Boyles Summer Term Opens Monday, June 8

It offers you the opportunity of so preparing yourself that you will be ready for business when business will be most ready for you—next fall. The courses are precisely the same as those of our winter terms. The same staff of instructors teach stenography, bookkeeping and telegraphy to Boyles college students in the summer that teach here in the winter.

The fact that all business men look upon with respect all young people who have grit enough to deny themselves the advantages of summer leisure in order that they may qualify themselves for business positions ought to be sufficient reason in itself to induce you to decide to take your stenography course this summer instead of waiting for the next winter term.

Why not come in and see about it? At least send for our catalogue.
