GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Two Holidays Leave the Wheat Conditions Weakened.

FOREIGN OPTIONS ARE LOSERS

Local Selling is Persistent and Results in Lowering of the Values —Corn Sags on Favorable Weather Reports.

OMAHA, July 6, 1909.

The wheat market was weak and showed no activity after the two days of holiday. Foreign markets reported losses in all options and local selling was persistent and resulted in lowering values.

Favorable weather conditions and weak wheat caused corn to sag and the cash market was dull, with offerings slow. The tone of the market was weak and inactive.

Wheat proved weak after the first trading and prices sagged heavily under selling pressure. Southern cash markets, where new wheat is being received, showed a loss of 10c in cash values over the holidays.

Corn was weak and soft with the lower wheat market. Cash corn was a drug and all offerings were sold at a decline from Friday's market. Prospects are still excellent and there is signs of a freer movement.

Primary wheat receipts were 691,000 bushels and shipments were 340,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 324,000 bushels and shipments of 354,000 bushels.

Corn receipts were 1,008,000 bushels and shipments were 594,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 409,000 bushels and shipments of 603,000 bushels.

Clearances were 4,000 bushels of corn, 10,000 bushels of oats and wheat and flour equal to 426,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed ¾d higher to ¼d lower on wheat and 3d lower on corn.

Weekly wheat visible supply decreased 1,724,000 bushels; corn decreased 86,000 bushels, and oats 6,000 bushels.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Wheat Prices Break Sharply on Account of Crop Reports.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 6.—Wheat prices broke sharply today following general selling prompted by greatly increased receipts of new wheat at southwestern grain centers and by glowing new crop reports. At the close prices were 1⅜c to 2c lower than last Friday. Corn and oats closed weak, but provisions were steady.

Wheat was somewhat demoralized after the first half hour, and prices declined from 1⅜c to 2⅜c from the high point of the session. The slump was due to the liberal arrivals of new wheat at St. Louis and Kansas City, and a consequent falling away of cash prices at those points. Various state reports indicated a material improvement in the condition of the fall sown crop, and there was a large increase officially reported in the acreage sown to wheat in the Canadian northwest.

The first car of new wheat arrived here today from Indiana, and was offered for sale at the sample tables as "No grade wheat." Kansas City and St. Louis each reported arrivals of 60 carloads, with 8,000 sacks additional, by water at the latter point. As a result of this heavy movement, cash prices at St. Louis alone were said to have been off 2c compared with Friday's quotations. The market closed extremely weak, at almost the bottom.

Splendid prospects of the new crop of corn, as indicated in numerous reports from all sections of the corn belt, caused a break of from 1⅜c to 3@3½c in that grain. July was especially weak owing to a general raid by local bears and selling by tired holders. July sold between 69⅝c and 69⅛@69¼c. The market closed decidedly weak, with July at 67c.

Oats declined in sympathy with wheat and corn, but the market was relatively much stronger than either. The close was weak with prices unchanged to ⅛c lower compared with Friday.

Provisions closed steady with prices a shade lower to 5c higher.

WEATHER IN THE GRAIN BELT

Showers Just the Same for Wednesday and Temperature Unchanged.

OMAHA, Neb., June 6, 1909.

Light showers were general in the central valleys and west during Saturday, and excessive and almost continuous rains occurred in the central valleys during Sunday and Monday. Rains continue this morning in the Missouri and middle Mississippi valleys, and are quiet general east over the Ohio valley and eastern states. Unseasonably cool weather has prevailed over the central valleys and eastern states since Saturday, and conditions are unfavorable for any important change in temperature in this vicinity tonight and Wednesday. Showery weather continues in the northwest, and conditions are favorable for showers in this vicinity tonight and probably Wednesday.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Hopes of Any Revival in Market Are Disappointed.

CONFLICTING STEEL RUMORS

State Official Crop Reports Foreshadow Highly Favorable Report from Federal Officials This Week.

NEW YORK, July 6.—There were hopes indulged by the professional element in the speculation that today was to witness the revival of active interest in the stock market. That hope was disappointed, as the meager total of the day's transactions sufficiently shows. There was nothing to show that important speculative interests were into that market.

A large sentimental influence was exercised by the heavy tone of United States Steel. The selling of that was based on reiteration of the previous reports from Paris that the plan to introduce it on the Paris bourse had been rejected by the authorities. This report met with the contradiction from the Paris office of the bankers concerned, which has accompanied each repetition of the report of the failure of the plan. The denials, however, did not revive the tone of United States Steel in the market. The reports from trade sources of the good rate of recuperation in the industry were equally without benefit to the stock.

Besides the favorable steel trade reports, much attention was given in the financial district to the crop news. Reports from the agricultural officials of the states of Illinois, Missouri and Ohio, which appeared today, were accepted as foreshadowing a highly favorable report on Thursday by the government bureau on the condition of both winter wheat and corn. The prospects of the corn crop indicated both by these states' reports and by private estimates were called brilliant.

A substantial improvement to be shown in winter wheat for June is accepted as a foregone conclusion. The likelihood of further exports of gold this week, both to Argentina and to Paris, lacked influence on stocks for the same reason. The rapid progress being made with the tariff bill in its latter stages, especially the readiness with which the corporation earnings tax and the income tax amendment to the constitution, were accepted in the senate, was cited as of possibly ominous import to capitalistic interest in some of the day's discussion in Wall Street. The closing tone of the market was uncertain.

Bonds were steady. Total sales par value, $4,404,000. United States 2s and 3s declined ¼ per cent on call.
