BRYAN TO JOIN THE EAGLES

Order Expects to Have a Big Time at His Iniation Ceremony.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR INAUGURAL

Miss Anna Pan Asks Pardon for Charles Pumphrey, Who Is Serving a Life Term for Killing a Chinaman.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Dec. 31.—Special.—William J. Bryan will be initiated into the Order of Eagles here next Tuesday night and the local aerie promises to have a big time over the event. Colonel John J. Ryder, president of the Eagles, telephoned invitations to all of the grand officers and he expects some of them to attend. A banquet will follow the initiation.

Arrangements for Inauguration.

Colonel Hartigan, adjutant-general-to-be, and Adjutant General Schwarz held another consultation this morning over the details of the inaugural ball to be held next Thursday night. A dance will be held in the senate chamber following a reception in the house. A receiving line will be made up of the out-going and in-coming state officers and their wives, while the new governor's colonels will act as guides, and generally make themselves useful, being sociable and entertaining. As Governor Sheldon's staff ceases to exist at noon of Thursday, Adjutant General Schwarz will not appear in uniform and neither will the old colonels be on hand with their gold lace.

The Alma company and the two companies of the national guard in Lincoln will act as guards on the occasion and will direct the people where to go. The state house girls will have charge of the punch bowls. The Eddie Walsh orchestra will furnish the music.

Omaha Telephones Reduced.

Omaha gets a New Year's present from the Nebraska Telephone company in the shape of a reduction in rates. Residence 'phones are reduced 50 cents a month, while the discount is reduced from $1 to 50 cents. Reductions of $6 a year are also made on two party line telephones.

Pardon Asked for Pumphrey.

Miss Anna Pan of Omaha has a sweetheart confined in the penitentiary and she asked Governor Sheldon to pardon him. The man in the case is Charles Pumphrey, confined for life for the murder of a Chinaman in Omaha. The woman wrote Governor Sheldon that she loved the convict and is engaged to marry him, and she is willing to work hard for his release as she is slowly worrying her life away because of his confinement.

BOYS BREAK INTO STORE

Speedily Captured and Returned to Reform School.

LEXINGTON, Neb., Dec. 31.—(Special Telegram.)—The general merchandise store of C. C. Bank & Co., was broken into and robbed early this morning. Entrance was effected by breaking open a rear window. The thieves fitted themselves throughout with new clothing, including two valuable overcoats, and left their old clothing behind. About $40 in cash was also missing. Mr. Banks at once called Mr. Malcolm and asked for the use of the bloodhounds, which led the trail from the store to the depot, where it was found that two suspicious characters had bought tickets for Denver and left on train No. 11 for the west. A telegram was dispatched to the Grand marshal, who upon the arrival of the train took them into custody and brought them back to Lexington. They are boys about 18 and 17 years of age, who had escaped the evening before from the Kearney industrial school, and who gave their names as Everet Hobert and William Brechin.

Chief of Police Malcolm took them back to the school on train No. 4 this afternoon.

H. P. Smith had been to Grand Island to see his father and was coming in on No. 17 and Roy was on his way to meet him when he dropped dead. Everything possible was done to revive him, but nothing could be done.

Several of them took severe colds in trying to remain and attend to the business of those who had come from a distance. Workmen from Lincoln repaired the damage and steam was turned on again Monday.

CLARK OUTLINES PLATFORM

Howard gives him a good start in the race.

W. H. Smith of Seward has a boom here for secretary of the senate, and it is being nursed by Senator Fuller, who brings the information that with would make the ideal secretary from all standpoints. Smith is a newspaper man, so has been one.

E. A. Walrath is not here, but his name is very frequently mentioned as a "leading" candidate for secretary of the senate. Walrath knows the secretary business as a man could who has been secretary of Mr. Bryan's populist committee for so many years. His strength lies not only in his acquaintance and a good record with them, but in the fact that he tried to bust up the populist national convention in the interest of Mr. Bryan and against Thomas Watson. But as the democrats have not proved long on gratitude for the support of the populists, Walrath may get what Tom Tibbles got.

Some gaiety was mixed in with the sober and serious work of the half dozen members who are here organizing by the unexpected announcement of Colonel John G. Maher that he would not accept the position of sergeant-at-arms of the house. The fact that Colonel Maher was the subject of a court-martial at the hands of General Grant and was acquitted and it was reported that he sent his compliments to the general, who was then a colonel, and requested him very politely to go where the democrats wish some of their platform pledges were, would make him a formidable candidate, but the colonel refused to run. And he was actually asked by a member to be a candidate.

While, as a matter of fact, there are members of this democratic legislature who would prefer to pass up altogether any reference to the matter of county option, it is cropping out all along the line. A counter talk has been started for the submission of a constitutional amendment providing for prohibition. The county option opponents are using the talk against Henry of Holt county, candidate for speaker.

Showdown for Bryan.

At last Mr. Bryan is up against a show down. And it is going to require careful work on his part to escape it. He is the author of literature which the opponents of county option are sending over the state to influence legislation against county option.

The friends of county option have heretofore accepted Mr. Bryan as one of the staunchest friends of temperance. He was so accepted during the late campaign, though his anti-prohibition literature was also distributed by his lieutenants.

Senator Wilson of Cedar county announced today that he had just recently received through the mail some circulars—the talks of Mr. Bryan against prohibition. Prior to the receipt of this literature he had been led to believe that Mr. Bryan was against the liquor traffic in any form.

A democrat from Scott's Bluff county and another democrat from Adams county has made it known in Lincoln that they intend to ask Mr. Bryan to take a stand on this question and if he refuses they will make their talk with him public.

Mr. Bryan was severely arraigned this afternoon by a member of the legislature who said he had advised the democratic members of the last legislature how to avoid compliance with the intent of the state-wide primary law. From a democratic senator this member received information that Mr. Bryan advised the democratic members to get together in convention or caucus right after the passage of the primary bill and thresh out matters of interest in advance of the primary.

Those who remember the preliminaries to the primary held in the September following the enactment of the law will recall that Tom Allen tried to get the democrats to hold a convention and select a candidate for supreme judge previous to the primaries. The exposure today of Mr. Bryan's advice to the democrats in the last legislature indicates where Mr. Allen got his inspiration.

How the People Rule.

Mr. Bryan's "let the people rule," which has become such a habit with the people that Mr. Bryan is continued in the ranks as a private, is receiving a severe jolt around the hotel lobbies this evening. As an amendment to his campaign slogan Mr. Bryan, having little faith in the man the democrats will elect as speaker of the house, proposed the selection of the standing committees in the caucus.

Tonight some of Mr. Bryan's friends have changed the tune and are trying to work out a scheme which will give the people the impression that standing committees have been selected in a caucus of all the democratic members, but which in reality have been selected otherwise.

Some of the members have discovered that it is very impracticable, so they say, to follow Mr. Bryan's advice. One member said this:

"The plan is all right in theory, but it won't work out in practice. The fight will come over the selection of the chairmen of the better committees. After that is over the members will naturally lose interest, and before the work is finished there will be no members, or very few, present at the caucus. You see there are forty-five standing committees or thereabouts. I can't figure how we can keep the caucus going long enough for all of these committees to be filled in."

Other members are talking along the same line, and so it has been decided by at least two or three members who are in Lincoln that instead of turning Mr. Bryan and the World-Herald down cold, after they had offered their advice, that a committee shall select the standing committees. This committee on committees they figure should consist of seven members, one from each congressional district and one at large. The representatives in each of the congressional districts are to choose their members and the caucus will select the seventh man.

This is about as far as the revised plan has gone. It has not yet been decided by those two or three members here whether a second caucus should be called to ratify the committees or whether the standing committee should have absolute power.

This plan of course would divide the blame among the seven members, should the committees be not satisfactory to the people, while if the speaker selects the committees he is responsible, and the censure attaches to him alone.

So some of the members are getting suspicious of this "ideal" plan of the World-Herald. They are wondering if it is a scheme to get some members on prominent committees who could not get an appointment from a speaker who is responsible to the people. The question promises to create quite a little ripple before the organization is effected.

NEW YEAR'S GREETING—

We hope the year 1908 has been a most prosperous one for you.—We hope the year 1909 will surpass it many, many times. We hope your New Year resolutions are so good that you won't readily disregard them—and—speaking of resolutions—do you know, that the one best resolution you can make for 1909 is to become a patron of the Home of Quality Clothes?

Store closed all of New Year's Day.—Hope you'll get acquainted with us during 1909.
