each in weight.

TAFT SURE, SAYS POLLARD

Strongest Man and Will Be Nominated by Republicans for President.

Congressman Ernest M. Pollard of the First district has written to A. V. Shotwell, president of the Taft league, endorsing the plan for an early convention.

"I have been doing all I can in behalf of the Taft movement," he says in the letter. "I am convinced he is by all odds the strongest man before the people today and that he is almost sure to be nominated. Nebraska ought not to take a backward step now. In the event of Taft's nomination our state will receive a great deal of credit as being the pioneer state in leading off in his interests."
